Truman-Stalin Parley Report Spiked

President Not Planning Visit To Red Capital

Still Stands By His Offer To Meet Soviet Chief In Washington

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 10 (AP) — The White House said tonight there are no plans of any kind for a Truman-Stalin meeting, and that President Truman has no intention of going to Moscow.

Eben Ayers, assistant presidential press secretary, emphasized, however, that the United States Chief Executive still stands by his offer to confer with Premier Stalin anytime the latter wishes to visit Washington.

He did so by calling attention to the President's own frequent assertions at news conferences that a visit by the Russian leader to talk over United States-Soviet relations would be welcome.

And then Ayers added:

"There are no plans for a meeting of the President and Premier Stalin."

Ayers, talking with newsmen, threw down reports from the Soviet news agency, Tass, and printed in Moscow quoting an American columnist.

The columnist, Tris Coffin, was quoted by Tass as saying the two leaders might meet in Washington or in Moscow before Congress convenes.

White House Aides Puzzled

The columnist said Monday that President Truman wants a conference with world leaders on peace and might even go to Moscow.

The Tass dispatch quoting Coffins, said "although no definite decision has been reached, Truman presumes he can meet Stalin at his place (presumably Washington) instead of going to Moscow.

"However, if Stalin does not leave the Soviet Union, Truman is filled with such a determination to put into effect his program of peace that possibly he will himself go to Moscow."

The wide publicity that the Russians gave the report puzzled White House aides.

Ayers, however, refused any comment on an announcement that the Russians had threatened to force down any Allied plane which wandered out of air corridors to blockaded Berlin.

Nor would he comment on an Israeli charge that British troops are moving into Trans-Jordan and Palestine.

Meanwhile, there was no word whether President Truman has given any further consideration to sending a personal emmisary to discuss with Stalin a basis for getting a better understanding between the two countries.

The tense situation prompted Mr. Truman to consider sending Chief Justice Fred Vinson on such a mission during the presidential campaign. It was abandoned when Secretary of State Marshall opposed it.

Hoffman Planning On-The-Spot Survey Of Chinese Situation; Americans Flee Twin Perils

Martial Law Seen As Reds Threaten Nanking, Shanghai

NANKING, Nov. 10—(AP)—Americans fled today from a China torn by hunger riots as a Communist drive thundering down from the north exposed this shaken capital to direct attack.

A responsible official said Chiang Kai-Shek's government — fighting for its life amid the most severe military and economic reverses — was imposing martial law in Nanking and Shanghai in an effort to halt food riots and other disorders.

Nanking garrison hdaequarters said the matter of martial law has "not yet been decided." Other sources said the restrictions would be ordered shortly.

Against the twin perils of advancing Communists and growing hunger riots in Nanking, Shanghai and Hangchow, the United States Army moved swiftly to remove Americans.

Dependents of military personnel were being flown to Tsingato, the United States Navy anchorage 280 miles to the north. More than a dozen transport planes were being used. All 500 dependents are expected to be flown out within three days.

River Transport Arranged

The United States Embassy told other American nationals that river transport was coming up the Yangte for them from Shanghai. It was indicated that, if things get worse, a United States warship will come to Nanking to protect the departing Americans.

Of the 7,000 Americans in China, most of those leaving are dependent women and children, and businessmen who see no financial future in China.

(Pan American Airways in San Francisco said it is diverting its 24-plane fleet of Pacific Clippers to bring out 1,000 Americans at the request of the State Department. Those Americans will be flown to Japan.)

The United States Army transport General Collins sailed from Shanghai with 150 American dependents. Two other transports will pick up 1,000 more there.

Mobs Raid Rice Shops

The United States military advisory group closed shop in the North China city of Peiping and its six officers were flown here. Foreigners were leaving both Peiping and Tientsin.

It still was up in the air whether the advisory group will pull out of China. It was predicted, however,

Possible U-Boat Contact Reported Off Pearl Harbor

PEARL HARBOR, Nov. 10 (AP) — Pacific Fleet headquarters said today a naval vessel this morning reported evidence of a possible submarine contact nine miles south of Pearl Harbor.

Other units have been directed to search the area. Headquarters said no verification of the presence of a submarine has been obtained.

A headquarters spokesman said a check was made before its announcement to ascertain that no American submarines were operating in the area.

Tropical Storm Veers Seaward

CAPE HATTERAS, N. C., Nov. 10 (AP)—A late-season hurricane apparently was blowing itself out at sea off Cape Hatteras tonight.

After brushing this Atlantic "graveyard" area with high winds and heavy seas, the tropical storm veered seaward and appeared shortly after nightfall to be blowing itself out.

A 6:15 p. m. (EST) advisory from the United States Weather Bureau at Miami said available reports indicated the storm had diminished in force and was becoming an area of heavy squalls about 75 miles east of Cape Hatteras. It was moving north northeastward about 21 miles an hour.

Maximum winds were estimated at 60 miles an hour, with gales extending out 100 miles to the east and north of the center.

Storm warnings remained up from Cape Hatteras to the Virginia Capes but were lowered south of here, where winds up to 80 miles an hour head threatened earlier.

Fishing villages along the outer banks took heed but nobody was unduly alarmed. Small craft were in harbor and the Coast Guard reported no large ship in the danger area.

As the hurricane's course veered, the threat moved away from Wilmington, N. C., then away from Morehead City, N. C.

The storm was unusually late for this time of year. It blew up suddenly in the South Atlantic and was first spotted 600 miles off Key West, Fla.

Estimate Of Record '48 Corn Harvest Boosted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. (AP)—This year's harvest is proving even more bountiful than forecast.

Yields of most late maturing crops, including corn, are turning out better than October 1 forecasts, the Agriculture Department reported today in its semi-final crop report.

The department boosted its estimate of the 1948 corn crop to 3,649,510,000 bushels. This is 82,000,000 bushels more than the October 1 estimate.

The largest previous corn crop was 3,249,950,000 bushels in 1946.

No new estimates were made for wheat, barley, rye and some other grain crops.

ECA Chief To Leave Early In December If Conditions Permit

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP) — Paul G. Hoffman, America's foreign aid chief, tonight was planning a flying on-the-spot survey of the "desperate" situation in China.

This was learned as top Economic Co-operation Administration and State Department officials pondered the crisis stirred up by the Communist advance in Asia.

A source close to the ECA administrator said Hoffman will leave "early in December unless the situation, by that time, becomes too dangerous, or improper."

There was no elaboration on what the informant meant by "dangerous" but presumably he was speculating on the possibility of war engulfing parts of China Hoffman might be planning to visit.

The reference to "improper" was taken to mean the possibility that the ECA chief's plans might be vetoed by top officials of the State Department or President Truman.

No Policy Shift Planned

Hoffman yesterday told newsmen, following a three-hour meeting of ECA's public advisory committee on China, that the situation there is "desperate". However, he stated that ECA is not, at the present, planning to shift its relief policy toward China.

That policy has been to grant recovery aid for use in areas not under Communist domination. In line with this attitude, ECA today made additional grants to China totalling $18,890,000 for purchase of raw cotton and rice.

It was understood that talks between ECA and State Department experts are continuing. Hoffman and his chief China aide, Harlan Cleveland, yesterday met with top level State officials to discuss the situation.

It was expected that Hoffman would consult with President Truman shortly after his return from Key West, presumably to discuss whether or to what extent aid should be stepped up to China in view of the recent turn of events.

Bullitt's Trip Approved

These developments folowed the disclosure by State Department officials that the President has received new recommendations from the National Security Council dealing with the China crisis.

Undersecretary Robert A. Lovett meanwhile told his news conference the State Department raised no objections to a special investigation of China's needs undertaken by William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to Russia and France.

Bullitt left yesterday by plane for Shanghai, planning to return by Christmas with a report for the joint congressional ECA watchdog

Marshall Due Back Soon For Consultations

Secretary, President May Review World Affairs This Month

PARIS, Nov. 10—(AP)—Secretary of State Marshall was expected tonight to confer soon with President Truman about the possibilty of direct peace talks between the United States and Russia.

Informed Americans at the United Nations Assmebly said the Secretary would go to Washington later this month for a full review of the world situation after Mr. Truman ends his vacation at Key West, Fla.

These sources said the question of direct talks with Russia was expected to be one of the matters to be discussed.

Suggestions published in Moscow and Rome that Mr. Truman might see Prime Minister Stalin personally in an attempt to settle the bitter East-West differences were received generally with enthusiasm at the United Nations Assembly.

Marshall would not comment on the possibilty.

Assembly President Herbert V. Evat, United Nations Secretary-General Trygve Lie, and other leaders were known to feel that a Russian-United States agreement is just the shot in the arm the United Nations needs for effective work.

These reports recalled the furore which President Truman caused late in his campaign for re-election by his plan to send Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson to Moscow as his personal emissary. This plan was disclosed just after Britain, France and the United States, largely on United States insistance, had dropped direct negotiations with Moscow and decided to take the Berlin case to the United Nations Security Council.

Largely because of its timing, the Vinson project was strongly attacked both abroad and in the United States. Marshall was reported to have persuaded the President to call the plan off.

Here in Paris, the General Assembly continued snagged on the Greek issue. The 58-member Political Committee approved a measure today condemning Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia for aiding Greek guerrillas. It also exteded the life of the United Nations Special

Order Against ITU Reinstated

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (AP)—A contempt order directing the AFL International Typographical Union to revise its bargaining procedures to comply with the Taft-Hartley law was reinstated by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today.

Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert in Indiana held the printers union guilty October 8 of contempt of court for alleged Taft-Hartley law violations in contract negotiations with publishers.

The Circuit Court of Appeals stayed this order the same day.

Besides vacating its stay order, the Circuit Court denied the government's motion to dismiss the ITU's appeal from the contempt conviction. It indicated the government could renew the motion without prejudice when the appeal is heard on its merits. No date was set for oral arguments on the appeal.

National Labor Relations Board attorneys had sought dismissal of the stay order. They argued that without Judge Swygert's contempt order being in effect, the union could continue to seek illegal contract terms from publishers.

In the absence of the contempt order, they added, employers would be compelled to acquiesce in union demands for a closed shop and be compelled to "suffer the consequences of strikes, slowdowns, and other disruptions to their business operations because of their refusal to enter into discriminatory contracts."

TANK FALLS-- Three persons were killed and six injured when a 30,000-gallon water tank fell from its supports at the Central Cold Storage plant at Chicago yesterday and plunged six floors. The tank crashed through the steel roof of a loading platform and continued down through an 18-inch concrete floor into the basement.

Cooley Proposes Revision Of GOP Farm Legislation

Price Support, Parity Sections Criticized

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP) — Sharp revision of Republican farm legislation was proposed today by Rep. Cooley (D-NC), who is due to become chairman of the House Agriculture Committee in January.

He said there should be heavier emphasis on protecting farmers from depression prices.

The North Carolina tobacco planter said the farm price law sponsored by Republicans gives farmers the least protection when they need it most, in times of surplus production. On the other hand, he said, it provides for "large payments during periods of scarcity when they least need it."

Farmers "Frightened"

Cooley told reporters:

"My guess is that some provisions of the Republican bill, particularly sections dealing with price supports and parity, will be revised."

He said that farmers must be willing to accept production controls along with government support of their prices. He also said that farmers are "frightened" by the action of the 80th Congress in voting to make effective in 1950 a revision of parity calculations and a shift to a flexible farm price support system.

(Parity is a price calculated to give farmers a return on their products equal to that prevailing in a former period generally favorable to agriculture.)

Acted Upon Hastily

Cooley said Republicans cooperated in building the farm price program now in effect. But he contended the new GOP measure was acted upon hastily without full study in the dying hours of the regular session of the 80th Congress.

The legislation continues the program virtually in its present form through 1949, with the revisions of parity and supports becoming effective the following year.

If the new law were effective now, Cooley said, the parity price of wheat would be around $1.79 a bushel instead of a present parity of about $2.18; corn $1.40 instead of $1.59; cotton 26 cents a pound instead of 30 cents. On the other hand, parity on livestock and livestock products would be increased under the new law.

Detroit Hospital Pickets Dispersed; Nurse Felled

DETROIT, Nov. 10 (AP) — Police broke up an angry group of AFL pickets at Harper Hospital today after arresting two of them who were accused of knocking down a nurse.

No one was injured but the brief violence pointed to mounting tension in the three-day walkout of 400 service employes of the city's largest general hospital.

Leaders of the AFL hospital employes union said plans are underway for a mass demonstration at the hospital. They warned of a possible crackdown on vital services that would "cripple" the big East Side institution.

Hospital authorities steadfastly have refused to bargain with the union or recognize it.

Molar Mystery

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 10 (AP)—Sixty-year-old Alexander Bishewski was arested today on a charge of stealing his best friend's false teeth.

Anthony Sarzara, Bishewski's 65-year-old roommate, said both his friend and his teeth disappeared from the room the morning of October 30.

Bishewski denied the charge He said he had no need for the teeth.

Three Die When Water Tank Rips Through Building

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (INS) — Three persons were killed today and six injured, two critically, when a 30,000-gallon water tank toppled from its supports at the Central Cold Storage plant in suburban Riverdale.

The dead were identified as Emil Jaeger, 30, an assistant superintendant; John Laster, 33, and a workman named Stone, about 56.

Earlier reports had listed five dead.

The tank plunged through the steel roof of a loading platform and plummeted into a basement maintenance room.

Walkout Ties Up New York's Port

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP) — Rebellious AFL stevedores virtually shut down New York's vast port today with a walkout in protest of a new union-negotiated wage agreement. Boston also was affected.

Harry Durning, collector of customs of the port, said loading operations on nearly all of Manhattans' sprawling West Side piers and Brooklyn's huge waterfront came to a standstill.

Passengers arriving to board the French liner De Grasse carried their own baggage up the gangplank before the vessel sailed.

The walkout left in doubt how cargo will be unloaded from vessels due into the port in the next few days.

At the same time Cunard White Star Lines said the Mauretania, scheduled to arrive later this week, has been diverted to Halifax because of the pier walkout. The vessel is expected to dock tomorrow night. Passengers will be transported from Halifax by special train to New York.

However, United States Lines said the America, the nation's largest passenger vessel, would dock tomorrow as scheduled.

Army officials said they could not determine immediately how the tie-up affected the loading of Marshall Plan vessels.

The exact number of men involved in the work stoppage was not ascertained.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association of which the men are members, said 10,000 had refused to work. However, police said 3,335 were away from their jobs and that 1,400 were working.

Reds Threaten To Force Down Stray Aircraft

Russians Warned; "We'll Keep Them Flying," Clay Says

BERLIN, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Russians threatened tonight to force down American and British airlift planes that fly outside the three air corridors in the supply route to Berlin.

The Soviet action was the most drastic since the ground blockade was imposed. It foreshadowed a new Berlin crisis.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the United States commander, replied tersely to the threat: "We will keep them flying."

His chief of staff warned the Russians they would be held responsible for any damage to aircraft or personnel.

The British have not yet formally replied to the Soviet note disclosing the threat, but an official said publicly British pilots obeyed the air rules and the Russians would be held responsible for any action they take.

The Russians charged that numerous "foreign planes have been flying illegally over their territory and said that was the reason for the new Soviet order.

Chances For "Incident" Rise

Although American pilots said they had standing instructions since last May to obey any Soviet fighter plane seeking to force them to land, the Soviet order increased chances for a serious international incident.

Some official sources tended to discount the Soviet move as another "war of nerves" attempt. Another group believed the Russians would enforce their decision and force down some British-American airlift planes as the opportunity offered.

The latter group pointed out that previously the Russians had threatened such action only in their press but now had formally committed themselves in an official note to the Western Powers. They believed the Russians are testing how far they can go in interfering with the airlift short of war.

In the past both Britain and the United States have threatened to use fighter planes to keep the airlift going if necessary.

Neither United States nor British military chiefs would comment tonight on what their course would be if the Russians forced down any airlift planes.

Two airlift pilots who landed at Templehof tonight just after the Soviet notice had been delivered reported no incidents in the air corridor.

Weather Halts Operations

Bad weather cloaked the airfields at Wiesbaden and Frankfurt late tonight, causing American Air Force officials to close down the airlift with no prospect of resumption before morning. The Russians were not expected to attempt any action enforcing their order until daylight and in good flying weather.

The Russian threat was disclosed when Brig. Gen. C. K. Gailey, chief of staff to Gen. Clay, replied to a letter dated yesterday from G. S. Lukjantschenko, Soviet chief of staff.

In replay Gailey said "full and complete responsibility will rest on

Coed's Blood-Stained Scarf And Ring Found

BOULDER, Colo., Nov. 10. (AP)—A University of Colorado coed disappeared last night, and a silver serpent ring and blood-stained scarf found on a country road near here were identified as hers by the girl's mother tonight.

The girl is Theresa Catherine Foster, 18, Greeley, Colo.

Sheriff Art Everson said the ring and scarf were found near three pools of blood on Lee Hill Road, two miles northwest of Boulder.

The pools were so large that the rancher who first saw them thought a rustler had slaughtered one of his calves, Everson said. It was not until Miss Foster was reported missing that officers halted their hunt for a rustler and started a search for the girl.

Negro Accused

Glen Burnie's Murder Case Stamped "Solved"

FERNDALE, Md., Nov. 10 (AP) — Detectives stamped "solved" today on the puzzling Glen Burnie, Md., double murder case that had stumped them for seven weeks.

They swore out murder warrants at Anne Arundel County police headquarters here for Thomas Alexander Edwards, 23-year-old negro employed at a Baltimore sugar refinery.

James C. Morton, Jr., Anne Arundel County state's attorney, announced the county grand jury will be asked to act on the case when it meets November 16. Meanwhile, Edwards will be held without bail in the Baltimore City jail.

Chief John H. Souers, Jr., said Edwards had admitted owning a ".380 calibre" Czechoslovakian pistol and that FBI laboratory tests showed it was the gun used to shoot a young couple out on their weekly date.

The victims were John H. Mahlan, 25-year-old Glen Burnie postal worker, and Mary C. Kline, 18-year-old redhead who worked as a typist for a Baltimore manufacturing firm.

The accused, an unmarried veteran of three years in Europe with the Army Quartermaster Corps, fell into a trap baited with a stool pigeon.

He had been picked up three weeks ago when investigators heard a story that he had a strange, foreign-make gun. He was held for five days but released when he explained he had bought the gun from another returning veteran at Camp Kilmer, N. J., in 1946 and sold it recently to a man he didn't know.

College Student Offers To Marry "Any Woman In U. S." For $100,000

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Nov. 10 (AP)—A 25-year-old Marshall College psychology freshman—who is a disabled war veteran—said tonight he would "marry any woman in the United States" who will set up a $100,000 bank account in his name.

William E. Collier explained the sum will enable him to complete his education and establish himself as a practicing psychologist. He appealed to local newspapers to give his proposition wide circulation.

Collier is six feet tall and weighs 145 pounds. He has black hair and black eyes. A native of Covington, Ky., he lives with friends here.

He lost the index finger on his right hand in the battle of Hertgen Forrest in Germany, in November, 1944, and said he came out of the war with badly shaken nerves. He received 80 per cent disability discharge from service in September, 1945. He chose psychology as his field of study as a means of helping himself and others similarly affected.

"I'd been joking with some friends about it," Collier said, "and decided to see if anyone would be interested. It makes absolutely no difference about age. The main thing is the money. I need it to complete my education and establish myself in business and thought $100,000 would be plenty."

"Operation Hay"

Navy Plane To Fly Food To Animals On Zoo Ship

ALAMEDA, Calif., Nov. 10—(AP)—"Operation Hay" was ready to fly tonight.

The Alameda Naval Air Station is sending a giant Mars aircraft with six bales of hay to the Pacific Far East Lines' Swarthmore Victory, at sea 1,000 miles west of San Francisco.

The ship earlier sent an SOS to the effect that eight baby elephants aboard were out of food and there was danger of losing them.

The air station got authority from Washington to send a plane load of hay to aid the starving pachyderms.

The plane also will carry 2,500 mealy worms for tropical birds on the ships.

Besides the elephants and birds, the Swarthmore has a cargo of monkeys, ducks, snakes and cats.

The zoo ship is due in San Francisco Sunday morning. Officials of the shipping lines say it is the responsibility of the shipper to provide feed for the elephants and not that of the steamship company.

"The steamship company hasn't the faintest idea of how much an elephant eats . . . . especially on a sea voyage," they said.

The rescue plane will take off at 1 a. m. (PDT) and is expected to reach the ship by dawn.

The hay will be transferred by wrapping the bales in waterproof canvas and parachuting them to the sea. Lifeboats will put out from the ship to retrieve it.

The worms for the birds had to be obtained from a bait shop in Culver City at a cost of $18.45.

Martial Law Seen As Reds Threaten Nanking, Shanghai

NANKING, Nov. 10—(AP)—Americans fled today from a China torn by hunger riots as a Communist drive thundering down from the north exposed this shaken capital to direct attack.

A responsible official said Chiang Kai-Shek's government — fighting for its life amid the most severe military and economic reverses — was imposing martial law in Nanking and Shanghai in an effort to halt food riots and other disorders.

Nanking garrison hdaequarters said the matter of martial law has "not yet been decided." Other sources said the restrictions would be ordered shortly.

Against the twin perils of advancing Communists and growing hunger riots in Nanking, Shanghai and Hangchow, the United States Army moved swiftly to remove Americans.

Dependents of military personnel were being flown to Tsingato, the United States Navy anchorage 280 miles to the north. More than a dozen transport planes were being used. All 500 dependents are expected to be flown out within three days.

River Transport Arranged

The United States Embassy told other American nationals that river transport was coming up the Yangte for them from Shanghai. It was indicated that, if things get worse, a United States warship will come to Nanking to protect the departing Americans.

Of the 7,000 Americans in China, most of those leaving are dependent women and children, and businessmen who see no financial future in China.

(Pan American Airways in San Francisco said it is diverting its 24-plane fleet of Pacific Clippers to bring out 1,000 Americans at the request of the State Department. Those Americans will be flown to Japan.)

The United States Army transport General Collins sailed from Shanghai with 150 American dependents. Two other transports will pick up 1,000 more there.

Mobs Raid Rice Shops

The United States military advisory group closed shop in the North China city of Peiping and its six officers were flown here. Foreigners were leaving both Peiping and Tientsin.

It still was up in the air whether the advisory group will pull out of China. It was predicted, however,

Possible U-Boat Contact Reported Off Pearl Harbor

PEARL HARBOR, Nov. 10 (AP) — Pacific Fleet headquarters said today a naval vessel this morning reported evidence of a possible submarine contact nine miles south of Pearl Harbor.

Other units have been directed to search the area. Headquarters said no verification of the presence of a submarine has been obtained.

A headquarters spokesman said a check was made before its announcement to ascertain that no American submarines were operating in the area.

ECA Chief To Leave Early In December If Conditions Permit

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP) — Paul G. Hoffman, America's foreign aid chief, tonight was planning a flying on-the-spot survey of the "desperate" situation in China.

This was learned as top Economic Co-operation Administration and State Department officials pondered the crisis stirred up by the Communist advance in Asia.

A source close to the ECA administrator said Hoffman will leave "early in December unless the situation, by that time, becomes too dangerous, or improper."

There was no elaboration on what the informant meant by "dangerous" but presumably he was speculating on the possibility of war engulfing parts of China Hoffman might be planning to visit.

The reference to "improper" was taken to mean the possibility that the ECA chief's plans might be vetoed by top officials of the State Department or President Truman.

No Policy Shift Planned

Hoffman yesterday told newsmen, following a three-hour meeting of ECA's public advisory committee on China, that the situation there is "desperate". However, he stated that ECA is not, at the present, planning to shift its relief policy toward China.

That policy has been to grant recovery aid for use in areas not under Communist domination. In line with this attitude, ECA today made additional grants to China totalling $18,890,000 for purchase of raw cotton and rice.

It was understood that talks between ECA and State Department experts are continuing. Hoffman and his chief China aide, Harlan Cleveland, yesterday met with top level State officials to discuss the situation.

It was expected that Hoffman would consult with President Truman shortly after his return from Key West, presumably to discuss whether or to what extent aid should be stepped up to China in view of the recent turn of events.

Bullitt's Trip Approved

These developments folowed the disclosure by State Department officials that the President has received new recommendations from the National Security Council dealing with the China crisis.

Undersecretary Robert A. Lovett meanwhile told his news conference the State Department raised no objections to a special investigation of China's needs undertaken by William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to Russia and France.

Bullitt left yesterday by plane for Shanghai, planning to return by Christmas with a report for the joint congressional ECA watchdog

Tropical Storm Veers Seaward

CAPE HATTERAS, N. C., Nov. 10 (AP)—A late-season hurricane apparently was blowing itself out at sea off Cape Hatteras tonight.

After brushing this Atlantic "graveyard" area with high winds and heavy seas, the tropical storm veered seaward and appeared shortly after nightfall to be blowing itself out.

A 6:15 p. m. (EST) advisory from the United States Weather Bureau at Miami said available reports indicated the storm had diminished in force and was becoming an area of heavy squalls about 75 miles east of Cape Hatteras. It was moving north northeastward about 21 miles an hour.

Maximum winds were estimated at 60 miles an hour, with gales extending out 100 miles to the east and north of the center.

Storm warnings remained up from Cape Hatteras to the Virginia Capes but were lowered south of here, where winds up to 80 miles an hour head threatened earlier.

Fishing villages along the outer banks took heed but nobody was unduly alarmed. Small craft were in harbor and the Coast Guard reported no large ship in the danger area.

As the hurricane's course veered, the threat moved away from Wilmington, N. C., then away from Morehead City, N. C.

The storm was unusually late for this time of year. It blew up suddenly in the South Atlantic and was first spotted 600 miles off Key West, Fla.

Estimate Of Record '48 Corn Harvest Boosted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10. (AP)—This year's harvest is proving even more bountiful than forecast.

Yields of most late maturing crops, including corn, are turning out better than October 1 forecasts, the Agriculture Department reported today in its semi-final crop report.

The department boosted its estimate of the 1948 corn crop to 3,649,510,000 bushels. This is 82,000,000 bushels more than the October 1 estimate.

The largest previous corn crop was 3,249,950,000 bushels in 1946.

No new estimates were made for wheat, barley, rye and some other grain crops.

Actress Wins Divorce

Order Against ITU Reinstated

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (AP)—A contempt order directing the AFL International Typographical Union to revise its bargaining procedures to comply with the Taft-Hartley law was reinstated by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today.

Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert in Indiana held the printers union guilty October 8 of contempt of court for alleged Taft-Hartley law violations in contract negotiations with publishers.

The Circuit Court of Appeals stayed this order the same day.

Besides vacating its stay order, the Circuit Court denied the government's motion to dismiss the ITU's appeal from the contempt conviction. It indicated the government could renew the motion without prejudice when the appeal is heard on its merits. No date was set for oral arguments on the appeal.

National Labor Relations Board attorneys had sought dismissal of the stay order. They argued that without Judge Swygert's contempt order being in effect, the union could continue to seek illegal contract terms from publishers.

In the absence of the contempt order, they added, employers would be compelled to acquiesce in union demands for a closed shop and be compelled to "suffer the consequences of strikes, slowdowns, and other disruptions to their business operations because of their refusal to enter into discriminatory contracts."

Cooley Proposes Revision Of GOP Farm Legislation

Price Support, Parity Sections Criticized

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP) — Sharp revision of Republican farm legislation was proposed today by Rep. Cooley (D-NC), who is due to become chairman of the House Agriculture Committee in January.

He said there should be heavier emphasis on protecting farmers from depression prices.

The North Carolina tobacco planter said the farm price law sponsored by Republicans gives farmers the least protection when they need it most, in times of surplus production. On the other hand, he said, it provides for "large payments during periods of scarcity when they least need it."

Farmers "Frightened"

Cooley told reporters:

"My guess is that some provisions of the Republican bill, particularly sections dealing with price supports and parity, will be revised."

He said that farmers must be willing to accept production controls along with government support of their prices. He also said that farmers are "frightened" by the action of the 80th Congress in voting to make effective in 1950 a revision of parity calculations and a shift to a flexible farm price support system.

Acted Upon Hastily

Cooley said Republicans cooperated in building the farm price program now in effect. But he contended the new GOP measure was acted upon hastily without full study in the dying hours of the regular session of the 80th Congress.

The legislation continues the program virtually in its present form through 1949, with the revisions of parity and supports becoming effective the following year.

If the new law were effective now, Cooley said, the parity price of wheat would be around $1.79 a bushel instead of a present parity of about $2.18; corn $1.40 instead of $1.59; cotton 26 cents a pound instead of 30 cents. On the other hand, parity on livestock and livestock products would be increased under the new law.

Detroit Hospital Pickets Dispersed; Nurse Felled

DETROIT, Nov. 10 (AP) — Police broke up an angry group of AFL pickets at Harper Hospital today after arresting two of them who were accused of knocking down a nurse.

No one was injured but the brief violence pointed to mounting tension in the three-day walkout of 400 service employes of the city's largest general hospital.

Leaders of the AFL hospital employes union said plans are underway for a mass demonstration at the hospital. They warned of a possible crackdown on vital services that would "cripple" the big East Side institution.

Hospital authorities steadfastly have refused to bargain with the union or recognize it.

Molar Mystery

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 10 (AP)—Sixty-year-old Alexander Bishewski was arested today on a charge of stealing his best friend's false teeth.

Anthony Sarzara, Bishewski's 65-year-old roommate, said both his friend and his teeth disappeared from the room the morning of October 30.

Bishewski denied the charge He said he had no need for the teeth.

Three Die When Water Tank Rips Through Building

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (INS) — Three persons were killed today and six injured, two critically, when a 30,000-gallon water tank toppled from its supports at the Central Cold Storage plant in suburban Riverdale.

The dead were identified as Emil Jaeger, 30, an assistant superintendant; John Laster, 33, and a workman named Stone, about 56.

Earlier reports had listed five dead.

The tank plunged through the steel roof of a loading platform and plummeted into a basement maintenance room.

Walkout Ties Up New York's Port

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP) — Rebellious AFL stevedores virtually shut down New York's vast port today with a walkout in protest of a new union-negotiated wage agreement. Boston also was affected.

Harry Durning, collector of customs of the port, said loading operations on nearly all of Mannattans' sprawling West Side piers and Brooklyn's huge waterfront came to a standstill.

Passengers arriving to board the French liner De Grasse carried their own baggage up the gangplank before the vessel sailed.

The walkout left in doubt how cargo will be unloaded from vessels due into the port in the next few days.

At the same time Cunard White Star Lines said the Mauretania, scheduled to arrive later this week, has been diverted to Halifax because of the pier walkout. The vessel is expected to dock tomorrow night. Passengers will be transported from Halifax by special train to New York.

However, United States Lines said the America, the nation's largest passenger vessel, would dock tomorrow as scheduled.

Army officials said they could not determine immediately how the tie-up affected the loading of Marshall Plan vessels.

The exact number of men involved in the work stoppage was not ascertained.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association of which the men are members, said 10,000 had refused to work. However, police said 3,335 were away from their jobs and that 1,400 were working.

Coed's Blood-Stained Scarf And Ring Found

BOULDER, Colo., Nov. 10. (AP)—A University of Colorado coed disappeared last night, and a silver serpent ring and blood-stained scarf found on a country road near here were identified as hers by the girl's mother tonight.

The girl is Theresa Catherine Foster, 18, Greeley, Colo.

Sheriff Art Everson said the ring and scarf were found near three pools of blood on Lee Hill Road, two miles northwest of Boulder.

The pools were so large that the rancher who first saw them thought a rustler had slaughtered one of his calves, Everson said. It was not until Miss Foster was reported missing that officers halted their hunt for a rustler and started a search for the girl.

Negro Accused

Glen Burnie's Murder Case Stamped "Solved"

FERNDALE, Md., Nov. 10 (AP) — Detectives stamped "solved" today on the puzzling Glen Burnie, Md., double murder case that had stumped them for seven weeks.

They swore out murder warrants at Anne Arundel County police headquarters here for Thomas Alexander Edwards, 23-year-old negro employed at a Baltimore sugar refinery.

James C. Morton, Jr., Anne Arundel County state's attorney, announced the county grand jury will be asked to act on the case when it meets November 16. Meanwhile, Edwards will be held without bail in the Baltimore City jail.

Chief John H. Souers, Jr., said Edwards had admitted owning a ".380 calibre" Czechoslovakian pistol and that FBI laboratory tests showed it was the gun used to shoot a young couple out on their weekly date.

The victims were John H. Mahlan, 25-year-old Glen Burnie postal worker, and Mary C. Kline, 18-year-old redhead who worked as a typist for a Baltimore manufacturing firm.

The accused, an unmarried veteran of three years in Europe with the Army Quartermaster Corps, fell into a trap baited with a stool pigeon.

He had been picked up three weeks ago when investigators heard a story that he had a strange, foreign-make gun. He was held for five days but released when he explained he had bought the gun from another returning veteran at Camp Kilmer, N. J., in 1946 and sold it recently to a man he didn't know.

College Student Offers To Marry "Any Woman In U. S." For $100,000

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Nov. 10 (AP)—A 25-year-old Marshall College psychology freshman—who is a disabled war veteran—said tonight he would "marry any woman in the United States" who will set up a $100,000 bank account in his name.

William E. Collier explained the sum will enable him to complete his education and establish himself as a practicing psychologist. He appealed to local newspapers to give his proposition wide circulation.

Collier is six feet tall and weighs 145 pounds. He has black hair and black eyes. A native of Covington, Ky., he lives with friends here.

He lost the index finger on his right hand in the battle of Hertgen Forrest in Germany, in November, 1944, and said he came out of the war with badly shaken nerves. He received 80 per cent disability discharge from service in September, 1945. He chose psychology as his field of study as a means of helping himself and others similarly affected.

"I'd been joking with some friends about it," Collier said, "and decided to see if anyone would be interested. It makes absolutely no difference about age. The main thing is the money. I need it to complete my education and establish myself in business and thought $100,000 would be plenty."

"Operation Hay"

Navy Plane To Fly Food To Animals On Zoo Ship

ALAMEDA, Calif., Nov. 10—(AP)—"Operation Hay" was ready to fly tonight.

The Alameda Naval Air Station is sending a giant Mars aircraft with six bales of hay to the Pacific Far East Lines' Swarthmore Victory, at sea 1,000 miles west of San Francisco.

The ship earlier sent an SOS to the effect that eight baby elephants aboard were out of food and there was danger of losing them.

The air station got authority from Washington to send a plane load of hay to aid the starving pachyderms.

The plane also will carry 2,500 mealy worms for tropical birds on the ships.

Besides the elephants and birds, the Swarthmore has a cargo of monkeys, ducks, snakes and cats.

The zoo ship is due in San Francisco Sunday morning. Officials of the shipping lines say it is the responsibility of the shipper to provide feed for the elephants and not that of the steamship company.

"The steamship company hasn't the faintest idea of how much an elephant eats . . . . especially on a sea voyage," they said.

The rescue plane will take off at 1 a. m. (PDT) and is expected to reach the ship by dawn.

The hay will be transferred by wrapping the bales in waterproof canvas and parachuting them to the sea. Lifeboats will put out from the ship to retrieve it.

The worms for the birds had to be obtained from a bait shop in Culver City at a cost of $18.45.

Two Men Held In Attack On Girl

ROMNEY, W. Va.,—Charged with statutory rape of a 12-year-old Slanesville, W. Va., girl, two Hampshire County men have been ordered held for action of the January Grand Jury.

The men identified by State Police as Earl Iser, Augusta, who is "over 16," and John Ullery, 28, Points, were given a preliminary hearing yesterday before Justice of the Peace Andrew L. Russell. Bond for each was set at $2,500. Ullery furnished bond and was released, officers said, but Iser remains in jail.

The two men were arrested Sunday by State Trooper F. H. Tribet after the girl's mother had reported her missing. The mother reported, police said, that she had sent the girl to a store for some groceries.

According to police, the two men, in a car, picked the girl up as she was returning from the store, took her to a nearby woods and raped her.

An examination by Dr. J. F. Easton, this city, showed the girl had been raped.

Young Iser, police recalled, was one of three Augusta youths charged with attempted rape of a young Augusta girl earlier this year. The September Grand Jury failed to return an indictment because of "insufficient evidence" and the charge was dropped.

Attorney William I. Powell represents Iser and Ullery.

EMPTY WORDS . . . EMPTY PHRASES

One often hears the thought expressed these days that Armistice Day isn't "what it used to be . . . doesn't seem to mean as much." There can be no doubt that to the families and friends of those who fell in the first World War nothing could be further from the truth. The attitude of indifference to this important event is the same attitude that allows the flame of war to engulf us . . . Freedom is dearly purchased, liberty must be fought for. Attentive observance of Armistice Day honors the memory of those who fell by rededicating us who live to the vigilant protection of our American Way.

EMPTY WORDS . . . EMPTY PHRASES

One often hears the thought expressed these days that Armistice Day isn't "what it used to be . . . doesn't seem to mean as much." There can be no doubt that to the families and friends of those who fell in the first World War nothing could be further from the truth. The attitude of indifference to this important event is the same attitude that allows the flame of war to engulf us . . . Freedom is dearly purchased, liberty must be fought for. Attentive observance of Armistice Day honors the memory of those who fell by rededicating us who live to the vigilant protection of our American Way.

Keeping Faith With Those Who Died In Two World Wars

Those whose memories go back that far recall the great wave of hysterical emotion that swept over this country on the first Armistice Day. Three decades have passed since November 11, 1918, and the history of the years between has been crowded with many dark days and bright, yet no one who experienced it can forget the spontaneous explosion of joy touched off by the news that World War I was over.

Something similar happened a little more than three years ago when Japan accepted the American peace terms and Americans knew that the Second World War had ended. Yet it was not the same. If there were big and happy crowds in the nation's streets on August 4, 1945, to shout and sing and parade, they did not give way to the unrestrained feeling of that earlier day. It was as if Americans knew they had not finished a job but had only won the chance to begin it.

Certainly there is a deeper realization today that this is true than there was in February, 1922, three and a quarter years after the Armistice. Then the American people were acting as if they assumed that the world had been made safe for democracy. Now Americans are proving, by facing the fact that still more sacrifices are necessary if democratic government is to survive in the world, that they realize the peace is still to be won.

It required many years for us to learn that the armistice of 1918 was only an armistice. This time we felt when the armistice ended that there was more to be done—and events even confirmed this judgement. On this Armistice Day—today—America continues its determination to keep faith with those who died in both world wars.

The nation's armed forces now total 1,531,881. Who remembers the good old days when Uncle Sam had a standing army of 25,000 men?

Gov. Dewey Certainly Missed Out On This One!

The Democrats always make more noise in a campaign than the Republicans.

It seems to be a fact of nature, true both locally and nationally. Democrats take to the air seemingly without effort. Republicans, perhaps, because in general they are the more conservative party, are far less articulate.

The greatest year for oratory in American history was in 1936. The best political minds of the country were horrified at the New Deal trends of the time. Those best minds may not have had much effect on the voting but they did produce many magnificent speeches. And when it was over, more than one Republican awoke with a start to the realization that most of the outstanding speeches had been made by old line Democrats who couldn't go along with Roosevelt. Al Smith, Bainbridge Colby, former Secretary of State under Wilson; former Governor Ely of Massachusetts and Jim Read of Missouri were among the top orators of that year.

It is not an edifying thing to be too critical of a loser after such a debacle as that of November 2. Dewey conducted a dignified campaign. All his advisers, all the political experts told him that he couldn't lose unless he made some outstanding mistake. And he didn't make any mistakes of commission. But he made one mistake of omission which was so outstanding that no comment on the 1948 campaign is adequate without some reference to it.

As you look back over the campaign, it seems unbelievable that Dewey didn't get into a fight between Truman and the Eightieth Congress. A street brawl was in progress. Truman was calling Congress every name he could think of. It was the worst or next to the worst Congress in our history; it was a "bunch of old mossbacks;" it "represented the forces of fear and reaction. It was "this good-for-nothing, do-nothing Eightieth Congress."

Now, as a matter of fact, the Eightieth Congress is one of the great Congresses in American history. It has ideas, energy, courage and patriotism. But Dewey let Truman over-exercise himself in name-calling while Congress was left without anybody of anything like equal prominence in the campaign to defend it.

You hear it said now and then that the Republican Party is through. That is said after every losing campaign. It was being said of the Democratic Party only a few months ago, after Wallace and the Dixiecrats took the field.

But the Republican Party, if it is to deserve a continued existence, must have not only ideas—which the Eightieth Congress certainly had—but it must also have the vocal qualities to defend those ideas before the people. We have been running "me-too" candidates for the presidency for well over a decade. There are eighteen or twenty million regular and, in general, conservative Republicans in the United States. They have had little or no consideration from presidential candidates who thought the only way they could win was by playing up to three or four million independents and "liberals" who are supposed to hold the balance of power.

That proceeding may sound like good arithmetic. The trouble is that some of the regulars may become tired or bored and stay away from the polls on election day. Some people did that in a big way on November 2. The political dopsters will be trying to find out who they were, and why, for a long time to come.

Navy has abolished cocked hats and swords, but some of the admirals will still have their strut.

To Each His Own

The three principal candidates of the recent election sought rest and relaxation yesterday after their strenuous rounds of campaigning.

President Truman arrived at Key West, slipped into slacks and started lounging in the Florida sun.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey flew to Tucson, Ariz., and began a vacation with his family and a group of friends.

Henry A. Wallace went to the Soviet Embassy in Washington and was among the several hundred guests who feasted on sturgeon, caviar and vodka in celebration of the 31st anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. (The Pittsburgh Press).

There are 1,200 overlapping bureaus in Washington. That means they're a-buttin' on the taxpayer.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Artificial Limbs

No one likes the thought of losing an arm or leg but if amputation becomes necessary, the situation is not hopeless. Most individuals who are faced with this problem are more concerned with the future than with the operation itself. It is obvious that an artificial substitute is not as good as the original but our modern prosthetics are excellent and have permitted many amputees to be up and about in order to pursue an active social life and gainful occupation.

Dr. Van Dellen

Such patients are greatly encouraged when they see what others have done to overcome the handicap. Younger individuals are more adaptable and we never cease to marvel when we see them dancing, climbing stairs, lighting a cigaret, etc. Older persons have greater difficulty but their needs are less and they are already accustomed to a sedentary existence. At any rate, the future is never as black as the prospective amputee believes when first informed that a limb must be removed.

It is vital that the operation be done correctly, with an eye to future management. Saving as much of the limb as possible may not be the best plan. It is better that a site be selected which is the most suitable for attaching a serviceable manufacured leg or arm. It is for this reason that it is always wise to abide by the recommendation of the surgeon. He has had experience along this line and is acquainted with the complaints of patients who wished, for example, that the incision has been made a little higher or above instead of below the knee, etc. Furthermore, a successful operation may mean the difference between years of comfort or pain.

After the operation has been performed, the care given the stump is important because, so long as it is healthy, a prosthesis can be worn. The joint immediately above the amputated site should not be allowed to become stiff and the surrounding muscles should be exercised in order to become strong enough to assume their new duties. Many individuals can be fitted with a temporary artificial limb six weeks after surgery. In this way they can adapt themselves more quickly to their new way of life. Furthermore, the skin toughens more quickly and the muscles maintain their tone. After the tissues shrink, a permanent limb can be fitted.

There have been many advances in prosthetic devices. As an illustration, the artificial leg is no longer held in place with a suspenderlike arrangement over the shoulder. Some have a suction cup at the base, with attachments about the hips so that the bottom of the stump does not bear the weight. Others are made so that the weight is borne by the stump, which allows for less maneuverability but is more suitable for heavy work. Artificial arms and hands are also undergoing revolutionary changes. The latest method is to insert pegs through certain muscles, to which leaders are attached to the hooks or artificial fingers. All of these devices require time, patience, training, and practice to use properly.

USUAL EFFECTS

E. H. writes: My brother suffered a stroke about six months ago. He now has fits of depression. Does this condition often result?

Reply

Yes. Emotional changes frequently occur after apoplexy. Now and then this is the only clew that an individual has had a minor stroke, especially when paralysis does not follow.

SKIN PROTUSION

A. M. writes: I have a large lump on the back of my neck. Can you tell me what this is?

Reply

Not from here. A mass in this area could be anything from a sebaceous cyst to a fatty tumor.

NAIL GROWTH

P. B. writes: My nails never grow. What can be done about it?

Reply

Perhaps they need water. I cannot answer your question because I have never heard of this condition and can obtain no information about it. If nails cease to grow, they usually fall out because this means that the matrix is diseased or destroyed. Furthermore, nicks, tears, cracks, and scratches will fail to heal. The chances are that your nails are growing, but at a slow rate. Or it may be that you bite them off.

Lungs First

L.A.D. writes: Is tuberculosis of the throat always preceded by pulmonary tuberculosis?

REPLY

Not necessarily but this sequence of events occurs most frequently.

The automobile manufacturers are displaying with pride their long awaited 1949 model cars.

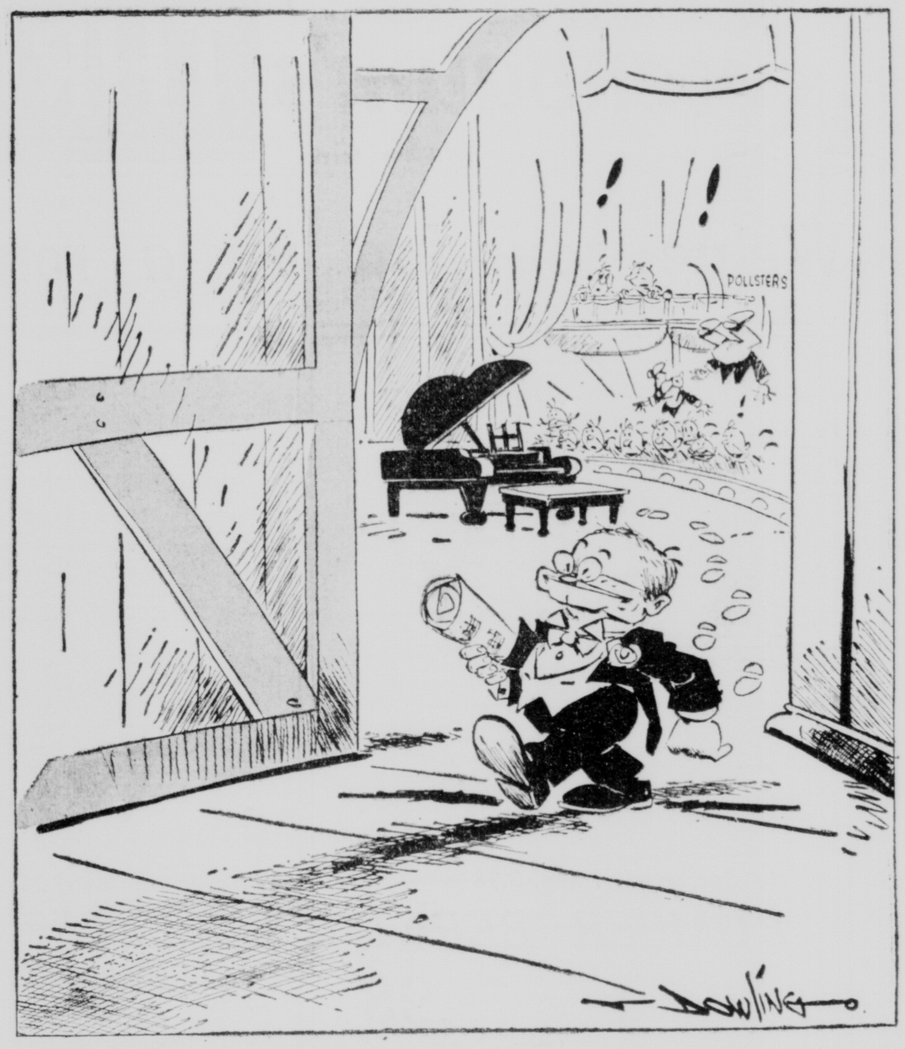

It just sort of makes you proud. Never before in automobile history have such improved, beautiful, slick, powerful, luxurious cars not been delivered to the American public.

And for the lady drivers they are turning out very pretty new models with two-tone fenders . . . robin's egg blue . . . and garage wall white.

There was some talk of bringing out a car with a television set underneath it. The idea was that if you hit a pedestrian, while waiting for the ambulance, he can lie there and watch a football game.

Parnell Thomas Will Face Different Type Jury Than His Own Un-American Committee; Thomas Denied Others Citizenship Privileges He Will Enjoy

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10—Memo to Congressman J. Parnell Thomas, Chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee:

Although this column first exposed your un-American activity in taking salary kickbacks from employees, this is not written in a desire to gloat over your indictment; but rather to point out some of the great privileges of being American which all of us do not appreciate. On the basis of your previous behavior, you appear to be one who fails in that appreciation.

For instance, when you later go on trial before a jury of your peers, no inference can be drawn from the fact that last week before a Grand Jury you refused to testify because you might incriminate yourself.

Scores of witnesses before your own Committee have been berated because they refused to testify for the same reason. But the judge, giving you the full privilege of your American citizenship, will instruct the jury to disregard your previous refusal to testify.

Furthermore, even after your indictment this week, you are presumed to be innocent until trial by jury finds you guilty. That is your privilege as an American—a privilege you have denied to many others whom you tried before the bar of Congressional public opinion. Even when you go to trial you can still refuse to testify and no inference can be drawn from that refusal. The judge will specifically instruct the jury that that is your privilege as an American.

Your Privilege, Mr. Thomas

During your trial, furthermore, the Government prosecutor cannot and will not bring up any irrelevant facts that might prejudice the jury against you. He cannot bring out the fact that you changed your name from Feeney, though you have badgered witnesses before your Committee who changed their names.

Nor can the prosecutor bring out any of your ungentlemanly behavior when traveling between Washington and New Jersey. Unlike some of the hearings before your own Committee, you will be tried strictly on the charges brought against you—namely, did you receive salary kickbacks or not?

Furthermore, it will be your privilege as an American to be represented by counsel. You can consult with him at any time you wish. He will be constantly at your side as you face the judge and jury. If you should not be able to afford counsel, the judge will appoint a lawyer to represent you at no expense to yourself. You have denied Committee witnesses the right to consult with counsel as they testified, but when you go on trial the judge will make sure that this right is yours.

Those, Mr. Thomas, are some of the privileges of being American. They have been won by your ancestors and mine over many years of battling for the rights of man. And many millions of Americans would fight now to see that they are not torn down, would even fight to make sure that you get their full benefit—even though you denied them to others.

I hope you will ponder this, and that your colleagues in the new Congress will make the future Un-American Activities Committee one which will proudly perform its job of making democracy live.

Note—A good part of the nation will be watching new Speaker Sam Rayburn and his appointments to the new Un-American Activities Committee. A great public servant, Sam sometimes leans toward close cronies instead of statesmen when it comes to making committee appointments.

Election Aftermaths

An investigation of the Gallup, Roper and Crossley polls will be asked at the next session of Congress. . . . Foreign Minister Evatt of Australia, President of the United Nations, was one of the few diplomats who made money betting on Truman.

Only 96 hours before the election, President Truman privately wasn't so sure of the results. Talking to a friend in New York, he said, "I guess I'm licked. But it's worth the fight. At least, the people will know some of the issues. When this is over I'm going back to Missouri and run for Congress again."

Henry Wallace and Senator Glen Taylor will meet in Chicago to plan the future of the Progressive Party. They now want Truman to send Wallace on a peace mission to Moscow. . . . Diplomats made a quiet analysis of Congressional election returns, found that one-third of all the isolationists who voted against the Marshall Plan were defeated. . . . Nebraska's Senator Kenneth Wherry, GOP majority leader, has disappeared for a rest; won't even let his own staff members know where he is.

Marshall's Worries

Secretary of State Marshall is privately most unhappy over the progress of military operations against the Communists in Greece. He discovered on his recent trip that, despite millions of U.S. dollars poured into Greece, there are now more rebels than ever there.

Marshall blames part of this on the U.S. Army officers advising the Greek Army. They have not been tough enough in forcing the Greek Army into a full-scale offensive against the Communists. That's the reason for Marshall's sudden visit to Athens two weeks ago. As a result of this trip, you can write it down that:

1. General Van Fleet, U.S. military commander in Greece, will be reassigned to a new post.

2. The U.S. Government will turn down the Greek Government's request for permission to increase the size of its army.

Merry-Go-Round

Spiritualist Elmor Lyon of Mount Vernon, N. Y., has notified Senators he has been in contact with the late Senator Bilbo of Mississippi. . . . Sherman Billingsley, who runs Walter Winchell's swank Stork Club, is still being kidded about the loss of election business. Dewey's No. 1 man, Paul Lockwood, had reserved the Stork Club's Cub Room for a big celebration, even had the champagne in the ice buckets. But the ice melted in the buckets, the sandwiches grew stale—and no Dewey party. . . . One Republican who tried to register for a room at the Roosevelt Hotel was asked by the clerk: "Do you want it for sleeping or jumping?" . . . The Senate Banking and Currency Committee will be asked to launch a thorough probe of lobbyists with a view to strengthening the Anti-Lobbying Act. Alert Senator Maybank of South Carolina, acting chairman of the new Committee, is no friend of the lobbyists. . . . The CIO Steel Workers Union is demanding a sweeping probe of the Donora, Pa., mass asphyxiation.

Social Security Beneficiary Outraged By Dollar Shrinkage

By MARK SULLIVAN

They are going to increase Social Security. President Truman promised it in his campaign and Governor Dewey matched him. Since the election, Mr. Truman's promise has been made specific and given out in detail by Democratic leaders.

The proposed increase is from a present 2 per cent of a worker's wages up to 3 per cent. Half is deducted from the worker's pay, half paid by the employer. In a typical case, a worker getting $50 now pays 50c a week, and his employer pays the same. The worker gets a credit of $1 on the government's Social Security books, to be returned to him when he reaches 65 years of age. As now proposed, worker and employe will each pay 75 cents a week, and the worker will get a credit of $1.50.

Better Promise Was Needed

They call it increased Social Security, which sounds good; no doubt that is the reason it was promised by both Presidential candidates — $1.50 of Social Security sounds better than $1. But there is a better promise the candidates could have made. They could have said in effect:

"We will make Social Security sound. We will see to it that the worker gets back what he has paid in—gets it back not merely in figures on the books, but in fact. We will see that the 50 cents the worker gets back is the same 50 cents he paid in—the same, that is, in purchasing power. We will see to it not only that he gets back his 50 cents, but that it will buy him the same amount of goods as when he paid it in."

That promise, if made by President Truman, would be a confession and an atonement. What has been done to the Social Security beneficiary is an outrage, economically and socially. The government has kept the letter of its pledge, it pays 50 cents back to the worker who paid 50 cents in. But the letter of the pledge has not been enough, there is the spirit of it.

A worker who paid in 50 cents at the time Social Security was started, in 1937, could have got for the money a very good meal. No doubt he reflected, with satisfaction, that he was providing himself each week with one good meal against the time when he should reach 65 years. But if he reaches 65 today, the same meal would now cost him twice as much. With 50 cents, 10 years ago he could have bought 4 quarts of milk, today only 2. And so on as to meat, eggs, poultry, practically every form of food. It is much the same as to clothing, and nearly everything else a worker consumes. With variations, but in roughly the same proportion, the story is the same for practically every form of goods—exact figures for scores of commodities can be found in the World Almanac or any similar book of reference. And it is in terms of commodities we must see it, not dollars and cents.

Any person would be glad to forego the increased Social Security which President Truman now promises, if the government would enable him to get as much ham and eggs as he was able to get when he turned his Social Security payments over to the government 10 years ago or less.

Government Responsible

For the detriment to Social Security beneficiaries caused by the shrinkage of the dollar—that is, for the increases in prices of food and other goods, of cost of living—government is almost wholly responsible. As to some of it, the government might be forgiven, for some of it took place during the war, and prices rise during all wars. But with the ending of the war the people had a right to expect that prices would begin to go back toward normal, especially food prices. That would have been the course of nature.

But the Truman Administration, immediately after the end of the war in 1945, adopted policies and followed practices which kept prices up. They adopted a policy of promoting raises in wage rates, already at an abnormal high during the war. With raises in wage rates came increases in prices of goods. The policy of price support for farm crops, by its effect on many farm products, kept food prices from going down. Cost of living, instead of beginning to fall at the end of the war, rose still higher. Correspondingly, the Social Security money which workers had paid in to the government shrank in purchasing power.

What the Administration ought to do for Social Securtiy beneficiaries now is to restore the purchasing power of the money they have already paid into the government. The obligation is peculiarly strong, for the government holds this money as a trust. The obligation cannot be met by more Social Security. What is needed is simple "security" in the ordinary sense, security of the purchasing power of the money which Social Security beneficiaries pay in to the government.

Integrity And Bias Charges Against Pollsters Groundless

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 — Two kinds of criticism are being leveled against the poll-makers and others who went wrong in the election forecasts.

One set of critics attack integrity and claim deliberate bias. This is sheer ignorance of methods used. Also it fails to take into account the important fact that Democratic campaign managers in many of the states that were won by Truman actually believed those states would be in the Dewey column. So it certainly could not have been wishful thinking or bias which caused those usually well-informed campaign officials to tell reporters and others their private forecast of what they believed was going to happen.

Another set of critics rightly assail the methods used by pollmakers but here again many show a lack of knowledge of what the polls were trying to do. Many observers do not know that poll-making and research work through surveys has been going on for many years and only lately has been applied to political trends.

Sampling Used By Government

There are some people who are ready to ditch the whole process of poll-making, and some are talking quite irresponsibly about prohibiting the publication of polls—which would be, of course, a limitation on freedom of the press. These folks forget that before the poll-makers came into being there were and indeed still are straw votes.

The American people would be seriously handicapped if methods used in research were in any way disparaged. Thus scientific sampling is used by the U. S. government in order to gather valuable statistics. It is often too expensive to make a numerical check, as, for instance, on the persons afflicted with particular diseases at any one time. Yet the sampling method which may soon be used by public health officials may throw light on the spread of epidemics and prove of constructive value to the country.

Certain types of economic information have been gathered the same way. What is wrong is not the work of the survey-makers but the interpretations placed on the data they gather.

Dr. George Gallup, who is the most prominent of the poll-makers, has devoted most of his life to poll-making and very little of his activity has been in the field of political trends. He believes that perhaps in the future the publishing of the bare data without inferences being drawn might be helpful.

Dr. Gallup is a man of the highest integrity and any criticims visited upon him on the ground that he attempted to influence a result is patently absurd. For during the campaign President Truman was complaining that the polls were intended to keep the Democratic voters from voting on election day. Since the election, however, the Republicans are complaining that the published surveys of expected success for Dewey kept Republicans from voting. So it can hardly be true that the Gallup poll was based on any political motivation.

The science of poll-making is in its infancy. In other countries, it has made substantial progress and is looked upon as a valuable means of gathering information in inexpensive ways. But the attempt to forecast an election through polls when the voting is close will no doubt be considered a dubious task for a long time until ways are found to correct errors in appraising the data gathered.

Ohio Is An Example

Thus, what is the meaning of some of the facts coming out of Ohio—a pivotal state in last Tuesday's election? For instance, why did more than 300,000 persons who actually went to the voting booths vote on the governor of Ohio but fail to mark their ballots for any presidential candidate? Does the answer lie in the fact that the governorship ballot and the presidential ballot in Ohio are two separate pieces of paper? Does it lie in the fact that many voters thought that by putting a mark under the Republican or Democratic insignia for governor, they were also voting for the presidential nominees? Did they see only the long list of electors on a separate ballot and believe that these were local candidates for whom they did not wish to vote?

The answers are anybody's inference, but certainly the Gallup poll cannot be criticized for failing to estimate in advance the behavior of these more than 300,000 voters who didn't vote at all for the presidency and yet voted for governor.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

ONE of the major fallacies that has caused so much destruction of life and property is that human nature is the same the world over and never changes. That idea confused President Roosevelt at Yalta and James Byrnes at Potsdam.

The popular psychologists, among whom the pollsters used to be the most popular, made a science of it. The Kinsey Report is a characteristic of that kind of science. The assumption is that if mathematics tells you something about the workings of the human mind, it is possible to deduce everything.

Actually, no two human beings think or act alike under identical circumstances. Each individual is something apart from all others. Guglielmo Ferrero, in his book, "The Reconstruction of Europe," sagely puts the problem this way:

". . .In a universe which is governed by the law of causality, the human mind is alone distinguished by its freedom. . . every piece of iron exposed to heat always reacts in the same way. It expands, turns red, then white, softens, and finally liquefies. The forecast is unmistakable, and all human labor is based on the security afforded by by countless similar forecasts.

The reactions of the human mind to physical or mental forces acting upon it are on the contrary variable and far more unpredictable. One man will react quite differently from another to the same circumstances; the same man will not necessary react tomorrow as he reacts today.

Collective reactions seem even more capricious and difficult to forsee than individual reactions. Every human mind is the condensation of a mysterious force which explodes under the shock of life with intensity and in different and unforeseen directions, at will or as it can.

That is why no science of the mind and of history analogous to the science of matter and nature has been formulated; one is even forced to consider whether the word 'science' can be applied in the same sense to the physical and intellectual life of men, to the chemistry and history of societies."

That is one of the reasons why we have wars and international disagreements and why elections are won and lost. George Marshall, for instance, dislikes Chiang Kai-shek because he is obstinate and those who surround him are crooked. Chiang is obstinate because he insists that he understands the Chinese Communists and that General Stilwell and Marshall and the American Ambassador to China, John Leighton Stuart, do not.

This would be as important as a ladies aid discussion of the relative merits of knitting needles were it not that because these otherwise intelligent men failed to understand each other, Soviet Russia probably will conquer China and the United States will be short of rubber and tin and pepper and spices again; Alaska and the Philippines will be imperiled; the cost of our military defenses will rocket sky-high; and we shall have to pay more taxes.

Obstinacy here arises from the not unusual assumption that all men are alike in their responses to challenges, when the fact is that each man is different. Mr. Roosevert made the same error about Stalin. His grand design included vast kindnesses to Stalin, displaying such generosity that the Russian would have to believe that Americans seek nothing but the welfare of mankind. Roosevelt pursued that policy beyond safe reason in the hope that Stalin would respond, in time, with corresponding generosity.

To Stalin, however, Roosevelt's conduct was proof of American weakness. No one, he assumed, would be as good-natured as Roosevelt unless he were frightened. Stalin knows that Russian policy from 1917 to this day has been based on fear, just as Napoleon's policy was based on increasing fear. The Treaty of Brest-Litovsk scared the Russians permanently.

Therefore, Stalin concluded, Roosevelt, too, was scared. He acted fast on that formula, even before V-J Day, made tremendous progress because the United States assumed that all men were alike and that reasonable men could work out their differences. Mr. Truman had the same thought when he proposed to send Chief Justice Vinson to Stalin. The hitch in this reasoning is that reasonable men are as unlike as unreasonable men, and that what is one man's meat is another man's poison.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Only a couple of years since the way of the transgressor was closed for repairs. And the finest peace ambassador we have is the old atomic waffle-iron.

If that ever winds up in the political hock-shop we are as defenseless as a yawning oyster.

Some professors are trying to tell us that the world is all sweetness and light. But when the lion lies down with the lamb his next roar will have a bleat in it.

There's one thing I've noticed about professors. They are more intelligent asking questions than answering them.

Twelve years ago they said Governor Dewey looked too young. Well, they sure have tried to age him.

We are advising President Truman to read carefully and speak slowly. A good politician like Harry is liable to denounce the last administration.

You have to hand the little man credit for putting up a better fight than a buzz saw. When he hit a knot he sang all the louder.

And to Governor Dewey we hand the accolade of good sportsmanship. If after that long night he still looks too young we want to know the name of his barber.

Keeping Faith With Those Who Died In Two World Wars

Those whose memories go back that far recall the great wave of hysterical emotion that swept over this country on the first Armistice Day. Three decades have passed since November 11, 1918, and the history of the years between has been crowded with many dark days and bright, yet no one who experienced it can forget the spontaneous explosion of joy touched off by the news that World War I was over.

Something similar happened a little more than three years ago when Japan accepted the American peace terms and Americans knew that the Second World War had ended. Yet it was not the same. If there were big and happy crowds in the nation's streets on August 4, 1945, to shout and sing and parade, they did not give way to the unrestrained feeling of that earlier day. It was as if Americans knew they had not finished a job but had only won the chance to begin it.

Certainly there is a deeper realization today that this is true than there was in February, 1922, three and a quarter years after the Armistice. Then the American people were acting as if they assumed that the world had been made safe for democracy. Now Americans are proving, by facing the fact that still more sacrifices are necessary if democratic government is to survive in the world, that they realize the peace is still to be won.

It required many years for us to learn that the armistice of 1918 was only an armistice. This time we felt when the armistice ended that there was more to be done—and events even confirmed this judgement. On this Armistice Day—today—America continues its determination to keep faith with those who died in both world wars.

The nation's armed forces now total 1,531,881. Who remembers the good old days when Uncle Sam had a standing army of 25,000 men?

Gov. Dewey Certainly Missed Out On This One!

The Democrats always make more noise in a campaign than the Republicans.

It seems to be a fact of nature, true both locally and nationally. Democrats take to the air seemingly without effort. Republicans, perhaps, because in general they are the more conservative party, are far less articulate.

The greatest year for oratory in American history was in 1936. The best political minds of the country were horrified at the New Deal trends of the time. Those best minds may not have had much effect on the voting but they did produce many magnificent speeches. And when it was over, more than one Republican awoke with a start to the realization that most of the outstanding speeches had been made by old line Democrats who couldn't go along with Roosevelt. Al Smith, Bainbridge Colby, former Secretary of State under Wilson; former Governor Ely of Massachusetts and Jim Read of Missouri were among the top orators of that year.

It is not an edifying thing to be too critical of a loser after such a debacle as that of November 2. Dewey conducted a dignified campaign. All his advisers, all the political experts told him that he couldn't lose unless he made some outstanding mistake. And he didn't make any mistakes of commission. But he made one mistake of omission which was so outstanding that no comment on the 1948 campaign is adequate without some reference to it.

As you look back over the campaign, it seems unbelievable that Dewey didn't get into a fight between Truman and the Eightieth Congress. A street brawl was in progress. Truman was calling Congress every name he could think of. It was the worst or next to the worst Congress in our history; it was a "bunch of old mossbacks;" it "represented the forces of fear and reaction. It was "this good-for-nothing, do-nothing Eightieth Congress."

Now, as a matter of fact, the Eightieth Congress is one of the great Congresses in American history. It has ideas, energy, courage and patriotism. But Dewey let Truman over-exercise himself in name-calling while Congress was left without anybody of anything like equal prominence in the campaign to defend it.

You hear it said now and then that the Republican Party is through. That is said after every losing campaign. It was being said of the Democratic Party only a few months ago, after Wallace and the Dixiecrats took the field.

But the Republican Party, if it is to deserve a continued existence, must have not only ideas—which the Eightieth Congress certainly had—but it must also have the vocal qualities to defend those ideas before the people. We have been running "me-too" candidates for the presidency for well over a decade. There are eighteen or twenty million regular and, in general, conservative Republicans in the United States. They have had little or no consideration from presidential candidates who thought the only way they could win was by playing up to three or four million independents and "liberals" who are supposed to hold the balance of power.

That proceeding may sound like good arithmetic. The trouble is that some of the regulars may become tired or bored and stay away from the polls on election day. Some people did that in a big way on November 2. The political dopsters will be trying to find out who they were, and why, for a long time to come.

Navy has abolished cocked hats and swords, but some of the admirals will still have their strut.

To Each His Own

The three principal candidates of the recent election sought rest and relaxation yesterday after their strenuous rounds of campaigning.

President Truman arrived at Key West, slipped into slacks and started lounging in the Florida sun.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey flew to Tucson, Ariz., and began a vacation with his family and a group of friends.

Henry A. Wallace went to the Soviet Embassy in Washington and was among the several hundred guests who feasted on sturgeon, caviar and vodka in celebration of the 31st anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. (The Pittsburgh Press).

There are 1,200 overlapping bureaus in Washington. That means they're a-buttin' on the taxpayer.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Artificial Limbs

No one likes the thought of losing an arm or leg but if amputation becomes necessary, the situation is not hopeless. Most individuals who are faced with this problem are more concerned with the future than with the operation itself. It is obvious that an artificial substitute is not as good as the original but our modern prosthetics are excellent and have permitted many amputees to be up and about in order to pursue an active social life and gainful occupation.

Van Dellen

Such patients are greatly encouraged when they see what others have done to overcome the handicap. Younger individuals are more adaptable and we never cease to marvel when we see them dancing, climbing stairs, lighting a cigaret, etc. Older persons have greater difficulty but their needs are less and they are already accustomed to a sedentary existence. At any rate, the future is never as black as the prospective amputee believes when first informed that a limb must be removed.

It is vital that the operation be done correctly, with an eye to future management. Saving as much of the limb as possible may not be the best plan. It is better that a site be selected which is the most suitable for attaching a serviceable manufacured leg or arm. It is for this reason that it is always wise to abide by the recommendation of the surgeon. He has had experience along this line and is acquainted with the complaints of patients who wished, for example, that the incision has been made a little higher or above instead of below the knee, etc. Furthermore, a successful operation may mean the difference between years of comfort or pain.

After the operation has been performed, the care given the stump is important because, so long as it is healthy, a prosthesis can be worn. The joint immediately above the amputated site should not be allowed to become stiff and the surrounding muscles should be exercised in order to become strong enough to assume their new duties. Many individuals can be fitted with a temporary artificial limb six weeks after surgery. In this way they can adapt themselves more quickly to their new way of life. Furthermore, the skin toughens more quickly and the muscles maintain their tone. After the tissues shrink, a permanent limb can be fitted.

There have been many advances in prosthetic devices. As an illustration, the artificial leg is no longer held in place with a suspenderlike arrangement over the shoulder. Some have a suction cup at the base, with attachments about the hips so that the bottom of the stump does not bear the weight. Others are made so that the weight is borne by the stump, which allows for less maneuverability but is more suitable for heavy work. Artificial arms and hands are also undergoing revolutionary changes. The latest method is to insert pegs through certain muscles, to which leaders are attached to the hooks or artificial fingers. All of these devices require time, patience, training, and practice to use properly.

USUAL EFFECTS

E. H. writes: My brother suffered a stroke about six months ago. He now has fits of depression. Does this condition often result?

Reply

Yes. Emotional changes frequently occur after apoplexy. Now and then this is the only clew that an individual has had a minor stroke, especially when paralysis does not follow.

SKIN PROTUSION

A. M. writes: I have a large lump on the back of my neck. Can you tell me what this is?

Reply

Not from here. A mass in this area could be anything from a sebaceous cyst to a fatty tumor.

NAIL GROWTH

P. B. writes: My nails never grow. What can be done about it?

Reply

Perhaps they need water. I cannot answer your question because I have never heard of this condition and can obtain no information about it. If nails cease to grow, they usually fall out because this means that the matrix is diseased or destroyed. Furthermore, nicks, tears, cracks, and scratches will fail to heal. The chances are that your nails are growing, but at a slow rate. Or it may be that you bite them off.

Lungs First

L.A.D. writes: Is tuberculosis of the throat always preceded by pulmonary tuberculosis?

REPLY

Not necessarily but this sequence of events occurs most frequently.

The automobile manufacturers are displaying with pride their long awaited 1949 model cars.

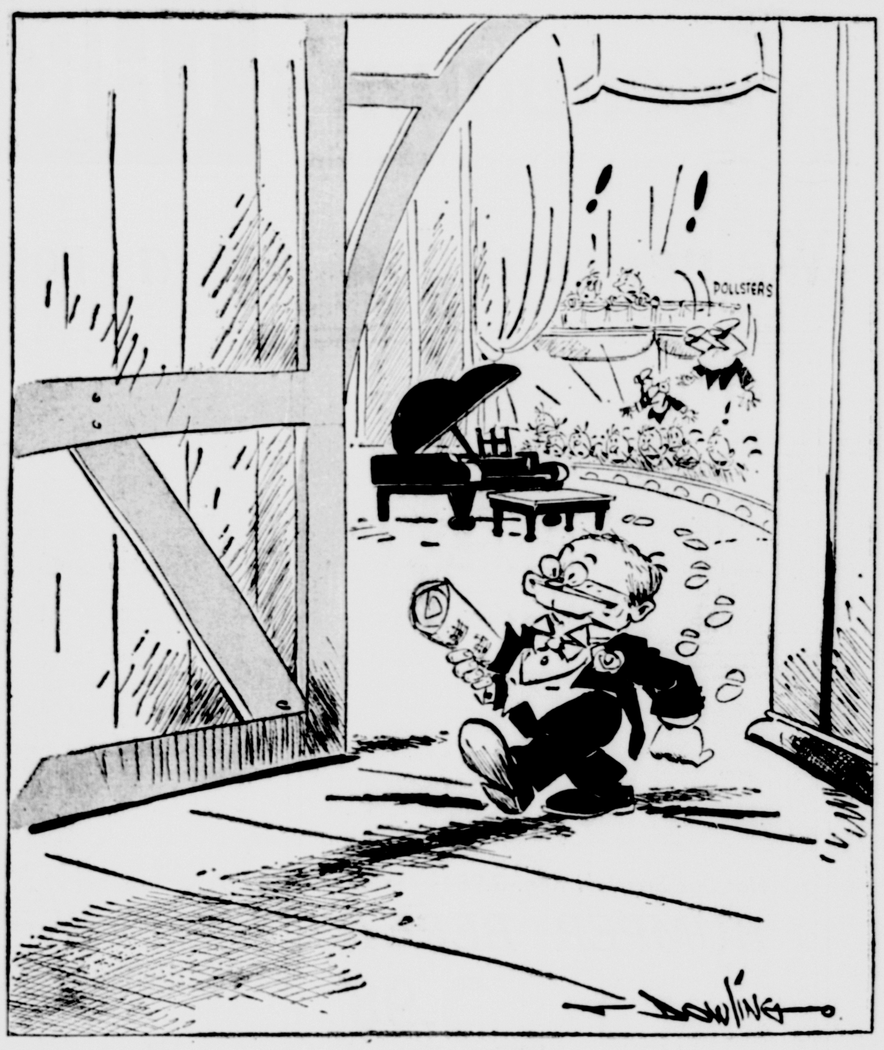

It just sort of makes you proud. Never before in automobile history have such improved, beautiful, slick, powerful, luxurious cars not been delivered to the American public.

And for the lady drivers they are turning out very pretty new models with two-tone fenders . . . robin's egg blue . . . and garage wall white.

There was some talk of bringing out a car with a television set underneath it. The idea was that if you hit a pedestrian, while waiting for the ambulance, he can lie there and watch a football game.

Parnell Thomas Will Face Different Type Jury Than His Own Un-American Committee; Thomas Denied Others Citizenship Privileges He Will Enjoy

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10—Memo to Congressman J. Parnell Thomas, Chairman of the Un-American Activities Committee:

Although this column first exposed your un-American activity in taking salary kickbacks from employees, this is not written in a desire to gloat over your indictment; but rather to point out some of the great privileges of being American which all of us do not appreciate. On the basis of your previous behavior, you appear to be one who fails in that appreciation.

For instance, when you later go on trial before a jury of your peers, no inference can be drawn from the fact that last week before a Grand Jury you refused to testify because you might incriminate yourself.

Scores of witnesses before your own Committee have been berated because they refused to testify for the same reason. But the judge, giving you the full privilege of your American citizenship, will instruct the jury to disregard your previous refusal to testify.

Furthermore, even after your indictment this week, you are presumed to be innocent until trial by jury finds you guilty. That is your privilege as an American—a privilege you have denied to many others whom you tried before the bar of Congressional public opinion. Even when you go to trial you can still refuse to testify and no inference can be drawn from that refusal. The judge will specifically instruct the jury that that is your privilege as an American.

Your Privilege, Mr. Thomas

During your trial, furthermore, the Government prosecutor cannot and will not bring up any irrelevant facts that might prejudice the jury against you. He cannot bring out the fact that you changed your name from Feeney, though you have badgered witnesses before your Committee who changed their names.

Nor can the prosecutor bring out any of your ungentlemanly behavior when traveling between Washington and New Jersey. Unlike some of the hearings before your own Committee, you will be tried strictly on the charges brought against you—namely, did you receive salary kickbacks or not?

Furthermore, it will be your privilege as an American to be represented by counsel. You can consult with him at any time you wish. He will be constantly at your side as you face the judge and jury. If you should not be able to afford counsel, the judge will appoint a lawyer to represent you at no expense to yourself. You have denied Committee witnesses the right to consult with counsel as they testified, but when you go on trial the judge will make sure that this right is yours.

Those, Mr. Thomas, are some of the privileges of being American. They have been won by your ancestors and mine over many years of battling for the rights of man. And many millions of Americans would fight now to see that they are not torn down, would even fight to make sure that you get their full benefit—even though you denied them to others.

I hope you will ponder this, and that your colleagues in the new Congress will make the future Un-American Activities Committee one which will proudly perform its job of making democracy live.

Note—A good part of the nation will be watching new Speaker Sam Rayburn and his appointments to the new Un-American Activities Committee. A great public servant, Sam sometimes leans toward close cronies instead of statesmen when it comes to making committee appointments.

Election Aftermaths

An investigation of the Gallup, Roper and Crossley polls will be asked at the next session of Congress. . . . Foreign Minister Evatt of Australia, President of the United Nations, was one of the few diplomats who made money betting on Truman.

Only 96 hours before the election, President Truman privately wasn't so sure of the results. Talking to a friend in New York, he said, "I guess I'm licked. But it's worth the fight. At least, the people will know some of the issues. When this is over I'm going back to Missouri and run for Congress again."

Henry Wallace and Senator Glen Taylor will meet in Chicago to plan the future of the Progressive Party. They now want Truman to send Wallace on a peace mission to Moscow. . . . Diplomats made a quiet analysis of Congressional election returns, found that one-third of all the isolationists who voted against the Marshall Plan were defeated. . . . Nebraska's Senator Kenneth Wherry, GOP majority leader, has disappeared for a rest; won't even let his own staff members know where he is.

Marshall's Worries

Secretary of State Marshall is privately most unhappy over the progress of military operations against the Communists in Greece. He discovered on his recent trip that, despite millions of U.S. dollars poured into Greece, there are now more rebels than ever there.

Marshall blames part of this on the U.S. Army officers advising the Greek Army. They have not been tough enough in forcing the Greek Army into a full-scale offensive against the Communists. That's the reason for Marshall's sudden visit to Athens two weeks ago. As a result of this trip, you can write it down that:

1. General Van Fleet, U.S. military commander in Greece, will be reassigned to a new post.

2. The U.S. Government will turn down the Greek Government's request for permission to increase the size of its army.

Merry-Go-Round

Spiritualist Elmor Lyon of Mount Vernon, N. Y., has notified Senators he has been in contact with the late Senator Bilbo of Mississippi. . . . Sherman Billingsley, who runs Walter Winchell's swank Stork Club, is still being kidded about the loss of election business. Dewey's No. 1 man, Paul Lockwood, had reserved the Stork Club's Cub Room for a big celebration, even had the champagne in the ice buckets. But the ice melted in the buckets, the sandwiches grew stale—and no Dewey party. . . . One Republican who tried to register for a room at the Roosevelt Hotel was asked by the clerk: "Do you want it for sleeping or jumping?" . . . The Senate Banking and Currency Committee will be asked to launch a thorough probe of lobbyists with a view to strengthening the Anti-Lobbying Act. Alert Senator Maybank of South Carolina, acting chairman of the new Committee, is no friend of the lobbyists. . . . The CIO Steel Workers Union is demanding a sweeping probe of the Donora, Pa., mass asphyxiation.

Social Security Beneficiary Outraged By Dollar Shrinkage

By MARK SULLIVAN

They are going to increase Social Security. President Truman promised it in his campaign and Governor Dewey matched him. Since the election, Mr. Truman's promise has been made specific and given out in detail by Democratic leaders.

The proposed increase is from a present 2 per cent of a worker's wages up to 3 per cent. Half is deducted from the worker's pay, half paid by the employer. In a typical case, a worker getting $50 now pays 50c a week, and his employer pays the same. The worker gets a credit of $1 on the government's Social Security books, to be returned to him when he reaches 65 years of age. As now proposed, worker and employe will each pay 75 cents a week, and the worker will get a credit of $1.50.

Better Promise Was Needed

They call it increased Social Security, which sounds good; no doubt that is the reason it was promised by both Presidential candidates — $1.50 of Social Security sounds better than $1. But there is a better promise the candidates could have made. They could have said in effect:

"We will make Social Security sound. We will see to it that the worker gets back what he has paid in—gets it back not merely in figures on the books, but in fact. We will see that the 50 cents the worker gets back is the same 50 cents he paid in—the same, that is, in purchasing power. We will see to it not only that he gets back his 50 cents, but that it will buy him the same amount of goods as when he paid it in."

That promise, if made by President Truman, would be a confession and an atonement. What has been done to the Social Security beneficiary is an outrage, economically and socially. The government has kept the letter of its pledge, it pays 50 cents back to the worker who paid 50 cents in. But the letter of the pledge has not been enough, there is the spirit of it.

A worker who paid in 50 cents at the time Social Security was started, in 1937, could have got for the money a very good meal. No doubt he reflected, with satisfaction, that he was providing himself each week with one good meal against the time when he should reach 65 years. But if he reaches 65 today, the same meal would now cost him twice as much. With 50 cents, 10 years ago he could have bought 4 quarts of milk, today only 2. And so on as to meat, eggs, poultry, practically every form of food. It is much the same as to clothing, and nearly everything else a worker consumes. With variations, but in roughly the same proportion, the story is the same for practically every form of goods—exact figures for scores of commodities can be found in the World Almanac or any similar book of reference. And it is in terms of commodities we must see it, not dollars and cents.

Any person would be glad to forego the increased Social Security which President Truman now promises, if the government would enable him to get as much ham and eggs as he was able to get when he turned his Social Security payments over to the government 10 years ago or less.

Government Responsible

For the detriment to Social Security beneficiaries caused by the shrinkage of the dollar—that is, for the increases in prices of food and other goods, of cost of living—government is almost wholly responsible. As to some of it, the government might be forgiven, for some of it took place during the war, and prices rise during all wars. But with the ending of the war the people had a right to expect that prices would begin to go back toward normal, especially food prices. That would have been the course of nature.

But the Truman Administration, immediately after the end of the war in 1945, adopted policies and followed practices which kept prices up. They adopted a policy of promoting raises in wage rates, already at an abnormal high during the war. With raises in wage rates came increases in prices of goods. The policy of price support for farm crops, by its effect on many farm products, kept food prices from going down. Cost of living, instead of beginning to fall at the end of the war, rose still higher. Correspondingly, the Social Security money which workers had paid in to the government shrank in purchasing power.

What the Administration ought to do for Social Securtiy beneficiaries now is to restore the purchasing power of the money they have already paid into the government. The obligation is peculiarly strong, for the government holds this money as a trust. The obligation cannot be met by more Social Security. What is needed is simple "security" in the ordinary sense, security of the purchasing power of the money which Social Security beneficiaries pay in to the government.

Integrity And Bias Charges Against Pollsters Groundless

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 — Two kinds of criticism are being leveled against the poll-makers and others who went wrong in the election forecasts.

One set of critics attack integrity and claim deliberate bias. This is sheer ignorance of methods used. Also it fails to take into account the important fact that Democratic campaign managers in many of the states that were won by Truman actually believed those states would be in the Dewey column. So it certainly could not have been wishful thinking or bias which caused those usually well-informed campaign officials to tell reporters and others their private forecast of what they believed was going to happen.

Another set of critics rightly assail the methods used by pollmakers but here again many show a lack of knowledge of what the polls were trying to do. Many observers do not know that poll-making and research work through surveys has been going on for many years and only lately has been applied to political trends.

Sampling Used By Government

There are some people who are ready to ditch the whole process of poll-making, and some are talking quite irresponsibly about prohibiting the publication of polls—which would be, of course, a limitation on freedom of the press. These folks forget that before the poll-makers came into being there were and indeed still are straw votes.

The American people would be seriously handicapped if methods used in research were in any way disparaged. Thus scientific sampling is used by the U. S. government in order to gather valuable statistics. It is often too expensive to make a numerical check, as, for instance, on the persons afflicted with particular diseases at any one time. Yet the sampling method which may soon be used by public health officials may throw light on the spread of epidemics and prove of constructive value to the country.

Certain types of economic information have been gathered the same way. What is wrong is not the work of the survey-makers but the interpretations placed on the data they gather.

Dr. George Gallup, who is the most prominent of the poll-makers, has devoted most of his life to poll-making and very little of his activity has been in the field of political trends. He believes that perhaps in the future the publishing of the bare data without inferences being drawn might be helpful.

Dr. Gallup is a man of the highest integrity and any criticims visited upon him on the ground that he attempted to influence a result is patently absurd. For during the campaign President Truman was complaining that the polls were intended to keep the Democratic voters from voting on election day. Since the election, however, the Republicans are complaining that the published surveys of expected success for Dewey kept Republicans from voting. So it can hardly be true that the Gallup poll was based on any political motivation.

The science of poll-making is in its infancy. In other countries, it has made substantial progress and is looked upon as a valuable means of gathering information in inexpensive ways. But the attempt to forecast an election through polls when the voting is close will no doubt be considered a dubious task for a long time until ways are found to correct errors in appraising the data gathered.

Ohio Is An Example

Thus, what is the meaning of some of the facts coming out of Ohio—a pivotal state in last Tuesday's election? For instance, why did more than 300,000 persons who actually went to the voting booths vote on the governor of Ohio but fail to mark their ballots for any presidential candidate? Does the answer lie in the fact that the governorship ballot and the presidential ballot in Ohio are two separate pieces of paper? Does it lie in the fact that many voters thought that by putting a mark under the Republican or Democratic insignia for governor, they were also voting for the presidential nominees? Did they see only the long list of electors on a separate ballot and believe that these were local candidates for whom they did not wish to vote?

The answers are anybody's inference, but certainly the Gallup poll cannot be criticized for failing to estimate in advance the behavior of these more than 300,000 voters who didn't vote at all for the presidency and yet voted for governor.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

ONE of the major fallacies that has caused so much destruction of life and property is that human nature is the same the world over and never changes. That idea confused President Roosevelt at Yalta and James Byrnes at Potsdam.

The popular psychologists, among whom the pollsters used to be the most popular, made a science of it. The Kinsey Report is a characteristic of that kind of science. The assumption is that if mathematics tells you something about the workings of the human mind, it is possible to deduce everything.

Actually, no two human beings think or act alike under identical circumstances. Each individual is something apart from all others. Guglielmo Ferrero, in his book, "The Reconstruction of Europe," sagely puts the problem this way:

". . .In a universe which is governed by the law of causality, the human mind is alone distinguished by its freedom. . . every piece of iron exposed to heat always reacts in the same way. It expands, turns red, then white, softens, and finally liquefies. The forecast is unmistakable, and all human labor is based on the security afforded by by countless similar forecasts.

The reactions of the human mind to physical or mental forces acting upon it are on the contrary variable and far more unpredictable. One man will react quite differently from another to the same circumstances; the same man will not necessary react tomorrow as he reacts today.

Collective reactions seem even more capricious and difficult to forsee than individual reactions. Every human mind is the condensation of a mysterious force which explodes under the shock of life with intensity and in different and unforeseen directions, at will or as it can.

That is why no science of the mind and of history analogous to the science of matter and nature has been formulated: one is even forced to consider whether the word 'science' can be applied in the same sense to the physical and intellectual life of men, to the chemistry and history of societies."

That is one of the reasons why we have wars and international disagreements and why elections are won and lost. George Marshall, for instance, dislikes Chiang Kai-shek because he is obstinate and those who surround him are crooked. Chiang is obstinate because he insists that he understands the Chinese Communists and that General Stilwell and Marshall and the American Ambassador to China, John Leighton Stuart, do not.

This would be as important as a ladies aid discussion of the relative merits of knitting needles were it not that because these otherwise intelligent men failed to understand each other, Soviet Russia probably will conquer China and the United States will be short of rubber and tin and pepper and spices again; Alaska and the Philippines will be imperiled; the cost of our military defenses will rocket sky-high; and we shall have to pay more taxes.

Obstinacy here arises from the not unusual assumption that all men are alike in their responses to challenges, when the fact is that each man is different. Mr. Roosevert made the same error about Stalin. His grand design included vast kindnesses to Stalin, displaying such generosity that the Russian would have to believe that Americans seek nothing but the welfare of mankind. Roosevelt pursued that policy beyond safe reason in the hope that Stalin would respond, in time, with corresponding generosity.

To Stalin, however, Roosevelt's conduct was proof of American weakness. No one, he assumed, would be as good-natured as Roosevelt unless he were frightened. Stalin knows that Russian policy from 1917 to this day has been based on fear, just as Napoleon's policy was based on increasing fear. The Treaty of Brest-Litovsk scared the Russians permanently.

Therefore, Stalin concluded, Roosevelt, too, was scared. He acted fast on that formula, even before V-J Day, made tremendous progress because the United States assumed that all men were alike and that reasonable men could work out their differences. Mr. Truman had the same thought when he proposed to send Chief Justice Vinson to Stalin. The hitch in this reasoning is that reasonable men are as unlike as unreasonable men, and that what is one man's meat is another man's poison.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

Only a couple of years since the way of the transgressor was closed for repairs. And the finest peace ambassador we have is the old atomic waffle-iron.

If that ever winds up in the political hock-shop we are as defenseless as a yawning oyster.

Some professors are trying to tell us that the world is all sweetness and light. But when the lion lies down with the lamb his next roar will have a bleat in it.

There's one thing I've noticed about professors. They are more intelligent asking questions than answering them.

Twelve years ago they said Governor Dewey looked too young. Well, they sure have tried to age him.

We are advising President Truman to read carefully and speak slowly. A good politician like Harry is liable to denounce the last administration.

You have to hand the little man credit for putting up a better fight than a buzz saw. When he hit a knot he sang all the louder.

And to Governor Dewey we hand the accolade of good sportsmanship. If after that long night he still looks too young we want to know the name of his barber.

HEALTH NEWS

STOMACH AILMENTS, WEAK KIDNEYS, RHEUMATIC PAINS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS

and such complaints as Headaches, Nervousness, Acids, Toxins, Bloating, Lack of Vitality, Energy, Poor Appetite Underweight, Dizzy Spells.

Drugless Health!

NO MATTER how long you have been suffering from stomach, kidney and rheumatic distress, and what drugs you have tried before, you can, now, hope for relief if you take GEO-MINERAL. With your eyes SEE the results seven days after you start taking it.

DRUGGISTS, Chemists cannot make GEO-MINERAL. It comes from the earth — Nature's laboratory. Contains NO dope, NO alcohol, NO oil. ONLY Nature's minerals—the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments.

Wonder Minerals

FOR THOUSANDS of years sufferers, on advice of doctors, go to mineral springs to get cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Mineral Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.

WE HAVE all heard of the miraculous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece, where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

IF YOU ARE a sufferer, and can not go to the mineral springs, try GEO-MINERAL which contains a blend of the same minerals that can be found at the world's best springs. The minerals in it may work miracles.

Amazing Results

WATCH your elimination from your bowels two or three days after you start using GEO-MINERAL. The waste, black as coal, will break away and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, and feel the relief. Be sure to watch for all this to realize its priceless value.

MEDICAL records show 65% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional mineral-iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, tired, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite when your eyes lack that bright spark and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-MINERAL is then what you need.

Read What They Say!

"We wish to state that after selling Geo-Mineral for eight months, this product has broken all sales records in the medicine line in our drug store"—reports Jack Wright, owner of Economy Drug Co., Anderson, S. C. "Users report almost miraculous results, helping sufferers with rheumatism, arthritis, weak kidneys, and various stomach ailments. We believe that there exist very few items on the druggists' shelf with the merit of this natural mineral medicine. Of thousands of bottles sold on guarantee basis, there have been very few refunds.

100% Guaranteed!

WE URGE everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Go to your drug store now. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money.

REGARDLESS of how long you have been suffering, and how many medicines you have tried before, GEO-MINERAL may be the remedy you need!

TRY it today! It may do wonders for you—and be the best investment for your health. Make you feel, eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better.

HEALTH NEWS

STOMACH AILMENTS, WEAK KIDNEYS, RHEUMATIC PAINS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS

and such complaints as Headaches, Nervousness, Acids, Toxins, Bloating, Lack of Vitality, Energy, Poor Appetite Underweight, Dizzy Spells.

Drugless Health!

NO MATTER how long you have been suffering from stomach, kidney and rheumatic distress, and what drugs you have tried before, you can, now, hope for relief if you take GEO-MINERAL. With your eyes SEE the results seven days after you start taking it.

DRUGGISTS, Chemists cannot make GEO-MINERAL. It comes from the earth — Nature's laboratory. Contains NO dope, NO alcohol, NO oil. ONLY Nature's minerals—the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments.

Wonder Minerals

FOR THOUSANDS of years sufferers, on advice of doctors, go to mineral springs to get cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Mineral Springs in Georgia. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.

WE HAVE all heard of the miraculous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece, where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

IF YOU ARE a sufferer, and can not go to the mineral springs, try GEO-MINERAL which contains a blend of the same minerals that can be found at the world's best springs. The minerals in it may work miracles.

Amazing Results

WATCH your elimination from your bowels two or three days after you start using GEO-MINERAL. The waste, black as coal, will break away and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, and feel the relief. Be sure to watch for all this to realize its priceless value.

MEDICAL records show 65% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional mineral-iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, tired, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite when your eyes lack that bright spark and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-MINERAL is then what you need.

Read What They Say!

"We wish to state that after selling Geo-Mineral for eight months, this product has broken all sales records in the medicine line in our drug store"—reports Jack Wright, owner of Economy Drug Co., Anderson, S. C. "Users report almost miraculous results, helping sufferers with rheumatism, arthritis, weak kidneys, and various stomach ailments. We believe that there exist very few items on the druggists' shelf with the merit of this natural mineral medicine. Of thousands of bottles sold on guarantee basis, there have been very few refunds.

100% Guaranteed!

WE URGE everyone to try GEO-MINERAL. Do not hesitate one moment. Go to your drug store now. Get one bottle. Use it one week. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money.

REGARDLESS of how long you have been suffering, and how many medicines you have tried before, GEO-MINERAL may be the remedy you need!

TRY it today! It may do wonders for you—and be the best investment for your health. Make you feel, eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better.

Keeping Two Boys On String, At Beck And Call Won't Last

By NANCY MOTTRAM

You're doing your best to keep two boys on the string, and it's not an easy job to have them both at your beck and call all of the time. It causes some worry, and yet you've decided it's worth it. When Don doesn't say a word about this coming Saturday you can always put your hopes on Bill. And you're trying hard to make each one think that he's the most important male in your life.

Nancy Mottram

You've turned down their invitations to go steady because you don't want your dating days to be limited to just one. Knowing that they're a trifle jealous of each other does keep morale flying high, too. This way, you're never left at home when there's a big party going on or sitting around a hen party with the gals who haven't dates.

• — •

This particular situation hasn't complicated your life for very long. Now and then some other lad comes along and you date him, but it really narrows down to these two. The weeks roll by, and you can bet that things won't stay this peaceful. One, or both, of them is going to get a little bored with doubling for checkers on your checkerboard. Then life isn't going to be so simple anymore.

You'll meet very few fellows who don't mind being maneuvered around according to your whims. It's wise politics to keep a boy guessing as to your real feelings about him, but constant rivalry is something else again. You wouldn't want to worry about being a second indefinitely, and you can't apply that to those two that you're trying to hold.

It's different when you're going out with quite a few. But when you let each one think that he's your favorite, and you just don't want to be tied down with his fraternity pin, eventually, it's going to turn into a real problem. When you come right down to it, you couldn't make a choice on the spur of the moment. You don't have any real preference, and if they ever asked you to choose between them, you wouldn't know what to do.

Should that day ever come, one or both of those boys is going to walk out of your life with hard feelings. They're going to figure that it was just a game on your part, and that you were amused at their honest feelings for you. You'd better think about that before it happens.

If you decide that you do care for Don, after all, you can be honest and tactfully tell his rival. And if you're not ready or willing to do that, don't give each one the impression that he means more, and trust to luck that they'll never get together for a talk. That isn't as impossible as you may think.

Be honest about it. They're dates, they're fun and you like to be with them. Don't let it seem more serious than that. If you do, one of these days, your little plot may fall apart and instead of rivalry, you might have reason to worry—not about too many requests for dates but too few. Double-dealing has a way of being found out.

Miss Mottram cannot answer all letters personally, but the most important ones will be answered in her column.

Hughes Gets 60 Days In Assault

Earl L. Hughes, 33, 406 Waverly Terrace, was sentenced to 60 days in County Jail yesterday at a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court for an assault on Chester A. Shanholtz, North Mechanic Street. Hughes was arrested early yesterday morning.

Shanholtz told authorities he had been drinking coffee with Hughes at the Central Lunch, 35 Frederick Street, early and later they walked into an alley at the rear of 118 North Centre Street. There, the prosecuting witness said, Hughes inquired about his financial status.

Then, according to Shanholtz, the defendant struck him in the left eye and fled. Officer C. D. Manges investigated and took Shanholtz to Allegany Hospital for treatment.

Hughes, who entered a plea of not guilty, told Magistrate Frank A. Ferdew that he "didn't remember anything." Detective Thomas J. See prosecuted.

A man identified as Alfred Jeffries, Altamont Terrace, notified authorities at 2:45 a. m. yesterday that he was locking his automobile when "someone sneaked up" and struck him on the head. He suffered a deep laceration of the scalp, police said, adding that nothing was stolen from the man.

To Dunk or Not To Dunk?

Dunking doughnuts is Sober Hopkins' favorite morning pastime ... and for a long time Ma Hopkins has been trying to break him of the habit. Feels it sets a bad example for the children.

So one morning she puts a heavy frosting of chocolate on the doughnuts ... figuring that will stop him. Sober thinks it over for a while and then: Dunk! Taste? Smile!! And Sober compliments the missus on the lovely mocha flavor!

I guess there'll always be two schools of thought: to dunk or not to dunk. But from where I sit, it's a matter of personal choice and taste—like some folks prefer beer to cider, ale to beer. And the less we criticize those differences of taste, the better.

In fact, Ma Hopkins got so curious about the flavor of chocolate-covered doughnuts dunked in coffee, that she tried it herself. Now—you've guessed it—she's a daily dunker, too!

Can self-reproach drive a man to murder?

Answer: Yes, not long ago a man poisoned his 12 and 13-year-old daughters and then killed himself because he believed he "saw his own characteristics in them" and so felt sure they would "always be unhappy." He professed—no doubt, quite honestly—to love them, but his killing them revealed a very different, if unconscious feeling. One might reasonably guess that he made them the victims of a twofold hatred, partly of himself, and partly of the world whose failure to accept him was the basis of his self-reproaches.

Would making marrying more difficult cut down divorces?

Answer: Possibly, a little; though I doubt if enough couples actually marry on the spur of the moment to affect the average greatly, and the sort of people who would do this wouldn't make much wiser choices if they had a year to think it over. Sex prejudice and emoitonal immaturity (which frequently go together) are the cause of most divorces, and these cannot very well be cured by legislation, because the seeds of both have been planted long before a boy or girl begins to think of marriage seriously.

Can benzedrine cause insanity?

Answer: Yes, if used to excess, reports Dr. Jerome M. Schneck of the U. S. Disciplinary Barracks, Missoula, Mont. Its illicit use by prisoners not only makes man nervous, irritable and over-excited but can cause hallucinations and delusions. One man who consumed an inhaler and a half in 36 hours, thought that other prisoners were plotting to kill him, heard accusing voices, and believed he saw a knife on the floor. But after the effects of the drug wore off, his symptoms disappeared, though he remembered having had them.

Dragonflies feed on small insects, which they capture and eat on the wing.

Local Youth Killed In Guam Accident

William B. Campbell, 18, died Sunday as a result of injuries sustained in a motor accident on Guam, where he had been serving with the Air Force, according to word received by his parents from the War Department.

Campbell, a son of Carlisle C. and Leona Hampston Campbell, 203 Paca Street, was a student at Allegany High School until he entered the service 18 months ago. He had been stationed on Guam for the last 12 months. He was born in Cumberland.

The War Department telegram said the youth died Sunday. A letter will follow, it stated, adding that the body will be returned to the United States for burial at the earliest convenience.

Surviving, besides his parents, are a brother, Glenn Campbell, serving with the Navy in Washington, and two sisters, Virginia and Carolyn Campbell, at home.

Campbell, who was born March 9, 1930, enlisted in the Air Force for three years at the local Army and Air Force recruiting station. He was sent to Baltimore on June 12, 1947, and inducted on June 13.

The tree on which cloves grow is from 15 to 40 feet high, an evergreen with a beautiful pyramidal head. The small flowers, leaves and bark have an aromatic odor.

Boy Injured In Fall From Tree

Russell Beighner, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Beighner, 22 Mullan Street, was X-rayed at Memorial Hospital Tuesday after he injured his left elbow in a fall from a tree.

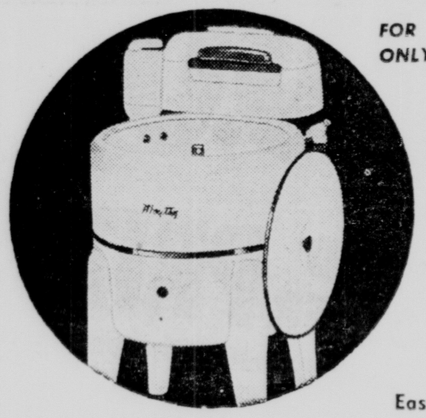

Also treated at Memorial was John Knippenberg, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Knippenberg, 130 Arch Street, for a chin laceration received while playing at school.

Rita Datri, Valley Road, had a cast applied to a fractured left leg at Allegany Hospital Tuesday. She had fallen down the steps at her home.

Mrs. Nellie Atwell, 63, 415 Virginina Avenue, was taken to Memorial Hospital with a fractured arm sustained after she fell from a chair at home. A cast was applied.

Garfield wore the largest hat of any American president—size 7⅞.

Captain of Industry

Butch wants a bicycle. Lots of lawn and lemonade and baby-sitting lie between Butch and that bike, but we're betting on the boy. He has energy, vision and our national habit of working hard for what he wants. He's American business—in miniature.

There are many names for Butch's philosophy. You can call it Free Enterprise, Opportunity, Democracy, or Capitalism, if you want.

But whatever the name, America owes it much. For our most valuable natural resource lies in the ambition and the initiative of Americans such as Butch.

Free enterprise—and hard work—will bring Butch and his bike together. They are what built America and the American way of life. No nation on earth has found a satisfactory substitute for that combination.

Australian Discounts U. S. Success In Japan

CANBERRA—(AP)—Charles Davidson, Australian Member of Parliament, says United States authorities in Japan seem over-optimistic.

Davidson, a member of the opposition Country Party, was a lieutenant-colonel in World War II, and recently visited Japan.

Speaking in the House of Representatives, Davidson said he left Japan with the uneasy impression that the Americans attributed greater success to their administration than he thought justified.

"There is no doubt about the keenness of American adminstrators, who realize they are handling one of the greatest experiments in world affairs," he said. "But this keenness apparently has caused them to claim greater success than they have actually achieved.

"The Japanese have accepted the occupation calmly because they are fatalists and have an inherrent fear of communism.

"Many Australians feel justifiably that the Japanese should be ostracised for their wartime performance. But Australia should take an interest in Japan, and see the Japanese have opportunities to find living room north, not southward, and to enter into world trade."

Argentine Government Is Stern Rail Boss

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Six months' government operation of Argentine railroads has proved the government can get away with things a foreign company wouldn't dare try.

For years the former British owners of the railroads complained about passenger fares. They said the fares weren't high enough. They said not all passengers were paying fares and not all fares paid on trains were reaching the company.

But now the government administration, which took over all rail lines March 1, is preparing fares and freight increases. It jailed 14 conductors who were pocketing cash fares paid on trains. It cut out half fares for government employes on official business.

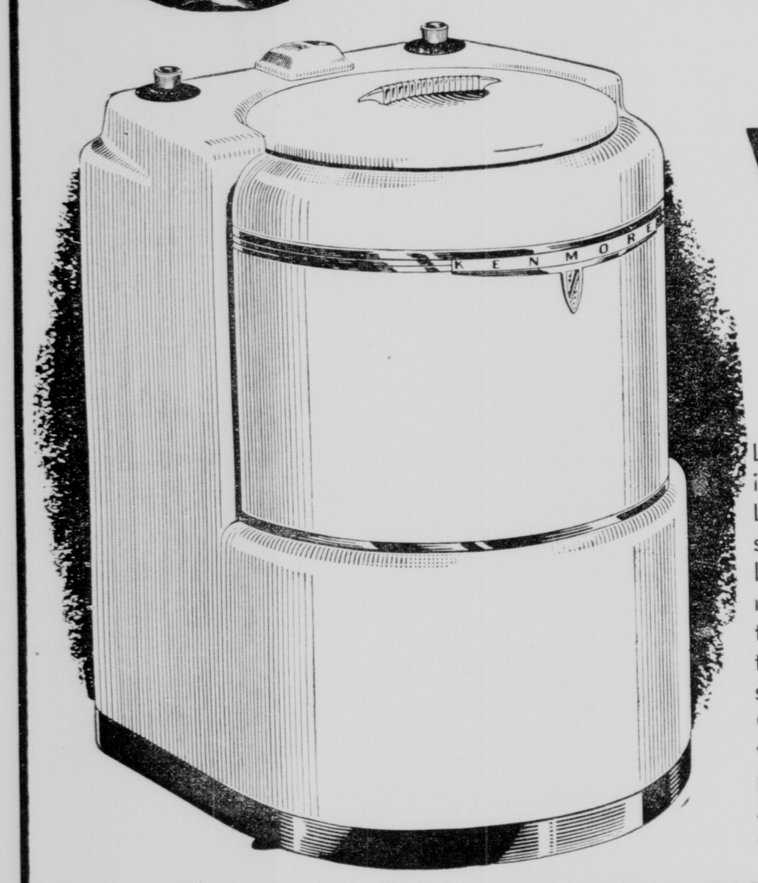

Also, a fine of 20 pesos has been imposed on passengers boarding trains without tickets. This fine has nearly doubled the number of tickets sold to Sunday football crowds and brought up receipts generally.

Sophomores Star On Many Of Nation's College Gridirons

18 Players Seek Berths On Dukes Pro Cage Team

Head Coach Klotz Holds First Drills

Eighteen potential pro cage stars reported to the Central YMCA gym last night to greet Louis H. "Red" Klotz, playing-coach of the Cumberland Dukes basketball team who arrived here yesterday afternoon from Atlantic City.

Klotz immediately started to drill the team in fundamentals of both offense and defense, using half court formations and generally trying to get an idea of the material he has.

Business Manager Bob Whip announced last night that Klotz stated he intended to use the Baltimore Bullets style of play, that of getting lots of points but still stressing possession of the ball.

After the first scrimmage with the new mentor was completed Klotz said "There are certainly some fine basketball players on this squad."

Mayor Thomas S. Post was on hand to greet the new coach of the local pros and extended his best wishes and hopes for a successful season to the new mentor in an interview at City Hall.

Newcomers to the team are Jim Devenger, Keyser; Don Lilya and Jim Clingan, former Allegany High stars; Mil Dean, ex-Fort Hill cager, and Lenny Normand of Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pa., and Bill Gray, former Bucknell University star.

All-Conference Team Selected

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (INS) — Herman (Red) Strader, coach of the New York Yankees and Carl Voyles, coach of the Brooklyn Dodgers, collaborated today in picking an All-American Conference football team. Following the new trend, they picked two squads, one for offense, one for defense.

Cleveland gets 10 of the 22 available places, San Francisco five, Baltimore and New York two each, and Buffalo, Brooklyn and Los Angeles one each. Here are the two units:

Offensive

Center: Elliston, San Francisco.
Fullback: Motley, Cleveland.
Halfbacks: Mutryn, Buffalo; Hillenda, Baltimore.
Quarterback: Albert, San Francisco.
Ends: Speedie, Cleveland; Levelli, Cleveland.
Tackles: Reinhard, Los Angeles; Rymkus, Cleveland.
Guards: Bargwegen, Baltimore; Ulinski, Cleveland.

Defensive

Center: Seban, Cleveland.
Fullback: Standlee, San Francisco.
Halfbacks: Colella, Cleveland; Crowe, San Francisco.
Quarterback: Graham, Cleveland.
Ends: Russell, New York; Yonakor, Cleveland.
Tackles: Ruby, Brooklyn; Weinmeister, New York.
Guards: Humble, Cleveland; Matheson, San Francisco.

Hogan Is Named "Golfer-Of-Year"

CHICAGO, Nov. 10 (INS) — Ben Hogan tonight was named "Golfer of the Year" in a landslide vote conducted by the Professional Golfers' Association of America.

George Schneiter, chairman of the P.G.A. tournament committee, announced the result of the poll, which was conducted among golf writers and broadcasters from coast to coast.

Doherty Gets Head Job At Louisville

BOSTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—The appointment of Eddie Doherty, former Providence, R. I. sports writer, as Bruce Dudley's successor as president of the Louisville American Association baseball club was announced today by the Boston Red Sox. Doherty headed the pennant winning Scranton, Pa. Eastern League team during the past sea-

SPORTS GRILL

Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (INS)—The financial aristocrats of the sports world are Gene Tunney, Ty Cobb, Sonja Henie, Eddie Arcaro, Johnny Longden and Al Weill.

But for every Tunney you will find scores of Jimmy Slatterys, Jack Brittons or Sam Langfords.

For every Cobb, hundreds of Jake Powells or Pete Alexanders.

For every Longden or Arcaro, many a Don Meade.

This came to mind when we saw Billy Conn drop into Mike Jacobs' office yesterday looking for a fight. It has been our experience that when a fighter who has made a fortune wants to try a come-back it is because he needs the dough.

Strangely enough, fight managers, all of whom consider themselves wise hombres, are usually broke, no matter how much they have made. Dumb Dan Morgan estimates 85 per cent of the managers haven't got a dime. This percentage, of course, includes Dan himself who estimates he dropped almost half a million on the ponies in his day.

You may wonder where their money goes. Often, as in the cases of Tommy Loughran and Benny Leonard, it was unfortunate investments. But other times—and far more often—wine, women and song got most of it, with not too much going for singing lessons.

Often gambling for high stakes accounted for huge sums going down the drain.

It is sad to see one time heroes of the ring or the diamond ekeing out a bare living, often at a menial task. Many of these fellows made hundreds of thousands of dollars in their day, but lost it.

We mentioned Tommy Loughran, former light heavyweight champion. The last time we saw Tommy he was selling sugar. Jack Britton, former welter champ, was refereeing in Florida the last time we heard of him. Tony Canzoneri, former lightweight boss, is trying to get back as an actor.

Jimmy Slattery is sick in Arizona. The last time we heard of Mike McTigue, light heavyweight champ, he was tending door. Bat Nelson, former lightweight king, we hear is working in a Chicago post office.

Henry Armstrong, who held the feather, lightweight and welter titles, is doing the best he can managing fighters. Barney Ross, as smart a fighter as the ring has produced, was working for an advertising outfit the last time we saw him.

We could go on like this for hours. But it is more pleasant to recall fellows like Tunney and Jack Dempsey who are wealthy men. Or Jack Root, the old time heavyweight, now a lumber baron. Or Billy Petrolle who kept his dough and even added to it.

Jimmy McLarnin will never have to visit a bread line. Nor will Harry Wills, who used to make a career of demanding a fight with Dempsey. Wills owns apartment houses in Harlem.

Jack Sharkey, who blew his title to Max Schmeling, is a gentleman of leisure. Bob Montgomery is well fixed. So, too, is Lew Tendler, the old southpaw who fought two historic battles with Benny Leonard.

DiMaggio Due At Hopkins For Checkup

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP)—Johns Hopkins Hospital is expecting New York Yankee outfielder Joe DiMaggio to check in tomorrow for a consultation to determine if an operation on his right heel is necessary.

DiMaggio has been a regular visitor to Hopkins for the various ailments which have plagued the slugger throughout his major league career.

Last year he was late to start playing after Dr. George Bennett operated for a bone spur on his left heel. A similar growth appeared on the other heel the past season and he limped through the final games.

Success Against Terps, Virginia Would Aid W. Va.

Mounties Are Aiming At 9-2 Grid Record

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 10 (AP)—Saturday's game against Virginia and a November 27 tussle with Maryland may determine the success or failure of the West Virginia University football season.

The Mountaineers have a six won, two lost season record to date, but among these only the victory over South Carolina could be considered an upset.

Victories over Virginia and Maryland, and over Western Reserve which is met in between, would give the Mountaineers the 9-2 season toward which they are aiming.

Halfback Vic Bonfili and five other Mountaineers who have been out of the lineup with injuries will be ready for duty. Halfbacks Ray Caldwell and Bob Fought and Center Frank Kazmierski have been out since the South Carolina game two weeks ago, while Ends Bud Cox and Roy Lester, like Bonfili, have been out of some practices since the Ohio University game.

Virginia, which upset North Carolina State 21-14, has taken five straight games from West Virgnia since 1943.

The Mountaineers will leave Friday morning, spending that evening at Staunton, Va., before continuing to Charlottesville Saturday.

OFFICIALS ARE NAMED FOR TWO LOCAL AREA GRIDIRON CONTESTS

Officials for the LaSalle-Ridgeley football game in the local Fort Hill stadium Friday night and the Beall-Parsons clash at Frostburg Saturday afternoon were announced last night.

John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh will be the referee for both games while John Blough will be umpire for the local tilt and Ed Milbrada will umpire the Frostburg contest. The head linesman for the LaSalle game has not yet been decided but William "Bee" Orndorff will be the third official for the Parsons-Beall fray.

Majors Draft 19 Players From Minor Leagues For $275,000

Big Top Ignores All Bonus Signers

By FRITZ HOWELL

CINCINNATI, Nov. 10 (AP)—Those talent-tagged kids known as bonus players were ignored today as the major baseball leagues staged their annual draft.

Although the minors are studded with 270 youngsters who were good enough to get $6,000 or more for penning their names to contracts, not one was considered ready for a big league trial.

Instead, the major moguls handpicked 19 players from the high minors at a cost of $182,500 as they sought experienced talent to plug their leaky lineups for the 1949 flag chase. Last year 13 clubs drafted 29 players costing $275,000.

5,400 Players Eligible

About 5,400 players from 58 leagues were eligible to receive the major league call, but the big top took 16 from the Triple-A circuits—five from the International and five from the Pacific Coast and six from the American Association—two from the Double-A Southern Association and one from the Double-A Texas League.

Chicago's White Sox, with outgoing General Manager Leslie O'Connor and incoming General Manager Frank Lane doing the picking, were the heavy buyers as they put $30,000 on the line for a pitcher, catcher and infielder.

New York, Pittsburgh and Brooklyn in the National League, and New York and Boston of the American did not put in a bid.

The two 1948 pennant winners went for outfielders, Boston's Braves getting two and Cleveland's world champions one. The Braves took Don Thompson, 24-year-old southpaw who hit .285 in 121 games for Columbus, and Charley Gilbert of Nashville. Manager Billy Southworth said Gilbert, son of Nashville Manager Larry Gilbert, batted .385 "and hit a flock of homers. He'll be a big help to us."

Effective To Nov. 13

The majors paid $10,000 each for the AAA players, and $7,500 each for the AA stars. The draft remains in effect until midnight of Nov. 13, clubs being permitted to make further selections by telegram to Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler, who presided at today's selections.

Here are the draft selections, and what they did in 1948:

National League

Chicago: Dwain Sloat, left-handed pitcher, won 10 lost 8 for Fort Worth in the Texas League; James Kirby, right-handed batting outfielder, who hit .286 in 152 games for Shreveport.

Cincinnati: Homer E. Howell, catcher with San Francisco, batted .292; John S. Pramesa, catcher, batted .284 for Jersey City.

Philadelphia: Bob Blattner, former New York Giant, batted .275 in 110 games for Jersey City, a third baseman; Ken Silvestri, Newark catcher, hit .201 in 129 games.

St. Louis: Edward Sauer, outfielder, hit .305 for Los Angeles.

American League

Chicago: Matthew Surkont, right-handed pitcher who won 15, lost 11 for Rochester; Gene Markland, infielder who hit .280 in 147 games for Milwaukee; Don Wheeler, catcher who hit .302 in 139 games for Minneapolis.

St. Louis: Robert Malloy, pitcher, won 21, lost seven for Indianapolis; Irving Medlinger left-handed pitcher, won 10 lost 5 for Birmingham and Scranton.

Detroit: Marvin Grissom, pitcher, won 11, lost 7 for Sacramento.

VANDER MEER LOST IN WOODS DURING HUNTING EXPEDITION

LAGRANGE, Me., Nov. 10 (AP) — One big league baseball player got a deer and another got lost—for three hours.

Hugh Casey of the Pittsburgh Pirates, brought down a medium-sized buck yesterday, the Maine Development Commission said today. It was one of a herd of eight that Casey, a veteran nimrod, and his guide surprised a mile from the camp of Executive Councilor Harold Worthen, his host.

Johnny Vander Meer of the Cincinnati Reds got lost when he trailed two deer into deep woods. His calmness won the praise of Worthen and the guides.

Vander Meer stayed where he was when he decided he was lost. He fired two shots at half-hour intervals, a pre-arranged signal.

Cerdan To Appear Here In Exhibitions

PARIS, Nov. 10 (AP)—Marcel Cerdan, world middleweight boxing champion, plans to go to the United States about Nov. 17 for a series of exhibition matches.

Lew Burston of New York, who arranges Cerdan's affairs in the states, announced the trip here. Cerdan is visiting at his home in Casablanca following a tour of France since he returned from lifting the title from Tony Zale Sept. 22 in New Jersey.

Mostly Canadians

NEW YORK — (AP) — Of the 99 players in the National Hockey League this season, 91 were born in Canada. Of the eight "foreigners" four were born in the United States, two in Scotland and one each in Ireland and Finland.

Sargent Resigns As Loyola Grid Coach

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10—(INS)—William (Bill) Sargent resigned tonight as head football coach of Loyola University.

Sargent blamed poor health for his resignation, telling the board of directors that "my family comes before my career when health is concerned."

Loyola had visions of becoming the "Notre Dame of the West" under Sargent. The first year of a "five year plan" last season saw Loyola with the finest freshman football club in its history. The squad this year included 32 sophomores.

Bonk Is Injured In Terp Scrimmage

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 10—(AP)—Harry Bonk, Maryland's first string fullback, hurt his back in scrimmage today as the Terps prepared for their big test with North Carolina in Washington Saturday.

X-rays tomorrow morning will determine whether the injury is serious enough to put the veteran out of action.

Coach Jim Tatum has termed Bonk the best blocking back in the South. The 200-pounder is also a fine plunger.

Coach To Dedicate Field To His Son

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 10 (AP) — Tulane University football coach Henry Frnka and Mrs. Frnka have been invited here Nov. 30 for the dedication of a high school athletic field to their late son, Henry Frnka, Jr.

Young Frnka, a star fullback on the Will Rogers High School football team, was injured fatally during a 1946 season game.

Terps, Tar Heels Battle Looms As Defensive Game

Statistics Place Both Teams High On List

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Nov. 10—(AP)—If the figures can be trusted, the tightest defensive struggle scheduled on any gridiron this weekend is that between North Carolina and Maryland at Griffith Stadium in Washington.

About the only conclusion to be drawn from statistics released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau is that the meeting of the two rock-ribbed Southern rivals will produce a score-less tie, barring a field goal.

North Carolina is second only to Georgia Tech both in total defense and rushing defense among all the major teams, and its punting average is the best. Maryland tops them all in defense against enemy passes and stands fourth in total defense.

Opponents Score Little

Despite its upset by Tennessee last Saturday, Georgia Tech leads for the fourth straight week in total defense, having allowed seven rivals an average of 130.3 yards. North Carolina has permitted 141.3, Army 161.1 and Maryland 163.3. From there the figures soar rapidly.

Opposing ball-carriers have averaged only 47.1 yards against Tech. North Carolina has yielded 55.9 yards per game overland, Pennsylvania 64.2 and Minnesota 78.

Maryland's alert secondary has failed to knock down only 26 out of 93 passes thrown against it and has given up an average of but 49.3 yards per game to enemy aerials going into its hand-to-hand struggle with North Carolina's Charlie Justice this week.

Thanks to Justice's kicking foot, the Tar Heels boast the best team punting average in the country—43.6 yards on 45 boots. Furman is second at 42.3.

Army Nation's Highest

The week's overall statistical picture—ringing in both offensive and defensive talents—gives Army's Cadets the highest national rating. Coach Earl Blaik's terrors lead in rushing offense, are second in total offense and third in total defense.

The figures, of course, do not take into account the caliber of opposition. Michigan, voted the nation's top eleven in this week's Associated Press poll, is not among the leading 15 either in total offense or total defense—the statistics say.

Following are the defensive figures:

Total Defense — (Average yards yielded per game to opponents' passing and running) Georgia Tech, 130.3; North Carolina, 141.3; Army, 161.1; Maryland, 163.3; Brown, 175; North Carolina State, 177.4; Minnesota, 181.1; Northwestern, 181.6; Kansas, 185.1; Davidson, 187.6.

Rushing Defense — Georgia Tech, 47.1 yards per game; North Carolina, 55.9; Pennsylvania, 64.2; Minnesota, 78; Michigan, 80.4; Army, 85.3; Vanderbilt, 86.9; West Virginia, 98.6; William and Mary, 99.3; California, 99.9.

Passing Defense — Maryland, 49.3 yards per game; Brown, 50.7; Richmond, 51.1; Northwestern, 51.6; Utah, 53.1; Montana State, 54.6; Brigham Young, 57.1; Hardin-Simmons, 57.6; Villanova, 62.6; Texas Christian, 63.1.

Fog Stops Hockey Tilt

BOSTON, Nov. 10 (INS) — The Boston Bruins-Detroit Red Wings hockey game at Boston Garden was halted tonight in the first period because of "unsafe conditions" and will be played tomorrow night.

A heavy cloud of fog, resulting from the unseasonably warm temperature, followed the players around the ice, blinding players and officials alike.

LEADING GAINER—Averaging 102 yards rushing per game, George Thomas, Oklahoma back, is running away with the Big Seven Conference rushing title this year. Thomas has piled up 615 yards thus far in seven games and scored two touchdowns against Texas.

Hoitsma Pleased With Selection As Best Lineman

By ROBERT MOORE

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Nov. 10 (AP)—Lou Hoitsma raised up from his end position and just sort of grinned. Mist seemed to filter from his eyes and the 6-foot, 2-inch William and Mary flankman who once played center was every inch a pleased football player.

Hoitsma had just been told he'd been selected today as the lineman of the week in the Associated Press poll. That honor was his for a brilliant performance in William and Mary's surprising 7-7 tie last Saturday with North Carolina.

"Gosh," he mumbled, "this is the biggest surprise of my life. I don't know what to say . . ."

Then, he hesitated, finally added: "Don't say too much about me. Say something about the rest of the players. They were the fellows who really made possible our tie with the Tar Heels."

Asked about his circus catch of a 21-yard touchdown pass from tailback Tommy Korczowski, Hoitsma said he "didn't know what was going on from the time the play started until they were putting the score on the scoreboard."

"They told me in the huddle to get down into the end zone," Hoitsma said, "and get that ball. And I just had to get that ball . . ."

"Say, I wish you'd say something about Tommy Thompson, our center. That Tommy's an All-America center in my opinion in every game we play. He's the best there is. Wasn't he terrific?"

This week's nominations:

Ends—McNeill, Michigan; O'Quinn, Wake Forest; Hoitsma, William and Mary; Canad, Arkansas; Williams, Rice; Folsom, Southern Methodist; Hillhouse, Texas A. and M.; Austin, Duke; Wilson, South Carolina; Wimberly, Louisiana State; Roberts, Pennsylvania; Berang, Villanova.

Tackles—Clark, Cornell; Meseroll, Tennessee; Stancil, Arkansas; Hamberger, Southern Methodist; Roberts, Baylor; Petrovich, Texas; Brixey, Tennessee; Gain, Kentucky.

Guards—Healy, Georgia Tech; Mouser, Baylor; Stautzenberger, Texas A. and M.; Burris, Oklahoma; Kelly, Penn State.

Ortmann, Rote, And Stephenson Rated As Best

Former Is Key To Michigan Offense

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—Chuck Ortmann of Michigan, Gil Stephenson of Army and Kyle Rote of Southern Methodist are stacking up as "sophomores of the year" in college football.

These three gifted halfbacks are brightest of a healthy crop of star-studded newcomers to varsity play.

Ortmann, a 19-year-old product of Milwaukee, has become the top offensive performer of the rugged Western Conference while leading the Wolverines to their current No. 1 spot in the nation.

A crack passer, he has completed 19 of 36 tosses for 371 yards—best in the league—and has gained 113 yards on the ground for an offensive total of 484 yards.

Six-feet-one, 183 pounds, Ortmann is rated one of the best looking backs to hit the football-feverish midlands.

Stephenson, up from Columbus, Ga., is currently engaged in making Army fans forget Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis. A tricky runner, he has rolled up 761 yards to rank as the fourth best ball-carrier in the country. He has scored nine touchdowns.

Rote, only sophomore member of a backfield that also contains All-America Doak Walker, has carried the ball 67 times for 247 yards, and caught 12 passes for 189.

In any other backfield except S. M. U.'s—where Walker, the No. 1 sophomore of 1947, naturally dominates—Rote might stand alone as the season's outstanding varsity fledgling.

Other leading Soph backfield men are Leo Koceski of Michigan, whose 30 points lead the Big Nine in scoring; John Brogan, Idaho's great triple threat; Marvin Cross, Washington State's 200-pounder; Oklahoma's regulars, Fullback Leon Heath and Halfback Lindell Pearson; and Red Bagnell, Penn's passing star.

To open some holes for this fine array of race horse backs, the sophomores also have turned up with some robust linemen.

The South is singing praises of Bob Gain, Kentucky's 230-pound powerhouse from Weirton, W. Va. He's future All-America stuff, they say down in Dixie.

Kansas has a great tackle in Mike McCormack, 223 pounds of gristle, and Princeton has turned up with another tackle toughie in Hollie Donan, six-feet-five, 213 pounds.

East

Ends—Dan Foldberg, Army; Bob Diblasio, Harvard; Bill Altieri, Brown; George Sulima, Boston College.

Guard—Johnny Chernak, Brown.

Centers—Paul Staley, Dartmouth; Paul O'Brien, Harvard.

Backs—Johnny Clayton, Dartmouth; Phil Isenberg, Harvard.

South

Tackles—Paul Lea, Tulane; Russ Faulkinberry, Vanderbilt; Jim Young, Duke.

Centers—Pat O'Sullivan, Alabama; Irvin Holdash, North Carolina.

Robinson Traded To Detroit Tigers

CINCINNATI, Nov. 10 (INS) — The Detroit Tigers today traded young pitcher Billy Pierce for catcher Aaron Robinson of the Chicago White Sox in a straight player deal.

The transaction was completed in Cincinnati, the scene of the major league player "draft", this afternoon.

It confirmed rumors of Tiger efforts to obtain Robinson in an attempt to strengthen their battery combinations.

Robinson formerly was a New York Yankee while Pierce played his first major league season with Detroit this past year.

The announcement was made by Red Rolfe, who manages the Tigers' farm system.

Robinson, who came to the White Sox along with Pitchers Fred Bradley and Bill Wight in the trade that sent Ed Lopat to the Yankees, had a desultory season with the Chicagoans in 1948. The 32-year-old backstop batted .252.

The 22-year-old Pierce had a won-and-lost record of three-and-none with Detroit last season. The diminutive southpaw was brought up from Buffalo, where he won 14, lost eight in 1947.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By WALTER L. JOHNS

Central Press Sports Editor

GOOD MATERIAL and good coaching, or vice versa, is a combination hard to beat.

Add to it the spirit that one gets by merely visiting, not only playing on, the campus of Notre Dame University and you get the answer to the football prowess of the Irish year after year.

Notre Dame gets the pick of the crop of outstanding Catholic high school players, as well as some from other schools.

A glance at the record indelibled in the books by Professor Leahy leaves you gasping, when you consider that the Irish virtually play an all-major team schedule year after year.

This is Leahy's sixth year as head coach of the Irish. His teams have played 54 games. In those 54 games his team has gone down to defeat ONLY THREE TIMES!

* * * *

NOT ONLY LEAHY, but other Notre Dame coaches of the past have had remarkable success at the South Bend institution.

Jesse C. Harper, coach from 1913 to 1917, finished with a record of 33 victories in 39 games. The great master-mind of the grid Knute Rockne, won 105 games and lost but 12 in 12 seasons. Hunk Anderson had the roughest time, but even he won more than he lost. His record was 16 victories and nine defeats. Elmer Layden coached seven years and won 47 games while losing 13. Ed McKeever, serving one year, 1944, won eight and lost two. Hugh Devore, the 1945 coach, won seven and lost two.

Notre Dame's record from 1887 to the present time shows 375 victories against 77 defeats and 29 ties.

Nine times the Irish squad has gone through the season undefeated and untied and 15 seasons it has gone through undefeated!

* * * *

WHAT makes Leahy a good coach?

First, of course, is his material. And plenty of it.

Second, Leahy is one of the great football master-minds of all time. He knows what to do with the material he has.

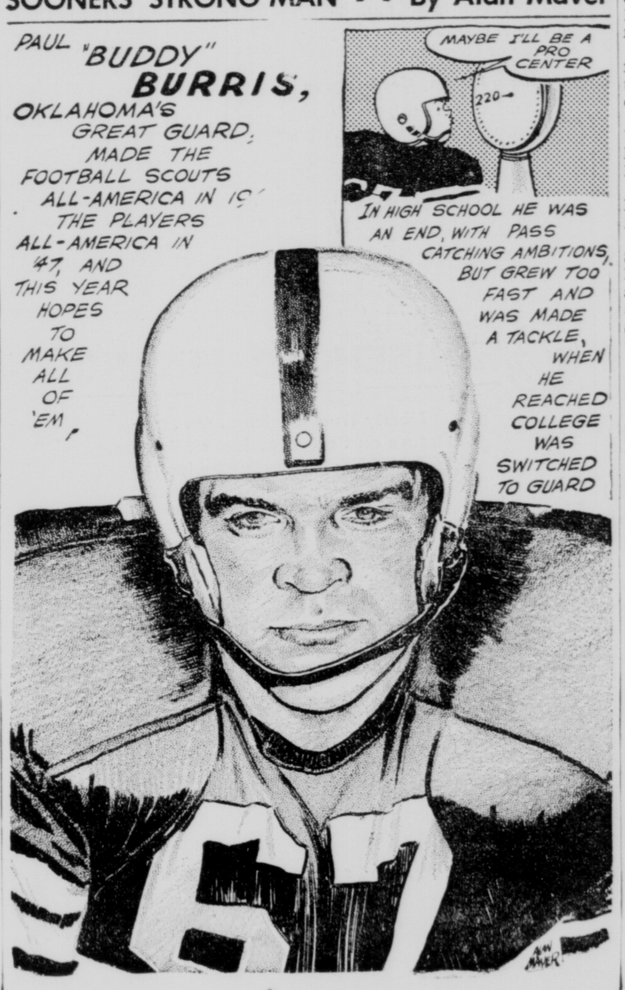

Third, that Notre Dame spirit must be considered. Leahy has it and so do his players.

Probably the best explanation of why Leahy is a good coach was given us recently by Johnny Lujack, one of the best products of Notre Dame's football foundry.

Said Lujack:

"I'd say the difference between Leahy and other coaches is that Leahy not only knows what to do but also knows how to pass the information on to his players."

Eighteen potential pro cage stars reported to the Central YMCA gym last night to greet Louis H. "Red" Klotz, playing-coach of the Cumberland Dukes basketball team who arrived here yesterday afternoon from Atlantic City.

Klotz immediately started to drill the team in fundamentals of both offense and defense, using half court formations and generally trying to get an idea of the material he has.

Business Manager Bob Whip announced last night that Klotz stated he intended to use the Baltimore Bullets style of play, that of getting lots of points but still stressing possession of the ball.

After the first scrimmage with the new mentor was completed Klotz said "There are certainly some fine basketball players on this squad."

Mayor Thomas S. Post was on hand to greet the new coach of the local pros and extended his best wishes and hopes for a successful season to the new mentor in an interview at City Hall.

Newcomers to the team are Jim Stevenger, Keyser; Don Lilya and Jim Clingan, former Allegany High stars; Mil Dean, ex-Fort Hill cager, and Lenny Normand of Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pa., and Bill Kay, former Bucknell University star.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (INS)—The financial aristocrats of the sports world are Gene Tunney, Ty Cobb, Sonja Henie, Eddie Arcaro, Johnny Longden and Al Weill.

But for every Tunney you will find scores of Jimmy Slatterys, Jack Brittons or Sam Langfords.

For every Cobb, hundreds of Jake Powells or Pete Alexanders.

This came to mind when we saw Billy Conn drop into Mike Jacobs' office yesterday looking for a fight. It has been our experience that when a fighter who has made a fortune wants to try a come-back it is because he needs the dough.

Strangely enough, fight managers, all of whom consider themselves wise hombres, are usually broke, no matter how much they have made. Dumb Dan Morgan estimates 85 per cent of the managers haven't got a dime. This percentage, of course, includes Dan himself who estimates he dropped almost half a million on the ponies in his day.

We mentioned Tommy Loughran, former light heavyweight champion. The last time we saw Tommy he was selling sugar. Jack Britton, former welter champ, was refereeing in Florida the last time we heard of him. Tony Canzoneri, former lightweight boss, is trying to get back as an actor.

Jimmy Slattery is sick in Arizona. The last time we heard of Mike McTigue, light heavyweight champ, he was tending door. Bat Nelson, former lightweight king, we hear is working in a Chicago post office.

Henry Armstrong, who held the feather, lightweight and welter titles, is doing the best he can managing fighters. Barney Ross, as smart a fighter as the ring has produced, was working for an advertising outfit the last time we saw him.

We could go on like this for hours. But it is more pleasant to recall fellows like Tunney and Jack Dempsey who are wealthy men. Or Jack Root, the old time heavyweight, now a lumber baron. Or Billy Petrolle who kept his dough and even added to it.

DiMaggio Due At Hopkins For Checkup

Success Against Terps, Virginia Would Aid W. Va.

Mounties Are Aiming At 9-2 Grid Record

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 10 (AP)—Saturday's game against Virginia and a November 27 tussle with Maryland may determine the success or failure of the West Virginia University football season.

The Mountaineers have a six won, two lost season record to date, but among these only the victory over South Carolina could be considered an upset.

Victories over Virginia and Maryland, and over Western Reserve which is met in between, would give the Mountaineers the 9-2 season toward which they are aiming.

Halfback Vic Bonfili and five other Mountaineers who have been out of the lineup with injuries will be ready for duty. Halfbacks Ray Caldwell and Bob Fought and Center Frank Kazmierski have been out since the South Carolina game two weeks ago, while Ends Bud Cox and Roy Lester, like Bonfili, have been out of some practices since the Ohio University game.

Virginia, which upset North Carolina State 21-14, has taken five straight games from West Virginia since 1943.

The Mountaineers will leave Friday morning, spending that evening at Staunton, Va., before continuing to Charlottesville Saturday.

OFFICIALS ARE NAMED FOR TWO LOCAL AREA GRIDIRON CONTESTS

Officials for the LaSalle-Ridgeley football game in the local Fort Hill stadium Friday night and the Beall-Parsons clash at Frostburg Saturday afternoon were announced last night.

John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh will be the referee for both games while John Blough will be umpire for the local tilt and Ed Milbrada will umpire the Frostburg contest. The head linesman for the LaSalle game has not yet been decided but William "Bee" Orndorff will be the third official for the Parsons-Beall fray.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By WALTER L. JOHNS

Central Press Sports Editor

GOOD MATERIAL and good coaching, or vice versa, is a combination hard to beat.

Add to it the spirit that one gets by merely visiting, not only playing on, the campus of Notre Dame University and you get the answer to the football prowess of the Irish year after year.

Notre Dame gets the pick of the crop of outstanding Catholic high school players, as well as some from other schools.

A glance at the record indelibled in the books by Professor Leahy leaves you gasping, when you consider that the Irish virtually play an all-major team schedule year after year.

This is Leahy's sixth year as head coach of the Irish. His teams have played 54 games. In those 54 games his team has gone down to defeat ONLY THREE TIMES!

* * * *

NOT ONLY LEAHY, but other Notre Dame coaches of the past have had remarkable success at the South Bend institution.

Jesse C. Harper, coach from 1913 to 1917, finished with a record of 33 victories in 39 games. The great master-mind of the grid Knute Rockne, won 105 games and lost but 12 in 12 seasons. Hunk Anderson had the roughest time, but even he won more than he lost. His record was 16 victories and nine defeats. Elmer Layden coached seven years and won 47 games while losing 13. Ed McKeever, serving one year, 1944, won eight and lost two. Hugh Devore, the 1945 coach, won seven and lost two.

Notre Dame's record from 1887 to the present time shows 375 victories against 77 defeats and 29 ties.

Nine times the Irish squad has gone through the season undefeated and untied and 15 seasons it has gone through undefeated!

* * * *

WHAT makes Leahy a good coach?

First, of course, is his material. And plenty of it.

Second, Leahy is one of the great football master-minds of all time. He knows what to do with the material he has.

Third, that Notre Dame spirit must be considered. Leahy has it and so do his players.

Probably the best explanation of why Leahy is a good coach was given us recently by Johnny Lujack, one of the best products of Notre Dame's football foundry.

Said Lujack:

"I'd say the difference between Leahy and other coaches is that Leahy not only knows what to do but also knows how to pass the information on to his players."

Majors Draft 19 Players From Minor Leagues For $275,000

Big Top Ignores All Bonus Signers

By FRITZ HOWELL

CINCINNATI, Nov. 10 (AP)—Those talent-tagged kids known as bonus players were ignored today as the major baseball leagues staged their annual draft.

Although the minors are studded with 270 youngsters who were good enough to get $6,000 or more for penning their names to contracts, not one was considered ready for a big league trial.

Instead, the major moguls handpicked 19 players from the high minors at a cost of $182,500 as they sought experienced talent to plug their leaky lineups for the 1949 flag chase. Last year 13 clubs drafted 29 players costing $275,000.

5,400 Players Eligible

About 5,400 players from 58 leagues were eligible to receive the major league call, but the big top took 16 from the Triple-A circuits—five from the International and five from the Pacific Coast and six from the American Association—two from the Double-A Southern Association and one from the Double-A Texas League.

Chicago's White Sox, with outgoing General Manager Leslie O'Connor and incoming General Manager Frank Lane doing the picking, were the heavy buyers as they put $30,000 on the line for a pitcher, catcher and infielder.

New York, Pittsburgh and Brooklyn in the National League, and New York and Boston of the American did not put in a bid.

The two 1948 pennant winners went for outfielders, Boston's Braves getting two and Cleveland's world champions one. The Braves took Don Thompson, 24-year-old southpaw who hit .285 in 121 games for Columbus, and Charley Gilbert of Nashville. Manager Billy Southworth said Gilbert, son of Nashville Manager Larry Gilbert, batted .385 "and hit a flock of homers. He'll be a big help to us."

Effective To Nov. 13

The majors paid $10,000 each for the AAA players, and $7,500 each for the AA stars. The draft remains in effect until midnight of Nov. 13, clubs being permitted to make further selections by telegram to Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler, who presided at today's selections.

Here are the draft selections, and what they did in 1948:

National League

Chicago: Dwain Sloat, left-handed pitcher, won 10 lost 8 for Fort Worth in the Texas League; James Kirby, right-handed batting outfielder, who hit .286 in 152 games for Shreveport.

Cincinnati: Homer E. Howell, catcher with San Francisco, batted .292; John S. Pramesa, catcher, batted .284 for Jersey City.

Philadelphia: Bob Blattner, former New York Giant, batted .275 in 110 games for Jersey City, a third baseman; Ken Silvestri, Newark catcher, hit .201 in 129 games.

St. Louis: Edward Sauer, outfielder, hit .305 for Los Angeles.

American League

Chicago: Matthew Surkont, right-handed pitcher who won 15, lost 11 for Rochester; Gene Markland, infielder who hit .280 in 147 games for Milwaukee; Don Wheeler, catcher who hit .302 in 139 games for Minneapolis.

St. Louis: Robert Mailoy, pitcher, won 21, lost seven for Indianapolis; Irving Medlinger left-handed pitcher, won 10 lost 5 for Birmingham and Scranton.

Detroit: Marvin Grissom, pitcher, won 11 lost 7 for Sacramento.

FORT HILL OPENS CAGE SCHEDULE ON FRIDAY, DEC. 10TH

Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh announced last night that Fort Hill High School's basketball team will officially open its 1948-49 cage season against Piedmont High at the West Virginia city Dec. 10th.

Although the schedule is not definitely set home and home games will be played with the W. M. I. League oponents — Barton, Beall, Central, Bruce and Allegany. Other teams tentatively slated to be met by last year's city champions will be Martinsburg, W. Va., Hagerstown, Davis, W. Va., and LaSalle.

LaSalle High's basket bombers under the tutelage of their new mentor, John Mullaney, will start practice next week after the SS. Peter and Paul gym has been renovated. Opening exercises are now being held at Carroll Hall.

Feature game on the Explorers' schedule will be the home tilt with St. John's of Washington, D. C., whose new principal is Brother Clement, former head man at LaSalle.

The St. John's band will travel with the team and will put on a program during the half.

Tentative games are on tap with St. Francis of Loretta, Pa., Altoona Catholic, Johnstown Catholic, St. John's of Frederick, Moorefield, Ft. Ashby, Barton, Ridgeley, Allegany and Fort Hill, Brother Gregory, athletic director said.

VANDER MEER LOST IN WOODS DURING HUNTING EXPEDITION

LAGRANGE, Me., Nov. 10 (AP) — One big league baseball player got a deer and another got lost—for three hours.

Hugh Casey of the Pittsburgh Pirates, brought down a medium-sized buck yesterday, the Maine Development Commission said today. It was one of a herd of eight that Casey, a veteran nimrod, and his guide surprised a mile from the camp of Executive Councilor Harold Worthen, his host.

Johnny Vander Meer of the Cincinnati Reds got lost when he trailed two deer into deep woods. His calmness won the praise of Worthen and the guides.

Vander Meer stayed where he was when he decided he was lost. He fired two shots at half-hour intervals, a pre-arranged signal.

Herman Wehmeier, also of the Reds, got nothing.

Cerdan To Appear Here In Exhibitions

PARIS, Nov. 10 (AP)—Marcel Cerdan, world middleweight boxing champion, plans to go to the United States about Nov. 17 for a series of exhibition matches.

Lew Burston of New York, who arranges Cerdan's affairs in the states, announced the trip here. Cerdan is visiting at his home in Casablanca following a tour of France since he returned from lifting the title from Tony Zale Sept. 22 in New Jersey.

Mostly Canadians

NEW YORK — (AP) — Of the 99 players in the National Hockey League this season, 91 were born in Canada. Of the eight "foreigners" four were born in the United States, two in Scotland and one each in Ireland and Finland.

Sargent Resigns As Loyola Grid Coach

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 10—(INS)—William (Bill) Sargent resigned tonight as head football coach of Loyola University.

Sargent blamed poor health for his resignation, telling the board of directors that "my family comes before my career when health is concerned."

Loyola had visions of becoming the "Notre Dame of the West" under Sargent. The first year of a "five year plan" last season saw Loyola with the finest freshman football club in its history. The squad this year included 32 sophomores.

Bonk Is Injured In Terp Scrimmage

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 10—(AP)—Harry Bonk, Maryland's first string fullback, hurt his back in scrimmage today as the Terps prepared for their big test with North Carolina in Washington Saturday.

X-rays tomorrow morning will determine whether the injury is serious enough to put the veteran out of action.

Coach Jim Tatum has termed Bonk the best blocking back in the South. The 200-pounder is also a fine plunger.

Coach To Dedicate Field To His Son

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 10 (AP) — Tulane University football coach Henry Frnka and Mrs. Frnka have been invited here Nov. 30 for the dedication of a high school athletic field to their late son, Henry Frnka, Jr.

Young Frnka, a star fullback on the Will Rogers High School football team, was injured fatally during a 1946 season game.

Terps, Tar Heels Battle Looms As Defensive Game

Statistics Place Both Teams High On List

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Nov. 10—(AP)—If the figures can be trusted, the tightest defensive struggle scheduled on any gridiron this weekend is that between North Carolina and Maryland at Griffith Stadium in Washington.

About the only conclusion to be drawn from statistics released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau is that the meeting of the two rock-ribbed Southern rivals will produce a score-less tie, barring a field goal.

North Carolina is second only to Georgia Tech both in total defense and rushing defense among all the major teams, and its punting average is the best. Maryland tops them all in defense against enemy passes and stands fourth in total defense.

Opponents Score Little

Additionally, Maryland shares with Clemson the distinction of having held opponents to the fewest points scored—33 in seven games.

Despite its upset by Tennessee last Saturday, Georgia Tech leads for the fourth straight week in total defense, having allowed seven rivals an average of 130.3 yards. North Carolina has permitted 141.3, Army 161.1 and Maryland 163.3. From there the figures soar rapidly.

Opposing ball-carriers have averaged only 47.1 yards against Tech. North Carolina has yielded 55.9 yards per game overland, Pennsylvania 64.2 and Minnesota 78.

Maryland's alert secondary has failed to knock down only 26 out of 93 passes thrown against it and has given up an average of but 49.3 yards per game to enemy aerials going into its hand-to-hand struggle with North Carolina's Charlie Justice this week.

Thanks to Justice's kicking foot, the Tar Heels boast the best team punting average in the country—43.6 yards on 45 boots. Furman is second at 42.3.

Army Nation's Highest

The week's overall statistical picture—ringing in both offensive and defensive talents—gives Army's Cadets the highest national rating. Coach Earl Blaik's terrors lead in rushing offense, are second in total offense and third in total defense.

The figures, of course, do not take into account the caliber of opposition. Michigan, voted the nation's top eleven in this week's Associated Press poll, is not among the leading 15 either in total offense or total defense—the statistics say.

Following are the defensive figures:

Total Defense — (Average yards yielded per game to opponents' passing and running) Georgia Tech, 130.3; North Carolina, 141.3; Army, 161.1; Maryland, 163.3; Brown, 175; North Carolina State, 177.4; Minnesota, 181.1; Northwestern, 181.6; Kansas, 185.1; Davidson, 187.6.

Rushing Defense — Georgia Tech, 47.1 yards per game; North Carolina, 55.9; Pennsylvania, 64.2; Minnesota, 78; Michigan, 80.4; Army, 85.3; Vanderbilt, 86.9; West Virginia, 98.6; William and Mary, 99.3; California, 99.9.

Passing Defense — Maryland, 49.3 yards per game; Brown, 50.7; Richmond, 51.1; Northwestern, 51.6; Utah, 53.1; Montana State, 54.6; Brigham Young, 57.1; Hardin-Simmons, 57.6; Villanova, 62.6; Texas Christian, 63.1.

Fog Stops Hockey Tilt

BOSTON, Nov. 10 (INS) — The Boston Bruins-Detroit Red Wings hockey game at Boston Garden was halted tonight in the first period because of "unsafe conditions" and will be played tomorrow night.

A heavy cloud of fog, resulting from the unseasonably warm temperature, followed the players around the ice, blinding players and officials alike.

LEADING GAINER—Averaging 102 yards rushing per game, George Thomas, Oklahoma back, is running away with the Big Seven Conference rushing title this year. Thomas has piled up 615 yards thus far in seven games and scored two touchdowns against Texas.

Hoitsma Pleased With Selection As Best Lineman

By ROBERT MOORE

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Nov. 10 (AP)—Lou Hoitsma raised up from his end position and just sort of grinned. Mist seemed to filter from his eyes and the 6-foot, 2-inch William and Mary flankman who once played center was every inch a pleased football player.

Hoitsma had just been told he'd been selected today as the lineman of the week in the Associated Press poll. That honor was his for a brilliant performance in William and Mary's surprising 7-7 tie last Saturday with North Carolina.

"Gosh," he mumbled, "this is the biggest surprise of my life. I don't know what to say . . ."

Then, he hesitated, finally added: "Don't say too much about me. Say something about the rest of the players. They were the fellows who really made possible our tie with the Tar Heels."

Asked about his circus catch of a 21-yard touchdown pass from tailback Tommy Korczowski, Hoitsma said he "didn't know what was going on from the time the play started until they were putting the score on the scoreboard."

"They told me in the huddle to get down into the end zone," Hoitsma said, "and get that ball. And I just had to get that ball . . ."

"Say, I wish you'd say something about Tommy Thompson, our center. That Tommy's an All-America center in my opinion in every game we play. He's the best there is. Wasn't he terrific?"

This week's nominations:

Ends—McNeil, Michigan; O'Quinn, Wake Forest; Hoitsma, William and Mary; Canad, Arkansas; Williams, Rice; Folsom, Southern Methodist; Hillhouse, Texas A. and M.; Austin, Duke; Wilson, South Carolina; Wimberly, Louisiana State; Roberts, Pennsylvania; Berang, Villanova.

Tackles—Clark, Cornell; Meseroll, Tennessee; Stancil, Arkansas; Hamberger, Southern Methodist; Roberts, Baylor; Petrovich, Texas; Brixey, Tennessee; Gain, Kentucky.

Guards—Healy, Georgia Tech; Mouser, Baylor; Stautzenberger, Texas A. and M.; Burris, Oklahoma; Kelly, Penn State.

Ortmann, Rote, And Stephenson Rated As Best

Former Is Key To Michigan Offense

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—Chuck Ortmann of Michigan, Gil Stephenson of Army and Kyle Rote of Southern Methodist are stacking up as "sophomores of the year" in college football.

These three gifted halfbacks are brightest of a healthy crop of star-studded newcomers to varsity play.

Ortmann, a 19-year-old product of Milwaukee, has become the top offensive performer of the rugged Western Conference while leading the Wolverines to their current No. 1 spot in the nation.

A crack passer, he has completed 19 of 36 tosses for 371 yards—best in the league—and has gained 113 yards on the ground for an offensive total of 484 yards.

Six-feet-one, 183 pounds, Ortmann is rated one of the best looking backs to hit the football-feverish midlands.

Stephenson, up from Columbus, Ga., is currently engaged in making Army fans forget Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis. A tricky runner, he has rolled up 761 yards to rank as the fourth best ball-carrier in the country. He has scored nine touchdowns.

Rote, only sophomore member of a backfield that also contains All-America Doak Walker, has carried the ball 67 times for 247 yards, and caught 12 passes for 189.

In any other backfield except S. M. U.'s—where Walker, the No. 1 sophomore of 1947, naturally dominates—Rote might stand alone as the season's outstanding varsity fledgling.

Other leading Soph backfield men are Leo Koceski of Michigan, whose 30 points lead the Big Nine in scoring; John Brogan, Idaho's great triple threat; Marvin Cross, Washington State's 200-pounder; Oklahoma's regulars, Fullback Leon Heath and Halfback Lindell Pearson; and Red Bagnell, Penn's passing star.

To open some holes for this fine array of race horse backs, the sophomores also have turned up with some robust linemen.

The South is singing praises of Bob Gain, Kentucky's 230-pound powerhouse from Weirton, W. Va. He's future All-America stuff, they say down in Dixie.

Kansas has a great tackle in Mike McCormack, 223 pounds of gristle, and Princeton has turned up with another tackle toughie in Hollie Donan, six-feet-five, 213 pounds.

Ends—Dan Foldberg, Army; Bob Diblasio, Harvard; Bill Altieri, Brown; George Sulima, Boston College.

Guard—Johnny Chernak, Brown.

Centers—Paul Staley, Dartmouth; Paul O'Brien, Harvard.

Backs—Johnny Clayton, Dartmouth; Phil Isenberg, Harvard.

South

Tackles—Paul Lea, Tulane; Russ Faulkinberry, Vanderbilt; Jim Young, Duke.

Centers—Pat O'Sullivan, Alabama; Irvin Holdash, North Carolina.

Robinson Traded To Detroit Tigers

CINCINNATI, Nov. 10 (INS) — The Detroit Tigers today traded young pitcher Billy Pierce for catcher Aaron Robinson of the Chicago White Sox in a straight player deal.

The transaction was completed in Cincinnati, the scene of the major league player "draft", this afternoon.

It confirmed rumors of Tiger efforts to obtain Robinson in an attempt to strengthen their battery combinations.

Robinson formerly was a New York Yankee while Pierce played his first major league season with Detroit this past year.

The announcement was made by Red Rolfe, who manages the Tigers' farm system.

Robinson, who came to the White Sox along with Pitchers Fred Bradley and Bill Wight in the trade that sent Ed Lopat to the Yankees, had a desultory season with the Chicagoans in 1948. The 32-year-old backstop batted .252.

The 22-year-old Pierce had a won-and-lost record of three-and-none with Detroit last season. The diminutive southpaw was brought up from Buffalo, where he won 14, lost eight in 1947.

LAKE PLACID, N. Y.—(AP)—For the first time since 1932 the world's bobsledding championships will be held here. The two-man competition is scheduled for Feb. 2-3 and the four-man event for Feb. 5-6. The famous Mount Van Hoevenberg's one-mile chute will be used.

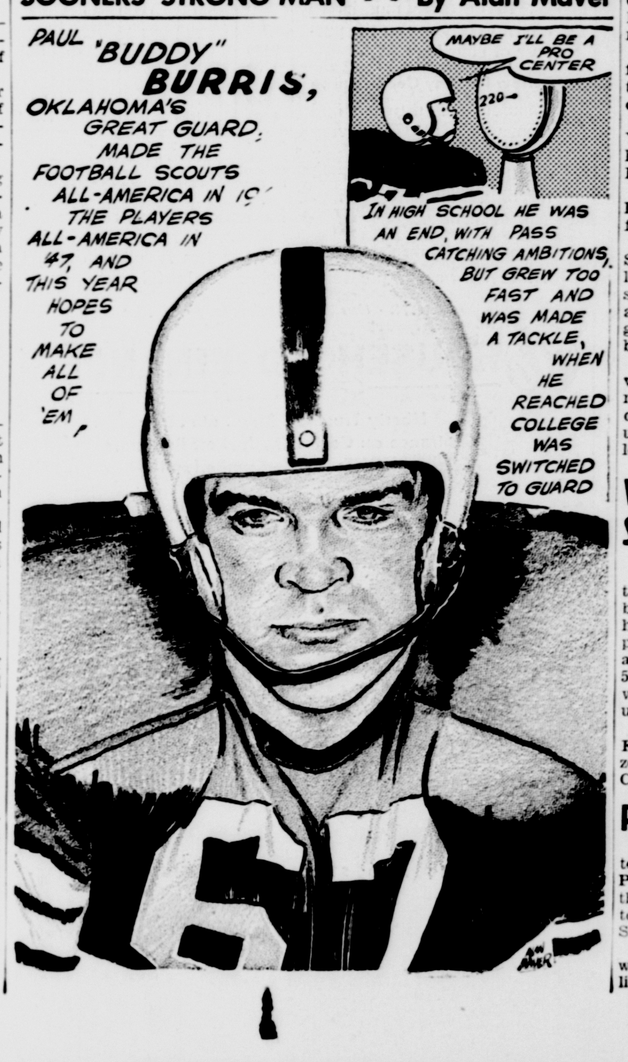

Entry blanks have been sent to France, England, Belgium, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, Italy and Canada.

Purple Heart Wins

The Purple Heart shuffleboard team defeated the Cumberland Post, American Legion last night at the Purple Heart center, two games to one, in an Allegany County Shuffleboard League clash.

Joe Burkey was high man for the winners with 2' points while William Folk paced the losers with 21.

Tri-Towns Area Churches Form New Cage Loop

First Meeting Is Held At Piedmont

PIEDMONT, W. Va., Nov. 10 — As a part of the Tri-Towns Recreational program a basketball league of Tri-Towns churches is being formed.

At the first meeting Monday night at Piedmont High School to set up the league Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, rector of St. James Episcopal Church, Westernport, was elected president and Vernon A. Staggers, principal of Piedmont High School, secretary and treasurer.

The by-laws were drawn up and it was decided that all boys who have not reached their 16th birthday and who do not play on a high school varsity or junior varsity team will be eligible to join. Each participant must have a 75 per cent attendance at Sunday school or church.

The first practice for all of the teams will be held at Bruce High School, Westernport, Saturday, November 20 at 9 a. m., at which time John E. Grindle, coach of Bruce High School, and "Huck" Miers, coach of Piedmont High School, will instruct the group in interscholastic basketball rules.

Churches expecting to participate include Church of the Brethren, Evangelical United Brethren, St. James Episcopal, Trinity Methodist Church, First Presbyterian; St. Peter's Catholic and Beryl Presbyterian Church. Several others are expected to join the circuit.

A forfeit fee of $5 will be due the treasurer before November 19.

Any young man interested in refereeing these games, which will be played on Saturday mornings throughout the basketball season, is asked to get in touch with either Coach Grindle or Coach Miers.

The North Carolina State basketball team this season features nine regulars from the powerful 1947-48 quintet.

Tri-Towns Area Churches Form New Cage Loop

First Meeting Is Held At Piedmont

PIEDMONT, W. Va., Nov. 10 — As a part of the Tri-Towns Recreational program a basketball league of Tri-Towns churches is being formed.

At the first meeting Monday night at Piedmont High School to set up the league Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, rector of St. James Episcopal Church, Westernport, was elected president and Vernon A. Staggers, principal of Piedmont High School, secretary and treasurer.

The by-laws were drawn up and it was decided that all boys who have not reached their 16th birthday and who do not play on a high school varsity or junior varsity team will be eligible to join. Each participant must have a 75 per cent attendance at Sunday school or church.

The first practice for all of the teams will be held at Bruce High School, Westernport, Saturday, November 20 at 9 a. m., at which time John E. Grindle, coach of Bruce High School, and "Huck" Miers, coach of Piedmont High School, will instruct the group in interscholastic basketball rules.

Churches expecting to participate include Church of the Brethren, Evangelical United Brethren, St. James Episcopal, Trinity Methodist Church, First Presbyterian; St. Peter's Catholic and Beryl Presbyterian Church. Several others are expected to join the circuit.

A forfeit fee of $5 will be due the treasurer before November 19.

Any young man interested in refereeing these games, which will be played on Saturday mornings throughout the basketball season, is asked to get in touch with either Coach Grindle or Coach Miers.

The North Carolina State basketball team this season features nine regulars from the powerful 1947-48 quintet.

Alcoholism Clinic Proposal Revived

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP) — The Legislative Council agreed today to try again at setting up a Maryland commission on alcoholism.

It gave approval to legislation to spend $100,000 a year on clinics to study alcoholism as a disease and see what can be done about it.

The clinics would be set up at Johns Hopkins and University Hospitals in Baltimore, with additional clinics on the Eastern Shore and in Western Maryland.

A bill in the 1947 Legislature, giving permission to set up the commission, passed the Senate but failed in the House.

During a day devoted largely to routine committee meetings, the council approved a plan to set up motor vehicle inspection stations in every county and make twice-a-year inspection of cars mandatory on owners.

A bill to raise the base salary of Maryland circuit judges from $9,500 to $12,500 a year also won council approval.

Under the measure for mandatory automobile inspection, the state would float a bond issue of from $600,000 to $700,000 to set up the stations in every county. Motorists would be charged $1 a year, payable when they take out their car licenses, to finance the bond issue.

1,500 Return To Homes After Fire Threat Eased

SANTA ANA, Calif., Nov. 10—(AP)—Fire fighters kept the upper hand today on Santa Ana Mountain brush fire, permitting 1,500 persons evacuated Monday to return to their homes in Silverado and Modjeska Canyons.

State Forester James K. Mace said, however, that the property owners returned on their own responsibility. Only three small homes were reported burned. The fire, 50 miles southeast of Los Angeles, was one of the largest in years. For 24 hours it threatened about 350 homes in Silverado village but was beaten off yesterday.

when he was asked whether Mr. Truman might go to Moscow.

Lovett told the newsmen that Russia had not replied to a United States proposal to revive negotiations for settlement of the Soviet $11,000,000,000 lend-lease debt.

Hope was expressed by the Vatican City newspaper L'Observatore Romano that the American elections have opened the way for a Truman-Stalin meeting.

Eddie Gilmore, AP Moscow correspondent, quoted an authoritative foreign source as saying it was likely there would be some kind of agreement among the French, British and Americans beforehand if such a Truman-Stalin conference took place.

The source quoted by Gilmore added: "Such a meeting might take place, everything else seemingly having failed to produce an accord."

Premier Stalin was reported on vacation in the south of Russia, while Mr. Truman is vacationing in this southernmost city of the United States.

He was placed in a cell at the Waterloo state police barracks, midway between Washington and Baltimore. A former prison inmate working for the police was in the next cell and prodded Edwards into conversation. It was recorded.

Souers said after the officers eavesdropped on Edwards they went last night to his home at Freetown, about three miles southeast of Glen Burnie. They found the pistol in a cupboard behind some fruit.

Lovett said he knew of no basis for the report. And in San Francisco later today Bullitt himself denied that anyone had tried to interfere. No objection was raised by any State Department official, he said.

This resolution was sponsored jointly by the United States, Britain, France and China. The vote was 48 to 6, with the Slav bloc voting alone against it.

Palestine Plan Considered

The committee later rejected a Soviet proposal which would have recommended withdrawal of all foreign military personnel from Greece. This would have included the American military mission.

In the Security Council, meanwhile, delegates considered the new Palestine peace plan laid before it yesterday by Acting United Nations Mediator Ralph Bunche.

Russia demanded that the plan be amended in two important respects. First, Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik proposed that the council order direct negotiations between Jews and Arabs for a permanent settlement instead of requiring them merely to talk indirectly through the good offices of the mediator. Second, he proposed that provisions for demilitarized zones be dropped from Bunche's plan.

Any Soviet effort to enforce an order for the grounding of all airlift planes blundering outside the 20-mile wide corridors would present difficulties.

To enforce the order Soviet planes might have to open fire on British and American aircraft.

Rice riots flared also in Shanghai's suburbs. Workers staged numerous strikes in vital industry demanding rice, not money, as wages.

High costs force us to ask for another increase in telephone rates

Higher wages an important factor

When rising costs forced us to ask for increased telephone rates in December, 1946, it was our first request for an increase since 1925. In the public's interest we asked for only the bare minimum required at that time.

Since then, telephone costs – like those of every other business – have gone up. Recent wage increases, together with the high costs of construction, materials and supplies, have brought our expenses to the highest level in history.

The rate increases previously granted are less than we asked for and much less than needed to meet today's increased costs of operation.

That is why we have asked the Public Service Commission for another increase in telephone rates.

Our earnings are not enough to attract investors' money

We must have sufficient income to meet our day-by-day operating costs. And there must be enough left to pay a fair and reasonable return to investors – the people whose money is used to build telephone facilities. Otherwise, these people will not continue to put their savings into the telephone business.

Since 1939, our plant investment has increased by over $70,000,000 – or more than doubled. But our 1948 earnings for each dollar of plant investment are 25% lower than they were in 1939.

Our earnings under the rate increases granted are insufficient to attract the additional capital needed. And, without the investors' money, we cannot put up the buildings and add the equipment we need to meet public demand for service.

What we have done and what we plan to do to provide more and better telephone service in Maryland

To maintain good telephone service, we have spent more than $60,000,000 since V-J Day for buildings, central office equipment, cable, wire and other telephone plant. And we must spend $60,000,000 more in the next few years to meet the public's telephone needs.

This tremendous program will mean more dial service, more individual lines for party-line subscribers, additional facilities for faster local and long distance service, and improvement of telephone service in rural areas.

Good service at fair rates is in the public interest

We don't like to have to ask for higher telephone rates. But there is no other course open to us. Our financial situation is such that there is no margin in our earnings to absorb today's high operating costs.

Telephone service must not become a bottleneck to the growth and industrial development of the state. It must keep pace with the growing needs of Maryland and of your community!

It is our job to furnish the kind of telephone service you want and need. We are asking for only enough to do that job – and no more.

Telephone rates are up much less than most other prices

Compare today's prices with prewar prices. What do you pay today –

Telephone rates in Maryland have gone up, on the average, less than 20%.

Alcoholism Clinic Proposal Revived

BALTIMORE, Nov. 10 (AP) — The Legislative Council agreed today to try again at setting up a Maryland commission on alcoholism.

It gave approval to legislation to spend $100,000 a year on clinics to study alcoholism as a disease and see what can be done about it.

The clinics would be set up at Johns Hopkins and University Hospitals in Baltimore, with additional clinics on the Eastern Shore and in Western Maryland.

A bill in the 1947 Legislature, giving permission to set up the commission, passed the Senate but failed in the House.

During a day devoted largely to routine committee meetings, the council approved a plan to set up motor vehicle inspection stations in every county and make twice-a-year inspection of cars mandatory on owners.

A bill to raise the base salary of Maryland circuit judges from $9,500 to $12,500 a year also won council approval.

Under the measure for mandatory automobile inspection, the state would float a bond issue of from $600,000 to $700,000 to set up the stations in every county. Motorists would be charged $1 a year, payable when they take out their car licenses, to finance the bond issue.

1,500 Return To Homes After Fire Threat Eased

SANTA ANA, Calif., Nov. 10—(AP)—Fire fighters kept the upper hand today on Santa Ana Mountain brush fire, permitting 1,500 persons evacuated Monday to return to their homes in Silverado and Modjeska Canyons.

State Forester James K. Mace said, however, that the property owners returned on their own responsibility. Only three small homes were reported burned. The fire, 50 miles southeast of Los Angeles, was one of the largest in years. For 24 hours it threatened about 350 homes in Silverado village but was beaten off yesterday.

when he was asked whether Mr. Truman might go to Moscow.

Lovett told the newsmen that Russia had not replied to a United States proposal to revive negotiations for settlement of the Soviet $11,000,000,000 lend-lease debt.

Hope was expressed by the Vatican City newspaper L'Observatore Romano that the American elections have opened the way for a Truman-Stalin meeting.

Eddie Gilmore, AP Moscow correspondent, quoted an authoritative foreign source as saying it was likely there would be some kind of agreement among the French, British and Americans beforehand if such a Truman-Stalin conference took place.

The source quoted by Gilmore added: "Such a meeting might take place, everything else seemingly having failed to produce an accord."

Premier Stalin was reported on vacation in the south of Russia, while Mr. Truman is vacationing in this southernmost city of the United States.

He was placed in a cell at the Waterloo state police barracks, midway between Washington and Baltimore. A former prison inmate working for the police was in the next cell and prodded Edwards into conversation. It was recorded.

Souers said after the officers eavesdropped on Edwards they went last night to his home at Freetown, about three miles southeast of Glen Burnie. They found the pistol in a cupboard behind some fruit.

No objection was raised by any State Department official, he said.

Palestine Plan Considered

The committee later rejected a Soviet proposal which would have recommended withdrawal of all foreign military personnel from Greece. This would have included the American military mission.

In the Security Council, meanwhile, delegates considered the new Palestine peace plan laid before it yesterday by Acting United Nations Mediator Ralph Bunche.

Russia demanded that the plan be amended in two important respects. First, Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik proposed that the council order direct negotiations between Jews and Arabs for a permanent settlement instead of requiring them merely to talk indirectly through the good offices of the mediator. Second, he proposed that provisions for demilitarized zones be dropped from Bunche's plan.

To enforce the order Soviet planes might have to open fire on British and American aircraft.

Local Man Found Not Guilty In Accident Case

Mineral Co. Jury Exonerates Burley

KEYSER, W. Va.—A verdict of "not guilty" was returned in Mineral County Circuit Court in the case of Henry W. Burley, Winchester Road, Cumberland, against H. M. Wright, postmaster, Wiley Ford, in which Burley was seeking $2,000 damages as a result of an automobile accident on Route 28, near Ridgeley, on the night of April 21, 1947.

The jury deliberated less than 30 minutes yesterday before reaching a verdict in favor of Wright, saying he was not guilty of negligent and reckless driving.

Three witnesses testified in behalf of the plaintiff in an effort to present evidence that Burley's car, driven by Wayne Abbott, also of Winchester Road, collided with Wright's car, due to Wright's negligence in failing to keep to the right of his side of the road.

The plaintiff failed to present sufficient evidence that Wright's vision of the road was obscured by a cloudy windshield. He also failed to present sufficient evidence that the accident was caused by a pile of rock in the road which caused Wright's car to swerve, hitting Burley's car.

Burley was represented by Attorney James H. Swadley, Jr., and Wright by Attorneys H. G. Shore and Howard P. Shores.

The cases of Larry R. Mayhew versus Joseph Samuels and Alvie O. Whetzel versus Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company were continued until the next term of court.

No Damages Awarded

The second case tried yesterday was a reciprocal damage suit resulting from an automobile-motorcycle collision August 5, 1947.

George W. Shaw, driver of the motorcycle, asked $300 from Jay E. Johnson, driver of the automobile, while Johnson, in turn, was asking $5,000 from Shaw.

Johnson, a local insurance agent, was represented by Attorneys James H. Swadley, Jr., and H. G. Shores, who in their opening statement to the jury said they would attempt to prove that Shaw, driver of the motorcycle, crashed into Johnson through his own negligence.

Shaw, a local Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employe, was represented by Attorney H. R. Athey, who said he would show that Johnson did not stop at the intersection of Lincoln Street and Main Street, scene of the accident, and that Shaw suffered multiple lacerations, which required 82 sutures, a compound fracture of one leg and was out of work for five months as a result of the accident.

Four witnesses testified in behalf of Johnson and two in behalf of Shaw. The jury returned a verdict of no damages for either party.

Scheduled for trial today is another automobile accident case in which V. C. Decker is seeking damages of $2,000 from I. H. Chaney as the result of an accident in April, 1948.

Local Man Found Not Guilty In Accident Case

Mineral Co. Jury Exonerates Burley

KEYSER, W. Va.—A verdict of "not guilty" was returned in Mineral County Circuit Court in the case of Henry W. Burley, Winchester Road, Cumberland, against H. M. Wright, postmaster, Wiley Ford, in which Burley was seeking $2,000 damages as a result of an automobile accident on Route 28, near Ridgeley, on the night of April 21, 1947.

The jury deliberated less than 30 minutes yesterday before reaching a verdict in favor of Wright, saying he was not guilty of negligent and reckless driving.

Three witnesses testified in behalf of the plaintiff in an effort to present evidence that Burley's car, driven by Wayne Abbott, also of Winchester Road, collided with Wright's car, due to Wright's negligence in failing to keep to the right of his side of the road.

The plaintiff failed to present sufficient evidence that Wright's vision of the road was obscured by a cloudy windshield. He also failed to present sufficient evidence that the accident was caused by a pile of rock in the road which caused Wright's car to swerve, hitting Burley's car.

Burley was represented by Attorney James H. Swadley, Jr., and Wright by Attorneys H. G. Shore and Howard P. Shores.

The cases of Larry R. Mayhew versus Joseph Samuels and Alvie O. Whetzel versus Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company were continued until the next term of court.

No Damages Awarded

The second case tried yesterday was a reciprocal damage suit resulting from an automobile-motorcycle collision August 5, 1947.

George W. Shaw, driver of the motorcycle, asked $300 from Jay E. Johnson, driver of the automobile, while Johnson, in turn, was asking $5,000 from Shaw.

Johnson, a local insurance agent, was represented by Attorneys James H. Swadley, Jr., and H. G. Shores, who in their opening statement to the jury said they would attempt to prove that Shaw, driver of the motorcycle, crashed into Johnson through his own negligence.

Shaw, a local Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employe, was represented by Attorney H. R. Athey, who said he would show that Johnson did not stop at the intersection of Lincoln Street and Main Street, scene of the accident, and that Shaw suffered multiple lacerations, which required 82 sutures, a compound fracture of one leg and was out of work for five months as a result of the accident.

Four witnesses testified in behalf of Johnson and two in behalf of Shaw. The jury returned a verdict of no damages for either party.

Scheduled for trial today is another automobile accident case in which V. C. Decker is seeking damages of $2,000 from I. H. Chaney as the result of an accident in April, 1948.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 10.—(INS)—The wedding day of Claire Trevor and Milton Bren is drawing nearer, and it won't be long now.

Milton, veteran director William Seiter, and playwright Norman Krasna have formed an independent production company. Their first picture will be "Love Under Cover," authored by Norman, with script by Beverly Freeman, and Seiter, of course, directing. It is set in Mexico and will go before the cameras in January.

Marlene Dietrich

A lot of memories came back when Harry Joe Brown told me he had bought the rights to two of Sabatini's books, "Captain Blood Returns" and "The Fortunes of Captain Blood."

The original "Captain Blood" was the first American movie Errol Flynn made at the magnificent salary of $100 per week, with Olivia De Havilland in her first starring role.

It brought Mike Curtiz into the limelight as a director and hoisted Casey Robinson into the high-priced writer bracket.

Incidentally, it was Harry Joe who produced it for Warners, hence his interest. "Captain Blood Returns" goes before the cameras in the spring and will be filmed in foreign locales—the West Indies—Cartagena, Tortuga and Port-Au-Prince.

• — • — •

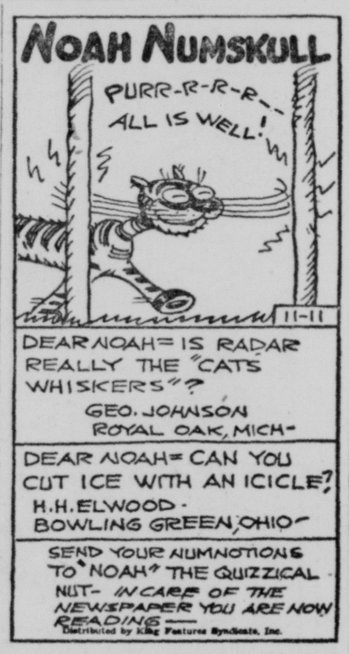

Now comes Screen Guild productions with a new angle on Jesse James, the most moviefied and notorious bandit in history.

This one is called "I Shot Jesse James." John Ireland will play the role of Robert Ford, the man who reputedly shot the personality kid of the James Gang.

Barbara Britton and Preston Foster will co-star, and the picture will get rolling very soon.

• — • — •

The very pretty girl named Mary Lawrence, who is now on the MGM lot is really Mrs. Elmer Daves.

The very pretty girl named Mary Lawrence, who is now on the MGM lot is really Mrs. Elmer Daves.

There is quite a sentimental story attached to Mary's accepting Sam Wood's offer to play a role in "The Stratton Story."

In 1928 Sam recommended a red-haired, freckled face youngster as a writer. He wrote "So This Is College" for MGM and was there for a long time. Now he's one of the top directors at Warner Brothers. So, when Sam asked if Mary, who has been busy raising the Daves children, could play the part in "Stratton Story" well, Delmer couldn't very well refuse.

Chatter in Hollywood: All New York is interested in the devotion of I. S. V. Patcevitch, president of Conde Nast publications, to Marlene Dietrich. He is a very intelligent man, and Marlene shows more interest in him than she has in any man since Jean Gabin.

Of course, Marlene isn't free, but she hasn't lived with Rudolph Seiber in years, and this could be the one time she might seek her freedom. Patcevitch's wife obtained a divorce in Reno not long ago.

Danny Kaye and Sylvia Fine have gone on to Rome and Geneva from London and are having a wonderful time.

• — • — •

Tamara Toumanova, Casey Robinson's wife, will go to Paris again as first ballerina with the Paris Opera Company. Casey, of course, will be there opening night to applaud her.

Len Hammond, head of 20th Century-Fox Movietone News in London, arrived in town and reconciled with his wife, Bea, and they will return to London together. Their friends are all very happy.

Fred Drake, executive with the Hearst Magazines, and his wife welcomed a seven-pound boy last week. He is one of three or four children—a wonderful family.

That' all today.

Cryptogram

During the last decade there has been a trend in mystery fiction toward the cryptic which, I'm happy to report, reached ultimate expression last Sunday night in a drama called "The Storm," the first television presentation of Studio One. "The Storm," described by C. B. S. as "a tense mystery," which it certainly was, differs from all other mysteries in my memory in that the audience was still enveloped in mystery when the final curtain fell.

Margaret Sullavan

My own state of confusion concerning what went on is intense but I'll do my best to explain it. Margaret Sullavan, making her television debut, gets mixed up with a pair of decidedly strange brothers, humancryptograms both of them, and, on a girlish impulse, marries one which should be a lesson in restraint to all impulsive girls. Immediately after the ceremony, her husband (Dean Jagger), who up that point sounded rational enough, goes Delphic, uttering enigmatic warnings about his war-crazed brother and remaining mute on all other subjects.

Presently, the war-crazed brother shows up and, though I didn't think it was possible, he's even more laconic than the husband. From what little he says, Miss Sullavan and I gathered that Mr. Jagger was not to be trusted either. About this time I began to get a little worried about Miss Sullavan, who had been parked in a lonely country house, and Miss Sullvan got a little nervous, too.

Mysterious letters arrive which upset Mr. Jagger but it is never explained who wrote them or what is in them. The storm of the title breaks—and it is a honey. Miss Sullavan discovers a body in the cellar but she doesn't say whose body and we're never even told who made a corpse of it. By that time we seasoned mystery fans were well aware that one of the brothers was trying to do in Miss Sullavan and, while we have long since ceased to expect a motive for these psychiatric killings, it has been customary to tell us who to be afraid of. In this case we weren't. Miss Sullavan simply drove off in the rainy night wondering aloud who had laid to rest that body in the cellar and whether his homicidal plans included her.

This is taking the cryptic a little too far. Considerably exasperated, I called C.B.S. the next day to find out who did what to whom and what happened to them. Worthington Miner, who adapted the story and directed the television play, explained apologetically that Miss Sullavan had inadvertently covered an all-important clew, the handkerchief, but even this left an awful lot up in the air.

Despite its lamentable lack of explanation, "The Storm" was a handsome essay in terrorism and a notable production if only for its excellent camera work, its lighting and the use of films to give spaciousness and dimension to the small television stages. There were about three and a half minutes of film shrewdly interwoven—street scenes, a scene through a car window and another through a train window, a bus terminal—and so smooth was the transportation from film to live acting that C. B. S. received a lot of phone calls asking if the whole production wasn't on film.

In her television debut, Miss Sullavan was as usual warm and vital, though perhaps a shade too breathless. Her husky whisper has become through the years a trifle too mannered and Miss Sullivan, I think, ought to ease up in that direction. Mr. Jagger, as one of the enigmatic brothers, was required chiefly to be impassive and that he was to a degree rarely seen in these parts since the disappearance of the cigar store Indian, if that's any commendation.

The radio version of Studio One, once one of the most distinguished dramas on the air, is now to be found thinly disguised under the name of Ford Theater. It's nice to see the old title again in the new medium of television and I hope the old standards will be maintained. C. B. S. plans within a few months to have an hour-long dramatic production of Studio One on television every other Sunday night (7:30 p. m. E. S. T.) and to have the television Ford Theater taking up alternate Sundays at the same time. Most of them, I trust, will be a little more explicit than "The Storm."

Deer Park Couple Have Fiftieth Anniversary

DEER PARK—A dinner party at their home November 6 marked the 50th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holtschneider. A tiered cake centered the table.

The couple was married November 8 at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland, by Rev. Fr. Wondenberg. Mrs. Elizabeth Filsinger, Deer Park, a sister of Mrs. Holstachneider, who attended the party, was present at the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Holtschneider are the parents of 10 children, nine of whom are still living. Eight of the children and their families, 27 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren were present.

Attending were Mrs. Haven DeWitt and family, Vindex; Mrs. John D. Browning, Oakland; Mrs. Albert Schwartzman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Dr. G. O. Yount Attacks Reds

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Dr. G. O. Yount, pastor of Petersburg Presbyterian Church, addressed the Moorefield Lions Club Monday night at the Airport Inn, and made a vigorous attack on Communism.

Dr. Yount warned that Communism in the United States is a grim reality working insidiously to destroy our government and declared that every American should know the facts.

Dr. Yount read passages from books written by Earl Browder, former head of the Communist Party in the United States, by Stalin and by avowed Communist leaders, wherein flat statements were made that Communism could not tolerate any other form of government.

"The whole philosophy of Communism calls for a clash with the United States," said Dr. Yount.

He also stated that our form of government is an experiment, and a successful experiment, whereas Communism or a totalitarian form of government is as old as history.

In the business session of the Lions meeting H. Gus Muntzing and Ralph J. Bean reported on the Public Service Commission hearing at Romney, where representatives of the Lions Club protested a proposed rate hike by the Central Telephone Company on the basis that present service did not warrant a rate increase.

The club authorized the committee to continue in its efforts to secure county-wide telephone service. A petition will be drawn up to be presented to the Public Service Commission asking for a county-wide service.

Irvin Bowman, chairman of the finance committee, reported net profits of $113.09 from the recent show sponsored by the Lions Club.

S. L. Dodd and H. G. Muntzing reported on the status of the Moorefield Pathological and Diagnostic Laboratory.

Mrs. Teets Heads Woman's Club

Other officers elected are Mrs. Martin Huffman, vice president; Mrs. L. R. Grover, secretary, and Mrs. P. E. Thrush, treasurer.

Piedmont Church Rally On Sunday

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—A special all-day rally with three special services will be held at the Pentecostal Holiness Church, Sunday, Rev. Edwyn Rupert, pastor, has announced.

Ministers and friends from New York State, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia and churches of surrounding districts, including Maryland and West Virginia, have been invited.

The first sevice will be held at 11 a. m. with a praise and fellowship service directed by Rev. Rupert.

At 2:30 p. m. Rev. Paul Hopkins, a well-known evangelist formerly of Richmond, Va., will speak. Evangelistic services at 7:30 p. m. will be conducted by the pastor.

Special music will be presented at all three services including solos, duets, quartets, orchestra and choir and two electric vibra-harps. Also selections from the King's Gospel Quintette of the Tri-States and the Royal Gospel Trio of Cumberland.

Dinner and supper will be served in the dining hall of the basement of the church, which has just been remodeled.

The Sunday school will meet at 9:45 a. m. in the church auditorium with the superintendent, Mrs. C. K. Rosier, directing.

The church now made arrangements to pick up children or adults who wish to come to Sunday school and have no transportation.

The orchestra and choir will practice Tuesday night at 7 o'clock.

A revival service is being held every Wednesday night at 7:30 in the form of a praise and prayer service at which the pastor will bring the message.

On Thursday night the Woman's Auxiliary will meet at the home of Mrs. George Whiteman, Luke Hill. Her daughter, Mrs. Donald McIntyre, will be assisting hostess. The meeting will be in charge of the president, Mrs. Harry Seaber.

Hardy Co-Op May Change Hands

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—The shareholders of the Hardy County Light and Power Association, the Rural Electrification Administration financed power co-op, voted at the annual stockholders' meeting at Burch School to authorize the board of directors to negotiate with the Shenandoah Valley Electric Co-operative on the possibilities of leasing the project.

No definite action was taken, other than granting the authority to enter into negotiations with the Virginia co-op.

It was pointed out that the Virginia co-operative might be able to operate the Hardy county REA project more efficiently than is possible under the present system as an independent co-operative.

Plans discussed were for the Virginia co-opreative to lease the lines and equipment of the local co operative for a period of five years or more.

The local co-op now purchases its electric power from the Virginia co-operative's generating plant at Dayton, Va.

Edsel Tharp Kills Bear

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Edsel Tharp, Wardensville, killed one of the two bears killed on Shenandoah Mountain by a party of approximately 30 bear hunters Monday. Several of the party were in on the kill of the second bear.

Among the hunters were Clint Link, Branson Hines, Rufus Parks, Jess Whetzel, Joe Fitzwater, Bill Halterman, June Vetter, Rob Williams, E. L. Puffenberger, Leslie Puffenberger, Sam Dove, Paul Conrad, Charles Nazelrod, Holbert Nzaelrod, Herman Zirk, N. Goerge Dasher, Rev. Deer Park Couple Have Fiftieth Anniversary

DEER PARK—A dinner party at their home November 6 marked the 50th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holtschneider. A tiered cake centered the table.

The couple was married November 8 at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland, by Rev. Fr. Wondenberg. Mrs. Elizabeth Pilsinger, Deer Park, a sister of Mrs. Holstachneider, who attended the party, was present at the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Holtschneider are the parents of 10 children, nine of whom are still living. Eight of the children and their families, 27 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren were present.

Attending were Mrs. Haven DeWitt and family, Vindex; Mrs. John D. Browning, Oakland; Mrs. Albert Schwartzman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Lee, Jacob Holtschneider and Mrs. Charles Johnson and families, all of Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. John Holtschneider and family, at home, and many other friends and relatives.

Edsel Tharp Kills Bear

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Edsel Tharp, Wardensville, killed one of the two bears killed on Shenandoah Mountain by a party of approximately 30 bear hunters Monday. Several of the party were in on the kill of the second bear.

Among the hunters were Clint Link, Branson Hines, Rufus Parks, Jess Whetzel, Joe Fitzwater, Bill Halterman, June Vetter, Rob Williams, E. L. Puffenberger, Leslie Puffenberger, Sam Dove, Paul Conrad, Charles Nazelrod, Holbert Nzaelrod, Herman Zirk, N. Goerge Dasher, Rev. Hartsler, Irvin Crider, Pedro Bowman, Vick Mongol, and Arlie Mongold.

Dr. G. O. Yount Attacks Reds

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Dr. G. O. Yount, pastor of Petersburg Presbyterian Church, addressed the Moorefield Lions Club Monday night at the Airport Inn, and made a vigorous attack on Communism.

Dr. Yount warned that Communism in the United States is a grim reality working insidiously to destroy our government and declared that every American should know the facts.

Dr. Yount read passages from books written by Earl Browder, former head of the Communist Party in the United States, by Stalin and by avowed Communist leaders, wherein flat statements were made that Communism could not tolerate any other form of government.

"The whole philosophy of Communism calls for a clash with the United States," said Dr. Yount.

He also stated that our form of government is an experiment, and a successful experiment, whereas Communism or a totalitarian form of government is as old as history.

In the business session of the Lions meeting H. Gus Muntzing and Ralph J. Bean reported on the Public Service Commission hearing at Romney, where representatives of the Lions Club protested a proposed rate hike by the Central Telephone Company on the basis that present service did not warrant a rate increase.

The club authorized the committee to continue in its efforts to secure county-wide telephone service. A petition will be drawn up to be presented to the Public Service Commission asking for a county-wide service.

Irvin Bowman, chairman of the finance committee, reported net profits of $113.09 from the recent show sponsored by the Lions Club.

S. L. Dodd and H. G. Muntzing reported on the status of the Moorefield Pathological and Diagnostic Laboratory.

Mrs. Teets Heads Woman's Club

Other officers elected are Mrs. Martin Huffman, vice president; Mrs. L. R. Grover, secretary, and Mrs. P. E. Thrush, treasurer.

Piedmont Church Rally On Sunday

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—A special all-day rally with three special services will be held at the Pentecostal Holiness Church, Sunday, Rev. Edwyn Rupert, pastor, has announced.

Ministers and friends from New York State, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia and churches of surrounding districts, including Maryland and West Virginia, have been invited.

The first sevice will be held at 11 a. m. with a praise and fellowship service directed by Rev. Rupert.

At 2:30 p. m. Rev. Paul Hopkins, a well-known evangelist formerly of Richmond, Va., will speak. Evangelistic services at 7:30 p. m. will be conducted by the pastor.

Special music will be presented at all three services including solos, duets, quartets, orchestra and choir and two electric vibra-harps Also selections from the King's Gospel Quintette of the Tri-States and the Royal Gospel Trio of Cumberland.

Dinner and supper will be served in the dining hall of the basement of the church, which has just been remodeled.

The Sunday school will meet at 9:45 a. m. in the church auditorium with the superintendent, Mrs. C. K. Rosier, directing.

The church now made arrangements to pick up children or adults who wish to come to Sunday school and have no transportation.

The orchestra and choir will practice Tuesday night at 7 o'clock.

A revival service is being held every Wednesday night at 7:30 in the form of a praise and prayer service at which the pastor will bring the message.

On Thursday night the Woman's Auxiliary will meet at the home of Mrs. George Whiteman, Luke Hill. Her daughter, Mrs. Donald McIntyre, will be assisting hostess. The meeting will be in charge of the president, Mrs. Harry Seaber.

Hardy Co-Op May Change Hands

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—The shareholders of the Hardy County Light and Power Association, the Rural Electrification Administration financed power co-op, voted at the annual stockholders' meeting at Burch School to authorize the board of directors to negotiate with the Shenandoah Valley Electric Co-operative on the possibilities of leasing the project.

No definite action was taken, other than granting the authority to enter into negotiations with the Virginia co-op.

It was pointed out that the Virginia co-operative might be able to operate the Hardy county REA project more efficiently than is possible under the present system as an independent co-operative.

Plans discussed were for the Virginia co-opreative to lease the lines and equipment of the local co operative for a period of five years or more.

The local co-op now purchases its electric power from the Virginia co-operative's generating plant at Dayton, Va.

In Memoriam

In memory of our beloved husband and father, Harry Russell Keller, who died November 11th, 1945.

There's an open gate
At the end of the road
Through which each must go along,
And there in a light we cannot see
Our Father claims his own.

Beyond the gate our loved one
Finds happiness and rest
And there is comfort
In the thought
That a loving God knows best.

Peg and Joyce.

In sad but loving memory of our dear husband and Father, Willis H. Messick, who passed away one year ago today, November 11, 1947.

We often stand beside your grave,
And wish your face to see;
You were so sweet, so pure and kind,
You meant the world to me.

There is not a day that passes, Dad,
We do not think of you;
Your face is in our memories still,

There's many a lonely tear,
God only knows how much we miss you, Dad,
At the end of the first long year.

Mrs. Evelyn Driver,
Mrs. Pauline Valentine.

In loving memory of our dear wife and Mother, Mrs. Mary C. Twigg, who passed away three years ago today, Nov. 11, 1945.
There's not a day, dear Mother,
We do not thing of you,
Your face is in our memory still,
Your voice, your footsteps too.
God only knows how much we
Miss you, Mother,
Sadly missed by her Husband and Children.

KELLER—In loving remembrance of our dear son and brother, Cpl. Harry R. Keller, who died three years ago today, November 11.
The years may wipe out many things,
The memory of those happy days
Sadly missed by his Mother, Brothers and Sisters.

Card of Thanks

We take this means to thank our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of Oscar Wilson Wertz. We also wish to thank the pallbearers, and friends who loaned cars for the funeral.

In Memoriam

In memory of our beloved husband and father, Harry Russell Keller, who died November 11th, 1945.

There's an open gate
At the end of the road
Through which each must go along,
And there in a light we cannot see
Our Father claims his own.

Beyond the gate our loved one
Finds happiness and rest
And there is comfort
In the thought
That a loving God knows best.

Peg and Joyce.

In sad but loving memory of our dear husband and Father, Willis H. Messick, who passed away one year ago today, November 11, 1947.

We often stand beside your grave,
And wish your face to see;
You were so sweet, so pure and kind,
You meant the world to me.

There is not a day that passes, Dad,
We do not think of you;
Your face is in our memories still,
Your voice, your footsteps too.

There's many a lonely heartache,
There's many a lonely tear,
God only knows how much we miss you, Dad,
At the end of the first long year.

Mrs. Evelyn Driver,
Mrs. Pauline Valentine.

In loving memory of our dear wife and Mother, Mrs. Mary C. Twigg, who passed away three years ago today, Nov. 11, 1945.
There's not a day, dear Mother,
We do not thing of you,
Your face is in our memory still,
Your voice, your footsteps too.
There's many a lonely tear,
God only knows how much we
Miss you, Mother,
At the end of three years.
Sadly missed by her
Husband and Children.

KELLER—In loving remembrance of our dear son and brother, Cpl. Harry R. Keller, who died three years ago today, November 11.
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never.
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
Sadly missed by his Mother, Brothers and Sisters.

Minus Signs Have Moderate Edge Over Plus In Recovering Market

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP) — The stock market got a toe-hold on stable ground today after a series of selling blasts had dropped prices to a low since late March.

Gains and losses were well scrambled at the end with most changes around a point or less. Minus signs had a moderate edge over plus.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .1 of one point to 63.8, a level not touched since March 29. Of the 1,127 issues which appeared on the tape, 356 advanced while 532 declined.

Trading proceeded rapidly most of the day. Turnover amounted to 2,100,000 shares, almost even with yesterday's 2,260,000.

Issues closing higher included Bethlehem Steel 34, General Motors 60½, Chrysler 53¾, U. S. Rubber 41, Douglas Aircraft 49½, Phelps Dodge 51⅜, Westinghouse Electric 24¾, Radio Corp. 11, Central Air Lines 15½, and Bath Iron Works 11⅛.

Two issues swung far out of the prevailing price pattern. Superior Oil of California lost 10 points at 155 and Skelly Oil, off eight at one time, closed four lower at 111.

After a promising start, the bond market bogged down again today. Losses among the rails ranged from one to three points, while gains were held mostly to fractions.

Sales totaled $4,720,000, well below yesterday's $5,116,000.

On the U. S. treasury list, a few issues exempt from state and federal normal taxes gained as much as 8-32nds of a point. The bank-eligible 2½s of September 1976-72 were up 7-32nds at 101 14-32nds bid.

Ballot Recount In Hampshire Co. Election Asked

A recount of ballots cast in the November 2 election for members of the Hampshire County, W. Va., Board of Education has been demanded by defeated candidates for two of the posts.

The demand climaxed what was termed by political observers in the area "the hottest race for board positions in county history."

Motion for a recount was made by Paul C. Williams and Roy G. Shingleton who were defeated by Henry W. Campbell, incumbent board member, and Isabelle Miller.

Unofficial returns show Campbell received 2,167 votes; Isabelle Miller, 2,253; Shingleton, 1,983; and Williams, 1,988.

The Board of County Commissioners decided to hold the recount November 17 at 9 a. m. at the county court house.

The non-partisan school board race has been highlighted since the primary by the fact that it was the only contest on the slate. In their predominately Democratic county, other candidates for county offices were un-opposed.

The campaign had all the earmarks considered pertinent to any election. There were claims and cross-claims and what one observer said was an alleged attempt "to get" A. Clinton Loy, county superintendent of schools.

In the primary last spring, the defeated candidates, Williams and Shingleton, had topped the balloting for the Board of Education candidates.

Campbell sought re-election to the board which he serves as president. Loy is secretary. A vacancy on the board was created recently when Rev. Ward W. Hibbs was transferred to Parkersburg.

85 Per Cent Of Draftees Rejected

Only 10 men of 66 registered under the new draft and examined at the local Army and Air Force induction center have passed both mental and physical examinations, it was announced by First Lt. George J. Gocke, commanding officer of the center.

This means that 85 per cent have been rejected for physical or mental reasons or both.

During October, 45 young men were sent to the center for examinations from Selective Service Boards 27, 28, 29 and 30 in Allegany and Garrett counties. Of this number, mostly registrants from 23 to 25 years of age who had either been deferred for physical reasons during World War II or deferred through occupation, only nine passed both tests.

Of the number failing, Lt. Gocke added, 14 did not pass the mental examination and 22 did not meet physical requirements. In some cases, both tests were failed.

Nineteen have been sent to the local center this month with one man passing. Sixteen of the men failed the physical while eight failed the mental.

Lt. Gocke remarked that an erroneous impression exists here to the effect that Selective Service registrants cannot volunteer for enlistments in the armed forces.

He stated that enlistments are still open for men who have not been called.

However, registrants cannot be accepted for volunteer enlistment after having been notified by local boards for pre-induction physical and mental examinations.

Minus Signs Have Moderate Edge Over Plus In Recovering Market

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP) — The stock market got a toe-hold on stable ground today after a series of selling blasts had dropped prices to a low since late March.

Gains and losses were well scrambled at the end with most changes around a point or less. Minus signs had a moderate edge over plus.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped .1 of one point to 63.8, a level not touched since March 29. Of the 1,127 issues which appeared on the tape, 356 advanced while 532 declined.

Trading proceeded rapidly most of the day. Turnover amounted to 2,100,000 shares, almost even with yesterday's 2,260,000.

Issues closing higher included Bethlehem Steel 34, General Motors 60½, Chrysler 53¾, U. S. Rubber 41, Douglas Aircraft 49½, Phelps Dodge 51⅝, Westinghouse Electric 24¾, Radio Corp. 11, Central Air Lines 15½, and Bath Iron Works 11⅛.

Two issues swung far out of the prevailing price pattern. Superior Oil of California lost 10 points at 155 and Skelly Oil, off eight at one time, closed four lower at 111.

After a promising start, the bond market bogged down again today. Losses among the rails ranged from one to three points, while gains were held mostly to fractions.

Sales totaled $4,720,000, well below yesterday's $5,116,000.

On the U. S. treasury list, a few issues exempt from state and federal normal taxes gained as much as 8-32nds of a point. The bank-eligible 2½s of September 1976-72 were up 7-32nds at 101 14-32nds bid.

Ballot Recount In Hampshire Co. Election Asked

A recount of ballots cast in the November 2 election for members of the Hampshire County, W. Va., Board of Education has been demanded by defeated candidates for two of the posts.

The demand climaxed what was termed by political observers in the area "the hottest race for board positions in county history."

Motion for a recount was made by Paul C. Williams and Roy G. Shingleton who were defeated by Henry W. Campbell, incumbent board member, and Isabelle Miller.

The Board of County Commissioners decided to hold the recount November 17 at 9 a. m. at the county court house.

The non-partisan school board race has been highlighted since the primary by the fact that it was the only contest on the slate In their predominately Democratic county, other candidates for county offices were un-opposed.

The campaign had all the earmarks considered pertinent to any election. There were claims and cross-claims and what one observer said was an alleged attempt "to get" A. Clinton Loy, county superintendent of schools.

The race, like the national election, was not without its upset and surprise element.

In the primary last spring, the defeated candidates, Williams and Shingleton, had topped the balloting for the Board of Education candidates.

Campbell sought re-election to the board which he serves as president. Loy is secretary. A vacancy on the board was created recently when Rev. Ward W. Hibbs was transferred to Parkersburg.

85 Per Cent Of Draftees Rejected

Only 10 men of 66 registered under the new draft and examined at the local Army and Air Force induction center have passed both mental and physical examinations, it was announced by First Lt. George J. Gocke, commanding officer of the center.

This means that 85 per cent have been rejected for physical or mental reasons or both.

During October, 45 young men were sent to the center for examinations from Selective Service Boards 27, 28, 29 and 30 in Allegany and Garrett counties. Of this number, mostly registrants from 23 to 25 years of age who had either been deferred for physical reasons during World War II or deferred through occupation, only nine passed both tests.

Of the number failing, Lt. Gocke added, 14 did not pass the mental examination and 22 did not meet physical requirements. In some cases, both tests were failed.

Nineteen have been sent to the local center this month with one man passing. Sixteen of the men failed the physical while eight failed the mental.

Lt. Gocke remarked that an erroneous impression exists here to the effect that Selective Service registrants cannot volunteer for enlistments in the armed forces.

He stated that enlistments are still open for men who have not been called.

However, registrants cannot be accepted for volunteer enlistment after having been notified by local boards for pre-induction physical and mental examinations.

Dial Telephones Slated For City—But Not Soon

Project Revealed By Howard Smith

Cumberland is going to have dial telephones, Howard M. Smith, local office manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, indicated yesterday, but he said the program will not be undertaken until after 1949.

Smith disclosed the C. and P. Company's plans to install the dial system here when he announced that the new half-million dollar exchange building is rapidly nearing completion. Occupancy is expected early next year.

A report that dial telephone equipment will be ready for operation when the new building, located at the corner of South Centre and Union Streets, is completed was denied by Smith. He said, however, that surveys are expected to start "sometime after next year."

The provisions needed for dial telephone cannot be accomplished in a short period, Smith emphasized. He said the program will require the conversion of some 14,000 presently used instruments to dial.

Before Cumberlanders are dialing telephoning numbers, Smith declared the company will have to complete engineering surveys and studies along with the manufacturing and shipment of large quantities of dial equipment. Rearrangement and replacement of outside plant facilities are also required.

Equipment required to install dial telephone services in Cumberland was estimated at more than a million dollars, according to company officials, who said it will eventually be installed in the nearly completed building.

Construction of the new building was begun in 1947, and is expected to be completed early next year. Meanwhile, long-distance plans for dial telephones will not hinder plans to extend present service.

Smith said that until the proposed dial system is placed in service the present manual facilities will be expanded to improve existing service. Persons who are now waiting to have telephones installed will also be accommodated long before the dial system is undertaken, Smith explained.

He said the company plans to install additional central office switchboard positions during the spring of 1949. This will provide service for many now on the waiting list.

C. & P. Telephone Company Asks Rate Increase

Cites Low Earnings, High Operating Cost

An immediate increase in service rates was requested yesterday by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City in an application filed with the Public Service Commission. Rapidly declining earnings and high operating costs were cited as reasons.

Approximately $3,600,000 additional net revenue is needed annually to place the company on a financially sound basis, according to W. G. Morrel, C. and P. vice president and general manager. His estimate was based on a study not yet completed.

Added Income Necessary

Morrel said an additional annual income equaling that sum is necessary after taxes are deducted to permit the company, now engaged in a vast building program, to furnish adequate telephone service to the public in Maryland.

The PSC approved a similar application in 1947 which permitted C. and P. rate increases ranging from 25 cents to $1. That hike went into effect on September 1, 1947.

Current operating expenses are the highest in history, Morrel explained, adding that wage costs comprise the largest item of expense. He said recent wage increases have again added to the company's "already high costs of doing business."

The application filed with PSC stated that rate relief granted last year was "substantially less than necessary to restore and maintain the company's earnings at an adequate level." It was the first increase requested in 25 years.

The petition noted that the impact of the company's unprecedented construction program has materially and adversely affected earnings, with the continued public demand for telephone service since January 1, 1947, compelling the company to make plant additions totaling $49,000,000.

Costs of current additions is estimated at $500 per telephone, the PSC was informed. The petition declared that that figure is more than double the average investment cost per telephone in 1947. It was estimated at $200 at that time.

A new half-million dollar building erected by the C. and P. at the corner of South Centre and Union Streets, this city, is one of many rapidly nearing completion.

New projects already completed are located in Kitzmiller, Baltimore, Catonsville, Towson, Delmar, Rockville, Marlboro and Brunswick. The company recently completed transfer to the dial system in the Lonaconing section.

Says Earnings Decline

The company's earnings have rapidly declined, the petition stated, until current earnings amount to less than three and one-half per cent on net original cost investment and are far less than this rate upon the present fair value of its property.

The application pointed out that the decline in earnings will be "further aggravated" by other increases in expense levels which have been substantially accelerated by increases in wages granted employes in October.

The company declared that under existing rates it is earning far less than a reasonable return upon the fair value of its property used and useful in rendering service to the public and is failing to earn its minimum requirements.

Asking that the PSC decide what constitutes a reasonable return upon the fair value of the company's property, the C. and P. requested in its application "a prompt hearing upon and an early decision by the commission in view of the company's patently inadequate earnings."

$50,000 Damage Suit Filed In Circuit Court

Three Other Civil Cases Put On Docket

A suit for $50,000 damages was filed in Circuit Court against Fred W. Jenkins, trading as Astor Cab Company, for Gary James Rice by his father and next friend, George C. Rice.

Harold E. Naughton is attorney for the plaintiffs and the suit alleges a taxicab operated by Chester Jay on Polk Street, struck and severely injured the child.

The mishap alegedly occurred last January 9, and it is claimed the cab was traveling in the wrong direction on one-way Polk Street.

James R. Keller, for his own use and the use of the Industrial Insurance Company, a corporation, filed suit against L. L. Jewell, 937 Maryland Avenue.

Cobey, Carscaden and Gilchrist, attorneys, indicate in their bill that cars operated by Keller and Jewell on King Street collided near Virginia Avenue last October 8. Keller's car was damaged to the extent of $398.55 and his claim was paid by the insurance company.

R. M. Thomas Company, Inc., Muncie, Ind., docketed suit against Martin Kornblatt and Louis Yankelevitz for $1,209.72, alleged due on merchandise account of United Distributors.

The Cambria Equipment Company, through their local attorney, George Hughes, entered suit against Matthew W. Grove trading as the Standard Equipment Company. Papers had been removed from the file and details were not immediately available.

Nine Agencies To Receive $68,244

The Executive Committee of the Cumberland Community Chest last night allocated $68,244.18 of funds raised in the 1948-49 Red Feather Campaign here for the operation of nine affiliated agencies during the coming year.

The allocations reflect a flat two per cent cut in awards made by the Budget Committee. Chest officials said the budget cuts were necessary since the drive for $84,009.24 fell about $1,400 short of its goal.

The allocations, announced by Frederic W. Eiler, president of the Chest, were:

Associated Charities, $18,865; Baby Welfare Society, $2,107; Boy Scouts, $6,174; Girl Scouts, $6,419; Jewish Welfare Society, $0.98; Keating Day Nursery, $4,361; Salvation Army, $12,250; Travelers Aid Society, $1,396.50, and Y. M. C. A., $16,670.70.

The two per cent cut in the $69,636.92 budget award amounted to $1,392.74.

Other items in the budget include $3,430 administrative expense; $5,745 campaign expense and $5,032.25 for a 6½ per cent shrinkage fund.

Total receipts and pledges, which stood at the $82,406 mark when the campaign closed last Thursday, had risen to $82,613.73 by yesterday.

Directors also approved the October Chest report which indicated sufficient funds to complete the 1947-48 operations of the Chest and affiliated agencies. The report:

Balance of September 30, $6,984.93; receipts $3,041.05, total cash, $10,025.98. Total disbursements, $7,020.33. Balance on November 1, $3,005.65, received in November to date, $2,968. Total receipts from 1947-48 pledges to November 1 totaled $70,509.67, or 90 per cent of all pledges.

Salvation Army Makes Plans For Christmas Aid

Civic Groups Will Be Asked To Help

Cumberland civic and fraternal organizations will be asked to assist in the campaign to raise funds for Salvation Army here, Major Elmer Wall, commander, announced yesterday.

Members of the Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions and Exchange Clubs and the Junior Association of Commerce last year raised over $900 when they manned the kettles on Baltimore the Saturday before Christmas, he added.

Tentative plans for the Salvation Army's Christmas activities were approved yesterday at a meeting of the Advisory Board held in the Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

Forrest Brown, local attorney, was named chairman of a committee which will work with Major Wall on the program to provide a little extra Christmas cheer for the needy of this area. He will be assisted by David Kauffman, James Alfred Avirett, Lynn Lashley and Frederic W. Eiler.

Tentative plans call for the use of the newly constructed Kettle House on Baltimore Street and some of the familiar tripod kettles in South Cumberland.

The Salvation Army plans again to provide food for a Christmas dinner for the poor and needy and to give some Christmas cheer to children who might otherwise have a dreary time that day, Major Wall said.

Older persons, he explained, might be able to face the prospects of a dreary Christmas without becoming discouraged, but children would not understand and would surely be hurt if they were forgotten by Santa Clause.

Activities during October included 15 open air meetings, 12 Home League meetings; 52 indoor meetings for seniors and 64 meetings for young people.

Transients relief included 54 meals, 49 lodgings and the supplying of garments and other aid to the 66 applicants.

Bucket Brigade Of 40 And 8 Will Raise Funds For Local Heart Clinic

Veterans Declare War On Rheumatic Fever

When the Armistice Day parade moves through the streets of Cumberland tonight, the "bucket brigade" of Voiture No. 164, Forty and Eight, will take up a collection to help raise funds for the establishment of a badly needed heart clinic for Western Maryland.

Arthur G. Ramey, vice commander of Mountain District American Legion, explained yesterday that the American Legion and the 40 and 8 have sponsored a national program for a number of years, designed to fight rheumatic fever and other heart conditions, prevalent particularly in children.

Ramey conferred yesterday with Dr. Samuel Jacobson, local heart specialist, who set up a local Allegany County Rheumatic Fever Association, and Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

Ramey outlined to them the interest of Legionnaires in the program and explained that Harry S. Allen, past state commander and national executive committeeman, is Maryland chairman of the program this year.

A large part of funds realized from the public collection tonight will be used to help establish a public heart clinic in Cumberland, where treatment, diagnosis and education in care for heart ailments, especially rheumatic fever, will be possible.

In such enterprises, many physicians give their time without charge and the best known specialists cooperate in these projects.

Dr. Jacobson and Dr. Frantz, who have been active several months past in trying to interest local people in the establishment of a heart clinic, were enthusiastic over the American Legion's offer to help. Both expressed their appreciation to Ramey, and Dr. Jacobson said last night, "This is the kind of help we need, and the Legion is the kind of organization that can get the job done."

Dr. Frantz said, "The Health Department knows of the need for such a clinic here, and I am in accord with the plans of the Legion to help sponsor it. There are many cases which need attention."

Ramey said Frank Powers, Frostburg, and Miss Anne Sloan, Lonaconing, are co-chairmen of the Mountain District Legion Committee on the project. He termed the heart clinic and the war against rheumatic fever "a very important part of the Legion's and 40 and 8 Society's child welfare program."

Mrs. Martha McNary, chairman of the Legion child welfare committees, and Paul C. Weisenmiller, chairman of the 40 and 8 child welfare committee, are also in accord with the plan to establish the heart clinic and have pledged their co-operation.

Charles O'Donnel, chef de gare of the 40 and 8 here, has urged all members of the Voiture to wear their smocks and chapeaux and help with the "bucket brigade" tonight.

Maryland has a state goal of $25,000 for the Legion's child welfare fund and fight against rheumatic fever, but Ramey emphasized last night that most of the fund collected here will be used this year to establish the clinic and get it in operation.

Armistice Parade Tonight At 7:45

The 30th annual Armistice Day parade will be held tonight at 7:45 o'clock, with six divisions forming on South Centre Street at 7 p. m., Thomas F. Conlon, Sr., parade marshall, said last night.

The parade route has been changed slightly. Marchers will move up Union Street from Centre to George Streets; thence to Baltimore to Centre Streets. It will proceed north on Centre to Market, to Mechanic and south to Baltimore Street.

Marchers will then proceed easterly on Baltimore Street, back down George and disband at the State Armory. A reviewing stand has been constructed at the City Hall for city officials, officers of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps and Disabled Veterans.

Ridgeley Scout Troop 71 Will Be Reorganized

Will Meet Tonight In Calvary Church

Boy Scout Troop No. 71, Ridgeley, W. Va., will be reorganized at a meeting to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Calvary Methodist Church there.

Fifteen Ridgeley youths have already signed up for membership in the troop and officials report they hope to have the unit up to a full strength of 32 in a short time.

James M. Perry, neighborhood commissioner, said John F. Wagner, Route 1, Ridgeley, will be scoutmaster of the troop. He is a veteran of World War II and a former Scout.

James Flanagan, a former member of Troop 71, and Charles Phillips, a former member of Troop 5 here, will be assistant scoutmasters and Frank McDonald will be junior assistant scoutmaster.

Members of the troup committee will be C. A. Jewell, chairman, and Arnold Spencer, Frank B. Carpenter, James M. Perry and Rev. J. E. McDonald, pastor of Calvary Methodist Church.

Troop 71, organized January 23, 1943, at Calvary Church with Perry as scoutmaster, became inactive in 1945. Troop membership during that time averaged 15.

Scout officials said the corps of leaders for the troop is outstanding and should result in an active program for the Ridgeley troop.

Husband Held In Threat On Wife

Matin Garletts, Potomac Park, yesterday was ordered held on $200 bond for the January term of Circuit Court, after his wife, Mrs. Alice M. Garletts, this city, accused him of threatening her with violence.

Garletts denied the charge in a hearing before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew and also withdrew a warrant charging his wife with committing an assault on him. Testimony disclosed that a divorce suit is pending.

Witnesses included a 20-year-old son of the couple testified that Garletts sent a verbal massage to his wife informing her that "something was going to happen to her if she didn't live up to an agreement."

The defendent told Magistrate Perdew that the message had been misinterpreted and explained that he meant she would have personal regrets if she did not keep her word. He told the court the agreement concerned a property settlement.

Three Injured In Truck-Car Crash

Three persons, one an infant, were seriously injured in a truck-automobile crash which later involved a third car yesterday at 6 p. m. on Route 40 about 12 miles east of Cumberland.

Identified as the injured were Blaine J. Jordon, 43, Flintstone; Charles Moyer, 62, Flintstone, and James W. Merchant, Jr., age 1. All were admitted to Allegany Hospital, but Moyer was later discharged.

Jordon, according to Trooper George Coddington, was inspecting the headlights which had gone bad on the truck while he was standing in front of the truck, a car operated by Rev. James W. Merchant, Anne Arundel County, struck the truck from the rear, officers reported.

Police said the impact caused the truck to run over Jordon. The car then struck Moyer, also standing near the truck. The driverless truck continued to roll down the highway and sideswiped a third car just before plunging over a six-foot embankment.

Police identified the driver of the third car as Charles Turner, 40, Washington, D. C. He escaped injury. Police are continuing the investigation.

Jury Awards $250 In Farm Dispute

A verdict of $250 for the plaintiff was returned by a jury in Circuit Court yesterday in a case which resulted from an alleged misrepresentation in the sale of a farm and equipment in the Piney Grove section near Flintstone.

The suit was brought by William E. Kines, Maude M. Kines, his wife, Earl M. Emrick and Pearl I. Emrick, his wife, against Russell C. Riggs and Ida M. Riggs, his wife.

The plaintiff ask remuneration for quantities of grain, particularly wheat, and roofing, the latter included in a "catch all" clause in the deed.

Riggs said the deed did not include the wheat which had been contracted for sale or the roofing which he had offered Kines and been refused. The roofing was later sold to a neighbor.

The Kies and Emricks were represented by Attorneys Noel Speir Cook and W. M. Somerville, and the Riggs by Attorney Edward J. Ryan.

Witnesses heard were Edward Norris, D. D. Norris, Frank Norris, Edwin Males, Pearl I. Emrick, D. T. Puffenberger, William D. Kines, Russell C. Riggs, William E. Kines, Maude M. Kines and Russell Morgart.

Silcox Co-Chairman Of Disaster Group

H. Lee Silcox has been named co-chairman of the Disaster Committee of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, according to City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, chairman.

Finan was appointed to head the group shortly after Associate Judge George Henderson was forced to resign because of injuries received in an automobile accident last May.

Silcox has headed the Red Cross Safety Services Committee since 1943. He also was active in the disaster group rescue and transportation committee headed by John T. Fey.

According to Finan, James Cumiskey, disaster field representative of the national organization, has been asked to meet with the local group Thursday, November 18, at 8:30 p. m. The meeting place will be announced later.

Arrangements have been made with the Potomac Edison Company for special buses to Fort Hill. The buses will leave from regular stops on Baltimore Street at 7:30 and 8 p. m., returning after the performance at 11 p. m.

Weather

When the late temperature is seven degrees lower than the overnight minimum, something's up. Not that yesterday's maximum of 56 degrees was anything to crow about. Cumberlanders were even expecting snow for awhile, but all that came down was a trifling .04 inches of rainfall. The minimum at 5:30 p. m. was 42 and at 10 p. m. the temperature was 37. It's not surprising that the prediction for today is mild and "rather chilly."

Charles Fair, first commander and one of the organizers of the post who re-enlisted in the Army and just completed two years service in Germany, is home on furlough. Fair will be in the parade tonight with his post. Brant recalled last night that the Ridgeley Post entered the Armistice Day parade here while Fair was commander, with almost 100 per cent of its membership in line.

As a tribute to Past Commander Fair, Commander Brant suggests 100 per cent turn out of the post and auxiliary membership tonight.

Lodges May Get Tax Exemptions

A plan is underway in Maryland to introduce measures in the General Assembly, designed to eliminate or exempt taxes on property held by fraternal organizations.

Representatives of fraternal groups appeared before the Legislative Council in Baltimore yesterday. Former Mayor Howard W. Jackson of Baltimore and Jacob S. New appeared for the Masonic Order. They told the budget and finance committee that fraternal groups for 80 years have paid no property tax, in line with "Legislative intent," but a case in Allegany County threatens this exemption.

The City of Cumberland, after a ruling by the State Tax Commission, assessed lodge properties in the city. An appeal has been filed in Circuit Court here, for a court interpretation.

Jackson and New asked that fraternal organizations be blanketed into the law which exempts hospitals, asylums, charitable and benevolent organizations.

Delegate Robinson (D-Balto. 4th) was instructed to draft necessary legislation for exemption of fraternal orders.

World Citizens Are Needed, Klompus Says

America's public school system is "more and more realizing it is in the front line in the offensive for building a healthier world citizenship," Leon J. Klompus, Fort Hill High instructor, told members of Western Maryland Lodge No. 1507 B'nai Brith, last night.

No educational system is complete, Klompus said, if it does not alert its students to the facts that human beings are of definite dignity and worth; that they must respect the ideals of honesty and fair-mindedness and be alert to work for the respect of racial, cultural and political minorities the world over.

Optimist Official Describes Work Being Done By Roanoke, Va., Club

Explaining the purpose, program and projects of Optimist Clubs, W. J. McCorkindale, Jr., Roanoke, Va., governor of Optimist District No. 16, was guest speaker and official visitor of Cumberland Optimists last night.

Introduced by the club president, Robert S. Arrington, the district governor outlined boys' work and community projects of his parent club at Roanoke.

In 11 years, the community's juvenile delinquency has been reduced from one of the highest in the east to the lowest, as a result of the Optimist boys' work project, McCorkindale said.

The club operates a 12-acre recreation center, complete with baseball, soccer, football and athletic fields, and recreation equipment. A full-time program, operated on a five-day week basis with evening activities, has provided wholesome recreation for the children and youth of the community, the speakers explained.

He outlined the Roanoke Optimists' annual Halloween pageant, which costs the club $30 but attracts several thousand people and has eliminated vandalism and destruction entirely.

McCorkindale told the club his home unit sponsors a Boy Scout and a Sea Scout Troop, plus a Junior Optimist Club for small boys and another club for older boys. The small boys' club has 60 members and the older boys' group 40, with about another 100 in the Scouts.

The district governor congratulated the Cumberland Club on progress it is making with its Junior Optimist Club. He said the Optimists here and elsewhere are committed to a program of boys' work but that other projects need not be neglected.

He declared the boys' work program, continually improved and broadened, will reach into many phases of civic activity and responsibility, and can do much toward building a better community.

Dial Telephones Slated For City—But Not Soon

Project Revealed By Howard Smith

Cumberland is going to have dial telephones, Howard M. Smith, local office manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, indicated yesterday, but he said the program will not be undertaken until after 1949.

Smith disclosed the C. and P. Company's plans to install the dial system here when he announced that the new half-million dollar exchange building is rapidly nearing completion. Occupancy is expected early next year.

A report that dial telephone equipment will be ready for operation when the new building, located at the corner of South Centre and Union Streets, is completed was denied by Smith. He said, however, that surveys are expected to start "sometime after next year."

The provisions needed for dial telephone cannot be accomplished in a short period, Smith emphasized. He said the program will require the conversion of some 14,000 presently used instruments to dial.

Before Cumberlanders are dialing telephoning numbers, Smith declared the company will have to complete engineering surveys and studies along with the manufacturing and shipment of large quantities of dial equipment. Rearrangement and replacement of outside plant facilities are also required.

Equipment required to install dial telephone services in Cumberland was estimated at more than a million dollars, according to company officials, who said it will eventually be installed in the nearly completed building.

Construction of the new building was begun in 1947, and is expected to be completed early next year. Meanwhile, long-distance plans for dial telephones will not hinder plans to extend present service.

Smith said that until the proposed dial system is placed in service the present manual facilities will be expanded to improve existing service. Persons who are now waiting to have telephones installed will also be accommodated long before the dial system is undertaken, Smith explained.

He said the company plans to install additional central office switchboard positions during the spring of 1949. This will provide service for many now on the waiting list.

C. & P. Telephone Company Asks Rate Increase

Cites Low Earnings, High Operating Cost

An immediate increase in service rates was requested yesterday by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City in an application filed with the Public Service Commission. Rapidly declining earnings and high operating costs were cited as reasons.

Approximately $3,600,000 additional net revenue is needed annually to place the company on a financially sound basis, according to W. G. Morrel, C. and P. vice president and general manager. His estimate was based on a study not yet completed.

Added Income Necessary

Morrel said an additional annual income equaling that sum is necessary after taxes are deducted to permit the company, now engaged in a vast building program, to furnish adequate telephone service to the public in Maryland.

The PSC approved a similar application in 1947 which permitted C. and P. rate increases ranging from 25 cents to $1. That hike went into effect on September 1, 1947.

Current operating expenses are the highest in history, Morrel explained, adding that wage costs comprise the largest item of expense. He said recent wage increases have again added to the company's "already high costs of doing business."

The application filed with PSC stated that rate relief granted last year was "substantially less than necessary to restore and maintain the company's earnings at an adequate level." It was the first increase requested in 25 years.

The petition noted that the impact of the company's unprecedented construction program has materially and adversely affected earnings, with the continued public demand for telephone service since January 1, 1947, compelling the company to make plant additions totaling $49,000,000.

Costs of current additions is estimated at $500 per telephone, the PSC was informed. The petition declared that that figure is more than double the average investment cost per telephone in 1947. It was estimated at $200 at that time.

The construction program already shows 30 new buildings completed additions to eight buildings completed and a number of projects now in the construction stage.

A new half-million dollar building erected by the C. and P. at the corner of South Centre and Union Streets, this city, is one of many rapidly nearing completion.

New projects already completed are located in Kitzmiller, Baltimore, Catonsville, Towson, Delmar, Rockville, Marlboro and Brunswick. The company recently completed transfer to the dial system in the Lonaconing section.

Says Earnings Decline

The company's earnings have rapidly declined, the petition stated, until current earnings amount to less than three and one-half per cent on net original cost investment and are far less than this rate upon the present fair value of its property.

The application pointed out that the decline in earnings will be "further aggravated" by other increases in expense levels which have been substantially accelerated by increases in wages granted employes in October.

The company declared that under existing rates it is earning far less than a reasonable return upon the fair value of its property used and useful in rendering service to the public and is failing to earn its minimum requirements.

Asking that the PSC decide what constitutes a reasonable return upon the fair value of the company's property, the C. and P. requested in its application "a prompt hearing upon and an early decision by the commission in view of the company's patently inadequate earnings."

Cobey, Carscaden and Gilchrist, attorneys, indicate in their bill that cars operated by Keller and Jewell on King Street collided near Virginia Avenue last October 8. Keller's car was damaged to the extent of $398.55 and his claim was paid by the insurance company.

The Cambria Equipment Company, through their local attorney, George Hughes, entered suit against Matthew W. Grove trading as the Standard Equipment Company. Papers had been removed from the file and details were not immediately available.

Salvation Army Makes Plans For Christmas Aid

Civic Groups Will Be Asked To Help

Cumberland civic and fraternal organizations will be asked to assist in the campaign to raise funds for Salvation Army here, Major Elmer Wall, commander, announced yesterday.

Members of the Kiwanis, Rotary, Lions and Exchange Clubs and the Junior Association of Commerce last year raised over $900 when they manned the kettles on Baltimore the Saturday before Christmas, he added.

Tentative plans for the Salvation Army's Christmas activities were approved yesterday at a meeting of the Advisory Board held in the Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

Forrest Brown, local attorney, was named chairman of a committee which will work with Major Wall on the program to provide a little extra Christmas cheer for the needy of this area. He will be assisted by David Kauffman, James Alfred Avirett, Lynn Lashley and Frederic W. Eiler.

Tentative plans call for the use of the newly constructed Kettle House on Baltimore Street and some of the familiar tripod kettles in South Cumberland.

The Salvation Army plans again to provide food for a Christmas dinner for the poor and needy and to give some Christmas cheer to children who might otherwise have a dreary time that day, Major Wall said.

Older persons, he explained, might be able to face the prospects of a dreary Christmas without becoming discouraged, but children would not understand and would surely be hurt if they were forgotten by Santa Clause.

Activities during October included 15 open air meetings, 12 Home League meetings; 52 indoor meetings for seniors and 64 meetings for young people.

Family relief activities included six grocery orders, 621 garments and 20 pairs of shoes.

Transients relief included 54 meals, 49 lodgings and the supplying of garments and other aid to the 66 applicants.

Bucket Brigade Of 40 And 8 Will Raise Funds For Local Heart Clinic

Veterans Declare War On Rheumatic Fever

When the Armistice Day parade moves through the streets of Cumberland tonight, the "bucket brigade" of Voiture No. 164, Forty and Eight, will take up a collection to help raise funds for the establishment of a badly needed heart clinic for Western Maryland.

Arthur G. Ramey, vice commander of Mountain District American Legion, explained yesterday that the American Legion and the 40 and 8 have sponsored a national program for a number of years, designed to fight rheumatic fever and other heart conditions, prevalent particularly in children.

Ramey conferred yesterday with Dr. Samuel Jacobson, local heart specialist, who set up a local Allegany County Rheumatic Fever Association, and Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer.

Ramey outlined to them the interest of Legionnaires in the program and explained that Harry S. Allen, past state commander and national executive committeeman, is Maryland chairman of the program this year.

A large part of funds realized from the public collection tonight will be used to help establish a public heart clinic in Cumberland, where treatment, diagnosis and education in care for heart ailments, especially rheumatic fever, will be possible.

In such enterprises, many physicians give their time without charge and the best known specialists cooperate in these projects.

Dr. Jacobson and Dr. Frantz, who have been active several months past in trying to interest local people in the establishment of a heart clinic, were enthusiastic over the American Legion's offer to help. Both expressed their appreciation to Ramey, and Dr. Jacobson said last night, "This is the kind of help we need, and the Legion is the kind of organization that can get the job done."

Dr. Frantz said, "The Health Department knows of the need for such a clinic here, and I am in accord with the plans of the Legion to help sponsor it. There are many cases which need attention."

Ramey said Frank Powers, Frostburg, and Miss Anne Sloan, Lonaconing, are co-chairmen of the Mountain District Legion Committee on the project. He termed the heart clinic and the war against rheumatic fever "a very important part of the Legion's and 40 and 8 Society's child welfare program."

Mrs. Martha McNary, chairman of the Legion child welfare committees, and Paul C. Weisenmiller, chairman of the 40 and 8 child welfare committee, are also in accord with the plan to establish the heart clinic and have pledged their co-operation.

Charles O'Donnel, chef de gare of the 40 and 8 here, has urged all members of the Voiture to wear their smocks and chapeaux and help with the "bucket brigade" tonight.

Maryland has a state goal of $25,000 for the Legion's child welfare fund and fight against rheumatic fever, but Ramey emphasized last night that most of the fund collected here will be used this year to establish the clinic and get it in operation.

Armistice Parade Tonight At 7:45

The 30th annual Armistice Day parade will be held tonight at 7:45 o'clock, with six divisions forming on South Centre Street at 7 p. m., Thomas F. Conlon, Sr., parade marshall, said last night.

The parade route has been changed slightly. Marchers will move up Union Street from Centre to George Streets; thence to Baltimore to Centre Streets. It will proceed north on Centre to Market, to Mechanic and south to Baltimore Street.

Marchers will then proceed easterly on Baltimore Street, back down George and disband at the State Armory. A reviewing stand has been constructed at the City Hall for city officials, officers of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps and Disabled Veterans.

Lodges May Get Tax Exemptions

A plan is underway in Maryland to introduce measures in the General Assembly, designed to eliminate or exempt taxes on property held by fraternal organizations.

Representatives of fraternal groups appeared before the Legislative Council in Baltimore yesterday. Former Mayor Howard W. Jackson of Baltimore and Jacob S. New appeared for the Masonic Order. They told the budget and finance committee that fraternal groups for 80 years have paid no property tax, in line with "Legislative intent," but a case in Allegany County threatens this exemption.

The City of Cumberland, after a ruling by the State Tax Commission, assessed lodge properties in the city. An appeal has been filed in Circuit Court here, for a court interpretation.

Jackson and New asked that fraternal organizations be blanketed into the law which exempts hospitals, asylums, charitable and benevolent organizations.

Delegate Robinson (D-Balto. 4th) was instructed to draft necessary legislation for exemption of fraternal orders.

Ridgeley Scout Troop 71 Will Be Reorganized

Will Meet Tonight In Calvary Church

Boy Scout Troop No. 71, Ridgeley, W. Va., will be reorganized at a meeting to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Calvary Methodist Church there.

Fifteen Ridgeley youths have already signed up for membership in the troop and officials report they hope to have the unit up to a full strength of 32 in a short time.

James M. Perry, neighborhood commissioner, said John F. Wagner, Route 1, Ridgeley, will be scoutmaster of the troop. He is a veteran of World War II and a former Scout.

James Flanagan, a former member of Troop 71, and Charles Phillips, a former member of Troop 5 here, will be assistant scoutmasters and Frank McDonald will be junior assistant scoutmaster.

Members of the troup committee will be C. A. Jewell, chairman, and Arnold Spencer, Frank B. Carpenter, James M. Perry and Rev. J. E. McDonald, pastor of Calvary Methodist Church.

Troop 71, organized January 23, 1943, at Calvary Church with Perry as scoutmaster, became inactive in 1945. Troop membership during that time averaged 15.

Scout officials said the corps of leaders for the troop is outstanding and should result in an active program for the Ridgeley troop.

Chest Directors Allocate Funds From 1948 Drive

Nine Agencies To Receive $68,244

The Executive Committee of the Cumberland Community Chest last night allocated $68,244.18 of funds raised in the 1948-49 Red Feather Campaign here for the operation of nine affiliated agencies during the coming year.

The allocations reflect a flat two per cent cut in awards made by the Budget Committee. Chest officials said the budget cuts were necessary since the drive for $84,009.24 fell about $1,400 short of its goal.

The allocations, announced by Frederic W. Eiler, president of the Chest, were:

Associated Charities, $18,865; Baby Welfare Society, $2,107; Boy Scouts, $6,174; Girl Scouts, $6,419; Jewish Welfare Society, $0.98; Keating Day Nursery, $4,361; Salvation Army, $12,250; Travelers Aid Society, $1,396.50, and Y. M. C. A., $16,670.70.

The two per cent cut in the $69,636.92 budget award amounted to $1,392.74.

Other items in the budget include $3,430 administrative expense; $5,745 campaign expense and $5,032.25 for a 6½ per cent shrinkage fund.

Total receipts and pledges, which stood at the $82,406 mark when the campaign closed last Thursday, had risen to $82,613.73 by yesterday.

Directors also approved the October Chest report which indicated sufficient funds to complete the 1947-48 operations of the Chest and affiliated agencies. The report:

Balance of September 30, $6,984.93; receipts $3,041.05, total cash, $10,025.98. Total disbursements, $7,020.33. Balance on November 1, $3,005.65, received in November to date, $2,968. Total receipts from 1947-48 pledges to November 1 totaled $70,509.67, or 90 per cent of all pledges.

Husband Held In Threat On Wife

Matin Garletts, Potomac Park, yesterday was ordered held on $200 bond for the January term of Circuit Court, after his wife, Mrs. Alice M. Garletts, this city, accused him of threatening her with violence.

Garletts denied the charge in a hearing before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew and also withdrew a warrant charging his wife with committing an assault on him. Testimony disclosed that a divorce suit is pending.

Witnesses included a 20-year-old son of the couple testified that Garletts sent a verbal massage to his wife informing her that "something was going to happen to her if she didn't live up to an agreement."

The defendent told Magistrate Perdew that the message had been misinterpreted and explained that he meant she would have personal regrets if she did not keep her word. He told the court the agreement concerned a property settlement.

Three Injured In Truck-Car Crash

Three persons, one an infant, were seriously injured in a truck-automobile crash which later involved a third car yesterday at 6 p. m. on Route 40 about 12 miles east of Cumberland.

Identified as the injured were Blaine J. Jordon, 43, Flintstone; Charles Moyer, 62, Flintstone, and James W. Merchant, Jr., age 1. All were admitted to Allegany Hospital, but Moyer was later discharged.

Jordon, according to Trooper George Coddington, was inspecting the headlights which had gone bad on the truck while he was standing in front of the truck, a car operated by Rev. James W. Merchant, Anne Arundel County, struck the truck from the rear, officers reported.

Police said the impact caused the truck to run over Jordon. The car then struck Moyer, also standing near the truck. The driverless truck continued to roll down the highway and sideswiped a third car just before plunging over a six-foot embankment.

Police identified the driver of the third car as Charles Turner, 40, Washington, D. C. He escaped injury. Police are continuing the investigation.

Jury Awards $250 In Farm Dispute

A verdict of $250 for the plaintiff was returned by a jury in Circuit Court yesterday in a case which resulted from an alleged misrepresentation in the sale of a farm and equipment in the Piney Grove section near Flintstone.

The suit was brought by William E. Kines, Maude M. Kines, his wife, Earl M. Emrick and Pearl I. Emrick, his wife, against Russell C. Riggs and Ida M. Riggs, his wife.

The plaintiff ask remuneration for quantities of grain, particularly wheat, and roofing, the latter included in a "catch all" clause in the deed.

Riggs said the deed did not include the wheat which had been contracted for sale or the roofing which he had offered Kines and been refused. The roofing was later sold to a neighbor.

The Kies and Emricks were represented by Attorneys Noel Speir Cook and W. M. Somerville, and the Riggs by Attorney Edward J. Ryan.

Weather

When the late temperature is seven degrees lower than the overnight minimum, something's up. Not that yesterday's maximum of 56 degrees was anything to crow about. Cumberlanders were even expecting snow for awhile, but all that came down was a trifling .04 inches of rainfall. The minimum at 5:30 p. m. was 42 and at 10 p. m. the temperature was 37. It's not surprising that the prediction for today is mild and "rather chilly."

Charles Fair, first commander and one of the organizers of the post who re-enlisted in the Army and just completed two years service in Germany, is home on furlough. Fair will be in the parade tonight with his post. Brant recalled last night that the Ridgeley Post entered the Armistice Day parade here while Fair was commander, with almost 100 per cent of its membership in line.

Optimist Official Describes Work Being Done By Roanoke, Va., Club

Explaining the purpose, program and projects of Optimist Clubs, W. J. McCorkindale, Jr., Roanoke, Va., governor of Optimist District No. 16, was guest speaker and official visitor of Cumberland Optimists last night.

Introduced by the club president, Robert S. Arrington, the district governor outlined boys' work and community projects of his parent club at Roanoke.

In 11 years, the community's juvenile delinquency has been reduced from one of the highest in the east to the lowest, as a result of the Optimist boys' work project, McCorkindale said.

The club operates a 12-acre recreation center, complete with baseball, soccer, football and athletic fields, and recreation equipment. A full-time program, operated on a five-day week basis with evening activities, has provided wholesome recreation for the children and youth of the community, the speakers explained.

He outlined the Roanoke Optimists' annual Halloween pageant, which costs the club $30 but attracts several thousand people and has eliminated vandalism and destruction entirely.

McCorkindale told the club his home unit sponsors a Boy Scout and a Sea Scout Troop, plus a Junior Optimist Club for small boys and another club for older boys. The small boys' club has 60 members and the older boys' group 40, with about another 100 in the Scouts.

The district governor congratulated the Cumberland Club on progress it is making with its Junior Optimist Club. He said the Optimists here and elsewhere are committed to a program of boys' work but that other projects need not be neglected.

He declared the boys' work program, continually improved and broadened, will reach into many phases of civic activity and responsibility, and can do much toward building a better community.
